That Was Left too Long in Will be Allowed to View Body in Merrimack Square State at Westminster

Chelmsford Hen Case Furnished
Amusement for the Court—The Drunken Offenders

John B. Hyland, the well known golfer and automobilist, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with violating a city ordinance, to wit: allowing his automobile to remain unattended in Merrimack square for a period of more than 20 minutes.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Hyland left his machine in front of the Hiltch building. It is alleged that the machine was left unattended for about three-quarters of an hour, whereupon Patrolman John Leighton, with the assistance of a chauffeur, drove the car over to the police station.

Shortly after the automobile arrived at the police station Mr. Hyland called at the station and after Supt. Welch had explained the ordinance to him summoned him to appear in court this morning.

When the case was called this morning it was decided to allow the matter to go over until next Monday in order that the court might peruse a recent decision handed down by Justice Holmes of the supreme court, which covers a case almost identical with the Hyland case.

The local ordinance refers to "vehicles" and the mention of the supreme court has to do with "vehicles," "vehicles" and "automobiles." It is alleged that the purpose of the decision is that an automobile is a vehicle when not in operation.

Chelmsford Hen Case

James W. Coldwell entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of three hens and one rooster, the property of Joseph Gauthier of North Chelmsford. Lawyer Edward Fisher appeared for the defendant while the defendant was represented by William A. Hogan.

Gauthier testified that he had nine hens and two roosters on his premises up to April 11th when three of the hens and one of the roosters disappeared. As a result of what he learned a week later he called at Mr. Coldwell's place in East Chelmsford and saw his four birds in Mr. Coldwell's hen coop. Mr. Gauthier caused considerable laughter during the course of his direct testimony by telling of a conversation which he had had with his brooster when he discovered the latter in Mr. Coldwell's hen yard.

Mr. Gauthier said: "I had those hens trained so well that I could pick them up in my hands at any time and when I called them they would come to me. When I went over to Mr. Coldwell's place I saw my rooster and I said, 'Jack, is that you?'"

"You said that to the bird, did you?" asked Judge Hadley.

"Yes."

"And did the rooster answer you?" asked the court.

"No, but he made a noise like he used to when he was with me," said the witness.

Officer James R. Gookin, of North Chelmsford, testified to visit which he made in company with the complainant to Mr. Coldwell's place. Witness said that he was given a warrant for the arrest of the defendant on Apr. 12, but despite his efforts to locate Coldwell he was unable to do so until May 2. Mr. Gookin told of a conversation which he had with the defendant relative to the fact that there had been a number of hens stolen in Chelmsford of late, and the defendant said: "This is the only one that you have on me."

John P. Upton, another police officer of Chelmsford, was the next witness. His testimony was in corroboration of that offered by Mr. Gookin.

The government rested its case at this point.

James S. Wotton, who is engaged in the farming business in North Chelmsford, was the first witness for the defense. He said that he owns the house occupied by Mr. Gauthier and lives across the street. Mr. Wotton's barn is located about twenty feet from the house occupied by Mr. Gauthier. Witness had about 15 hens which were running about the premises. Mr. Gauthier's hens also ran over his premises and mingled with his hens. Mr. Wotton said that he never fed his hens and on one occasion said to Mr. Coldwell: "I wish somebody would cart those hens away and keep them."

James W. Coldwell, the defendant, said that as a result of what Mr. Wotton had said about wishing that some person would take the hens away, that he took three hens and a rooster which he thought belonged to Mr. Wotton. He denied that he knew that the hens belonged to Mr. Gauthier.

Several other witnesses testified relative to the character of the defendant.

Mr. Gauthier was recalled and testified to a conversation which he had had with Mr. Wotton.

After some other witnesses were heard the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15. He appealed and was held under $200 for the superior court.

Assault and Battery

Joseph Hackett, through his counsel, J. Joseph O'Connor, pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Sturgis Garabedian on April 30. He was sentenced to two months in jail. It is alleged that Hackett and another young man, without the slightest provocation, had beat the complainant at the corner of Central and Charles streets.

Pleaded Guilty

In the case of Konstant Kowalewski, charged with assault and battery on Adams Nasliowicz, J. Joseph O'Connor, who represented the defence, entered a plea of guilty and a fine of $12 was imposed.

Disturbed the Peace

Peter Kioleacopoulos and Constantinos Kioleacopoulos pleaded guilty to complaints charging them with disturbing the peace. The pair, who are relatives, got into an argument at the Middlesex street station last night about 7 o'clock which later resulted in a fist encounter. They were pounding each other when Patrolman John H. Clark put in an appearance and placed both men under arrest. Each was fined $10.

Drunken Offenders

Chas. Amburski, who was drunk when he appeared in court yesterday morning and had his case continued until this morning, was sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater. He appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

James Patterson, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to three months in jail.

John E. Bulmer made a strong plea for another chance, and the court granted his request by giving him a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

John Glavin, charged with being drunk, was fined $5.

Three first offenders were fined $2 each, and four simple drunks were released.

SUPERIOR COURT

The case of Desjardins vs. Lowell Textile company, which was finished last evening, was called on for this morning. Judge Hardy making his charge to the jury at the opening of court.

The case of Levi Elms vs. City of Everett was on trial today. The plaintiff sued to recover for services and labor as collector of garbage for the city of Everett, the work having been done under a contract with the board of health.

John J. O'Connor of Boston appeared for the plaintiff and City Solicitor N. Brown for the defendant. The case broke the tie on the ground that the plaintiff did not live up to it while the plaintiff claims that he lived up to his part, but that the board of health did not.

It seems that the plaintiff at the time owned several large piggeries and used the swill to feed the pigs. Lawyer Brown on cross examination tried to bring out the claim that the plaintiff neglected to collect all his pigs because there was more than his pigs could eat. Mr. Elms claimed that at no time had he too much swill.

"How many pigs did you have?" asked Mr. Brown.

"I don't know. I couldn't tell," answered the witness.

"Didn't you once say you had about 500?"

"Perhaps I did."

"Then why can't you tell now how many you had?"

"I couldn't tell. I might go home at night and find 50 more there than when I left in the morning," said the witness.

The case was on all day.

The short list is filled with overdue cases, and though the general list is near at hand.

The cases in order are as follows: Quigley vs. Boston & Maine, Cookley & Sherman for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for the defendant, assigned for May 4.

Holland vs. Sonner, J. J. and W. A. Hogan for plaintiff, J. J. Hennessy for defendant, assigned for May 5.

Kelcher vs. Boston & Maine (two cases), Cookley & Sherman for plaintiff, Trull & Wier for defendant, assigned for May 6.

Newell vs. Fitchburg & Leominster R. R., Edw. Fisher for plaintiff, Baker & Baker for defendant, assigned for May 9.

Donohue vs. Thayer, Miller for plaintiff, W. H. Vincent for defendant, assigned for May 9.

The cases of Connors Bros. Co. vs. John Gray and John Gray vs. Connors Bros. Co. were on the short list on assignments, but the assignments have been cancelled. Messrs. Gray appear for the Connors Bros. and Lawyer Allen for Mr. Gray.

The case of Hill ex. vs. Hill, which was assigned for May 9, was on the list, but the assignment was cancelled. One of the witnesses in this case, Truman Hill, who came here from California, died suddenly at his hotel a few days ago. F. E. Dunbar appears for the plaintiff and the Messrs. Hogan for the defendant.

The Country Beginning to Resume Its Normal Life—The Body Will be Buried in St.
George's Chapel

LONDON, May 10.—The body of King Edward VII will be removed on May 17 from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall, where it will lie in state for three days, then being taken on the evening of the third day to Windsor, for interment in St. George's chapel on the day following.

The body of the late monarch will be borne on a gun carriage through the streets of London to Paddington station, and again through the streets in Windsor to the castle. The procession will be similar to that upon the occasion of the funeral of Queen Victoria in 1901.

KING'S PERSONAL FRIENDS
ALLOWED TO VIEW BODY

LONDON, May 10.—George V was proclaimed king throughout the empire yesterday, with all the traditional ceremony of past centuries. In Dublin the Ulster king-at-arms read the proclamation in the presence of Lord Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and Lady Aberdeen.

The country is now beginning to resume its normal life, the king's earnest desire being that except on the day of the funeral of Edward VII, which is now formally fixed for May 20, the national mourning should inflict no unnecessary sacrifice upon the people.

Premier Asquith and Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, arrived in London last night. Other members of the cabinet and officials holding important positions under the government are hastening to the capital.

King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway, were met at the station last evening by King George and Queen Mary, and young Prince Olaf threw his arms around his uncle's neck. The party drove immediately to Buckingham palace, where they viewed the body of the late king. A brief religious service was held in the chapel.

King George, in a letter to the theatrical managers, expressed the wish that the theatres reopen until the day of the funeral, on account of the number of people that would be thrown out of work by the closing of the houses.

The king issued another letter, in which he said:

"Knowing so well the feelings of my beloved father I am sure that it would be contrary to his wishes that there should be any interruption to the enjoyment of the public during the White-Sund holiday. I therefore hope that the general mourning will not prevent my people from taking the usual advantages of the various opportunities afforded them for the coming days."

Many of King Edward's personal friends, including Earl Roberts, A. J. Balfour, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, and Lord Kitchener, were permitted to view the body yesterday, and late last night after the brief solemn service, which was attended by the widow and all the members of the royal family, including King George and Queen Mary, the body was transferred to the casket shell which was kept open until after the arrival of Queen Maud of Norway.

The young queen took a touching farewell of her royal father.

Then followed a service which was held mainly for the king and queen of Norway and the shell was placed in the lead envelope, and sealed. It will remain in its temporary coffin made of elm, while the special oaken casket is being completed.

The common council will meet in regular session tonight and Mayor Meehan has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen so that action, in joint convention, can be taken by both branches of the city council on the death of Abel Wheeler. The mayor's communication to the city council is self explanatory.

Refused to Change Law

Mr. O'Brien of Boston moved to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that suits for damages shall be given a speedy trial if the plaintiff is without visible means of support.

Mr. Roberts of Boston opposed substitution on the ground that the bill is unworkable and unfair to others having cases in the courts.

The motion to substitute was lost 34 to 41.

The article of amendment of the constitution authorizing the use of voting machines at all elections was agreed to 130 to 37, in the house.

The bill requiring vehicles to carry lights at night on public highways and bridges was then taken up, and the house refused to amend the bill to make it apply only to rubber tired vehicles; the main object then coming on ordering the bill to a third reading. The bill was given a reading, 92 to 35, on a roll call.

GOVERNOR HUGHES SPEAKS FOR THE DIRECT PRIMARY BILL

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 10.—Governor Charles E. Hughes was spoken for last night when he spoke forcefully in favor of the Hiram-Green direct primary bill to those gathered at the annual dinner of the Binghamton University Men's club.

Sen. Hiram sat beside Gov. Hughes. Men of both parties united in applauding the sentiments expressed by the governor.

Speaking first of an acceptance of the associate justiceship on the supreme court bench, the governor said: "Nothing has affected me more deeply than the many expressions of regret which I have received that I should be separated from public life and political activity of this state. I could not have continued in my present office even had the people desired it. And such opportunities of public service as might have been incidental to active professional work cannot for me be regarded as comparable with the duties to which I have been called."

Then the governor launched into a minute analysis and earnest defense of the Hiram-Green bill. Referring to the opposition to the bill, he said: "The opponents have ridiculed and scorned it. They have charged it for defects with unsparing analysis. But it has borne the full brunt of the attack of those who are opposed to any system of direct nominations."

Declining any effort to influence a vote on the measure, he expressed the sincere hope that this bill would be brought up and fully discussed on the floor of the legislature.

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The naval appropriation bill was reported to the senate yesterday. It carries $120,700,000, in comparison with $127,820,603, carried by the bill as it was passed by the house. As reported the aggregate of recommended appropriations is $8,184,255 less than the total for the present fiscal year.

The increases made by the senate committee are as follows:

For pay of navy, $289,042.
Bureau of navigation, $151,840.
Public works, $255,600.
Bureau of medicine and surgery, $6000.

Naval academy, $62,848.

"MACHINE" MAN

Rep. George Marchand is "Discovered"

Says Practical Politics:

Two members of the house (names furnished on application) had an argument in the state house corridors the other day as to whether or not Rep. George E. Marchand of Lowell is a "machine man." "Of course he's a machine man," said "A." "Not on your life," said "B." "You tell me that Marchand is a machine man. Why, just look at his record. He has voted on the plain people's side of every public question. Further than that, he's around working his head off in an effort to line up the members to support Butler Ames for the United States senate against Lodge. What's the matter with you? Don't you know anything at all?" "That's all right," said the irrepressible "A." "But I'll bet you three good cigars that George is not only a machine man, but that he rides on the front seat and keeps the machine oiled, too." "It's a bet," said "B." And then each arguer undertook to prove his side of the case. "B" dug for the Journal of the house. He ran through page after page, pointed out that the Lowell representative had voted for the direct election of United States senators, that he has been devoting the best part of his time during present legislative session to pleading members who expect to be members next year to support his bill to save persons unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the police from the necessity of paying two dollars in order to be bailed by authorizing police officials to administer bail without fees, and that his position on roll call after roll call was such as would be approved by the workingman. He demanded "A" to get over the clangers. "Just wait a minute," said "B" later, and he pulled from his pocket a volume of "Who's Who in State Politics." He opened the book to the page where Marchand's photograph is printed and bade "A" to look at it. "B" looked. "Why that only helps to prove my argument," he said. "There's one of those faces that tell right of the real that its owner is honest and independent." "But just read down through what's under the picture," said "A." Here is what "B" read: "Marchand, George, 17th Middlesex Rep. Lowell. Born Dec. 22, 1877, public schools, Chautauq." "H-m," mused "B." "So he's a chauffeur. Well, I guess he is a machine man, does sit right on the front seat and does all the machine. Come on, and I'll buy the cigars."

COL. ROOSEVELT

Has Controversy With Ex-Premier

CHRISTIANA, May 10.—Mr. Roosevelt's visit has been followed by an incident which is creating sensation in Norway. Mr. Roosevelt has severely censured ex-Premier Gunnar Knudsen, who is now vice president of the parliament. For using his name and quoting him as a partisan in Norwegian politics.

The ex-premier has been making a campaign and has introduced a bill in parliament for the conservation of the natural resources, chiefly the water power. Mr. Knudsen had a conversation with Mr. Roosevelt on this subject. The latter, in the belief that he was simply giving general principles, expressed sympathy for the bill. Mr. Knudsen asked permission to make the former president's remarks public.

"Tell it to anyone you like," Mr. Roosevelt replied enthusiastically.

There was a considerable stir when the newspapers appeared quoting Mr. Roosevelt as having supported Knudsen's policy. Mr. Roosevelt summoned Knudsen and insisted emphatically that he issue a denial, and he himself wrote a letter to the same effect. The opposition papers are now attacking the ex-premier.

ENRICO CARUSO

Was a Witness in Court Yesterday

NEW YORK, May 10.—Enrico Caruso, the opera singer, testified yesterday in the county court of Brooklyn as a witness against Antonio Misiani, who is on trial charged with trying to extort $15,000 from the tenor. Caruso appeared nervous and ill at ease during the brief time he was on the stand.

A detective who captured Misiani, told of seeing Misiani, in company with Antonio Cincotto, pick up a decoy package. He had to fight to subdue Misiani, he testified, and took from him a loaded pistol.

Caruso was accompanied to court by the body guard he has employed since receiving the letters. He kept a sword cane he carries constantly in his hand, even while on the stand.

MAN FOUND DEAD

He Was Overcome by Sewer Gas

WORCESTER, May 10.—William Pettigrew, 30, of 3 Fairfield street, a journeyman plumber, was found dead at midnight in a pit under George H. Jewett's garage, 168 Shrewsbury street.

He was overcome by sewer gas.

He went into the pit at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to connect a water pipe, and the workmen supposed he had come out of the pit. When he did not go home a search was made for him.

In making a search in the pit, Plumberman Gustav Nyberg was overcome by gas, but after recovering went into the pit again and brought up the body.

NO CONCESSIONS MADE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 10.—Gen. Manager Higgins of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. was notified yesterday of the result of the strike ballot of the telegraphers employed by the road, 96 per cent being in favor of a strike—but in the conference that followed no concessions were made by Mr. Higgins on the telegraphers' demand for an increase in wages. A second conference was held last night at which Mr. Higgins suggested arbitration or mediation were turned down.

DOUBLE MURDER

Hindoo Butler and Aged Housekeeper Were Found Dead

NEW YORK, May 10.—Evidently the victims of burglars, Charles W. Geom, a Hindoo butler, and Margaret Mesman, an aged housekeeper, were found murdered last night in the residence of Dr. Mott D. Cannon, 130 West 122nd street.

The two were killed sometime between 2:30 and 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, during the physician's absence. Returning, Dr. Cannon discovered the bodies. The butler was shot through the mouth from the right cheek. Two other wounds, one on his forehead and another on the back of his neck were apparently inflicted with a jimmy. The old housekeeper has an ugly bullet wound in the back of her head and was beaten with a jimmy or some other blunt instrument.

In the physician's study, the top drawer of a bureau was "jimmied" open and $100 in bills, $100 in silver and several valuable gold stickpins were taken. Nothing else in the house was touched.

ALLEGED ABUSES OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The senate is in a fair way to investigate alleged abuses of the franking privilege. Declaring that a book of 460 pages in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, which is being circulated under the name of "The Franking Privilege," contains much matter that has not appeared in the Congressional Record, Sen. Stone introduced a resolution yesterday directing the senate committee on post offices and post roads to determine whether the publication is entitled to free circulation through the mails.

Speaking on the resolution, Mr. Stone said that the book was "purely and essentially a campaign document." If one party could so circulate matter he thought the other party should have the same privilege. He complained especially of the file page, sub-heads and index as extraneous and therefore objectionable matter.

Confessing that he authorized the use of his own frank in the circulation of the book, Mr. Gallinger endorsed the effort to have the circulation of the book inquired into. He said he had been assured that the publication contained no matter which had not appeared in the Record. He said, moreover, that the compilers of the pamphlet acted in good faith in what they had done.

Mr. La Follette moved an amendment to include inquiry into the circulation of a circular letter from the American Protective League which he said was also being circulated under the name of senators and members of the house.

CONGRESSMAN AMES

To Press Resolution for Reciprocity With Canada

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Representative Ames of Massachusetts yesterday made formal request in writing that the ways and means committee grant him a hearing on his resolution declaring it to be the sense of the house that there should be closer and better trade relations between the United States and Canada.

Mr. Ames has made informal requests for a hearing, hitherto, but without result. He says that he is determined the committee shall have no excuse for failing to give him a hearing.

He has obtained more than 80 signatures of republican members to his petition asking the committee to report the resolution. He has interviewed Speaker Cannon, but failed to obtain any satisfactory reply.

Mr. Ames has taken the matter up with members of the committee on rules. Representative Lawrence is willing to help him, but some other members are indifferent. Mr. Ames wants to secure a special rule to provide for the consideration of his resolution in the house in case the ways and means committee refuses to report it.

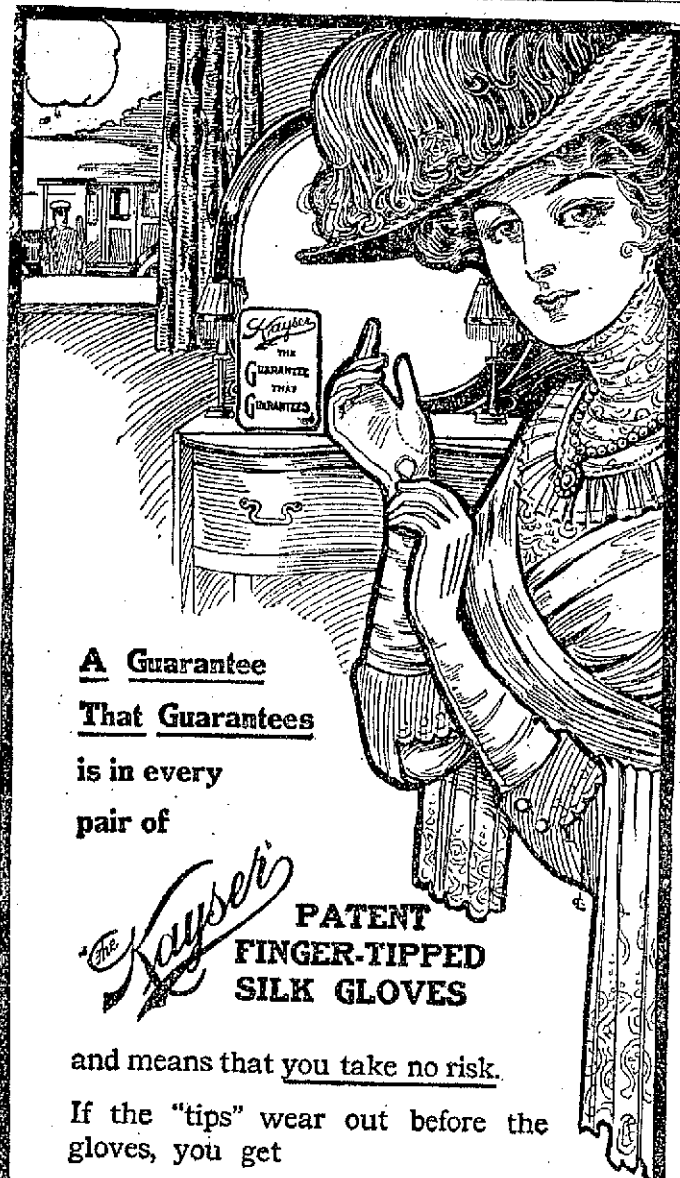

He might move to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of the resolution, but the speaker, Mr. Ames says, would not recognize him for that purpose. Mr. Ames says that Speaker Cannon insists that the resolution should come up in regular order.

In spite of numerous obstacles, Mr. Ames says that his resolution will eventually pass.

NATIONAL TROTTER ASSN.
NEW YORK, May 10.—Action on several important cases was postponed yesterday until today by the board of review of the National Trotting association in session here. Reinstatement applications comprised the principal business, the leading case being that concerning Thomas Nolan and Thomas Murphy, trainers, and the judges of the Lexington meeting. The trainers were fined $250 each during the progress of a race. Afterwards, it appeared, the judges decided there had been error in imposing the fines and they were re-instated.

The case was carried over from the December meeting to give the judges a chance to explain how the error was made. Today's hearing was expected to hinge on the question of whether judges can reverse decisions through error.

HORSE FEEDING

Mashes and Teas Are Beneficial

The following mashes, teas, etc., will be found beneficial in weak condition from illness.

Linseed Tea: Bruised linseed, 4 to 6 ounces, 1 gallon boiling water, simmer for two hours, strain, add a little molasses.

Linseed Mash: Linseed, 2 quarts, a teaspoonful of sugar, 4 quarts boiling water, simmer slowly from 4 to 5 hours.

Barley Water: Barley, 1 pound, 2 gallons water, boil down to 6 quarts, strain, add teaspoon of molasses.

Brain Mashes: Half peck bran, enough boiling water to scald it thoroughly, stir well and give warm. Always give mashes from a clean pail.

ways give mashes from a clean pail.

Corn Mash: One pound of corn meal in 6 quarts of boiling water, stir frequently and give when blood warm. This is a nutritious mash.

Oat-meal Gruel: One pint of oatmeal mixed in one-half pint of cold water, add to this one gallon of boiling water and boil for a few minutes. Feed when warm.

Water. Should be given a horse at rest; three times daily. When at work often but in small quantities and often. Water never should be given ice cold and should be given before feeding at least fifteen minutes, half hour is better. Water from clear springs, deep well, upland surface water, is considered wholesome. Water from cultivated lands doubtful. Shallow well water, river water contaminated by sewage, often dangerous. Pure water is of great importance in maintaining health. Impure water causes great loss every year to unthinking stock owners, through diarrhoea, dysentery and other ills.

(Next week Dr. Daniels' article will deal with the subject of Giving the Horse Medicine.)

MOCK MARRIAGE

Turns Out to be Real Ceremony

NEW YORK, May 10.—Paul Schiff, of Newark, who is engaged to marry a Manchester, N. H., girl, awoke suddenly to the fact yesterday that he was already married, having played a bridegroom at a party at the home of George Arnold, No. 5 Milton street, Newark, on the night of April 12.

About the same time that Schiff made his discovery a telegram carried the news to Miss Rose Oliver, of No. 1214 Broad street, Hartford, Conn., that she was a bride for the second time in her life. Eighteen years ago she became Mrs. William Thour, at Boston, but three years ago she got back her maiden name with a divorce on the ground of intemperance.

There were loud shrieks from the unexpected bride in Hartford and from the unwilling bridegroom in Newark. "It was a mock marriage," cried Miss Oliver, or Mrs. Schiff.

"It was all a joke," insisted Schiff. "Then the joke is on you," said Justice of the Peace Emil Knash, who performed the ceremony. "I find that you were legally married."

Schiff hurried to City Clerk Connolly, of Newark, and asked to have the marriage record wiped out. He was told he would have to go to the courts, and went out to look for counsel.

"I can't believe I was really married at that Newark party," said Mrs. Oliver Thour-Schiff, at Hartford last night. "I've been married before, and I ought to know a legal ceremony when I hear one. No one could possibly believe in such a ceremony as Justice Knash used that night. I never agreed to anything more serious than a mock ceremony, and the courts will have to set the matter straight."

GENERAL ALARM

For Somerville Man Who is Missing

NEW YORK, May 10.—Alfred Reardon of Somerville, Mass., is missing and his father, J. W. Reardon today asked the local police to send out a general alarm for him. Reardon, who was in business at 3 Tremont row, Boston, left home the latter part of March to attend a meeting of the Royal Order of the Moose in this city. He is known to have been here on April 15 when at the hotel where he stopped he asked that his mail be forwarded to his business address in Boston. He did not return home and nothing has been heard from him.

Reardon is 27 years old. When he left home he carried a gold watch and chain and wore a valuable diamond ring and his society pin.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Mildred Rudd, whose father is a member of the Rockefeller grand jury that is investigating the traffic in women, was arrested on the city streets last night and turned over to the children's society. She made the mistake of asking aid from a detective who recognized her.

The girl is 15 years old and had been missing since last Saturday when she disappeared from an institution in Harlem where her father had placed her.

William Demetral, the Greek heavyweight champion of the world, victor over Charlie Olson and other famous western wrestlers, and Jack Leon, the Russian giant, will clash in Associate Hall tonight, and indications point to a very large attendance of sports, not only of Lowell, but of other New England cities. few wrestlers in the same class with Gutch, Deil, Ordaman and Westergard. Leon makes his first appearance in the east tonight. He stands over six feet, weighs over 200 pounds, and looks every inch a wrestler. He has defeated some of the star performers of the west, and is supremely confident that he will rub it into Demetral. Preliminaries to the main event will introduce John Kilonis vs. Bull Carlson, and Kid Pappas vs. Abdul Fadin.

NEW ECZEMA REMEDY

Stops Itching At Once

The new remedy Cadum has astonished the medical world. Many cures of eczema and other distressing skin diseases are reported, and the remarkable feature in most cases is the quickness of the cure. Eczema is not a blood disease, but a skin affection. It cannot be cured by internal medicine. External treatment is absolutely necessary. Since the introduction of Cadum eczema is now recognized as a curable disease, and that tormenting affliction has been robbed of its terrors. Cadum stops the itching at once and begins the healing process with the first application. It destroys disease germs, allays inflammation and is soothing and healing to the skin. From the moment it is applied to any skin trouble immediate relief is felt. It is for pimples, blotches, bites, stings, itchy, raw, sore, scaly skin, psoriasis, rash, chafings, eruptions, sores, scurvy, scabs, blackheads, itching piles, etc. Trial box 10c; large box 25c; all druggists.

CIRCUS PARADE

BROKE UP MEETINGS OF CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES

WASHINGTON, May 10.—That members of congress really are little less than big boys was proved yesterday when a circus parade passing the capitol just before the convening of the two houses of congress broke up practically every committee meeting in the big gray building.

Groups of senators and representatives flocked over to watch the animals and, gaily captioned riders, and to listen to the bands and the strident notes of the calliope.

The venerable Senator Frye stopped his auto close to the line of march and a score of his colleagues were within hail of him.

"It's a mighty good thing," said Senator Burrows, "that the parade passed before noon. If it hadn't we'd never been able to muster a quorum."

Champ Clark, minority leader in the house, called attention to the fact that the G. O. P. elephants in the parade were not half so well received by the crowds as the democratic donkeys ridden by the clowns.

"It's significant," he said.

MANY WERE INJURED

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars at Brockton

BROCKTON, May 10.—More than a dozen men and women passengers were severely injured and others bruised in a rear-end collision between two crowded electric cars running extra on Torrey street on the Brockton North Easton line, west bound, at 5.30 yesterday afternoon.

Six women fainted in the panic that followed the collision. The vestibule of the cars were badly wrecked.

In the front vestibule of the rear extra car five men, including Motorman H. J. Whittier, the most severely injured, were pinned beneath twisted iron and woodwork until other passengers crawled out of the damaged cars and ran to their rescue.

According to street railway officials, the principal cause of the accident was slippery rails and the fact that the extra cars were running closely together. The first electric car stopped near the Thorne Lea golf club grounds to let off a woman passenger. Motorman Whittier's car was close behind, and before the brakes could be applied crashed into the car ahead.

The front vestibule of the second car was crowded with men passengers, all of whom were more or less injured in the collision. Motorman Whittier stuck to his post and was pinned between the broken frame of the vestibule and the front door.

Albert Wells of North Easton was pinned down in the wreckage, and it was several minutes before he could be rescued.

A woman passenger who was about to alight from the first car saw the second car coming and ran back into the car screaming. Other women took up the cry, and after the collision several fainted. Several were hurt as the passengers rushed for the exits.

Men ran to the assistance of Wells. Motorman Whittier and Bailey, and they with others, including several unconscious women, were taken to the homes of Robert Millitt and Andrew Peters at 173 and 180 Torrey street and physicians summoned.

Street railway officials summoned automobiles, and after the injured were cared for they were taken to their homes.

It was several hours before Whittier could be taken to his home in Campbell in an automobile. His left foot was badly crushed and his back injured. He received other severe bruises and internal injuries. Traffic on the line was delayed for more than an hour. Passengers were transferred to extra cars.

PITTSBURG'S VETERAN PITCHERS

HAVE WON MANY GAMES

When looking over the records of the veteran baseball pitchers and their consistently good work in the box one must give great credit to Sam Leever and "Deacon" Phillippi of the Pittsburgh Nationals. During their careers with the Pirates the pair have won 349 out of 523 games and no doubt will add to the already long list before the 1910 season ends. During the time they have been with Fred Clarke their work has been faithfully performed. Only recently they demonstrated their loyalty to Captain Fred. At St. Louis the Pirates were forced to play the Cardinals while rain and snow fell in imminent combinations. Clarke didn't want to take a chance for ruining the arms of either "Babe" Adams or Howard Camnitz, his star pitchers, for the season, so he asked for volunteers to pitch the game. Leever and Phillippi were the ones to answer the call. Leever was chosen, and he went in and won. The pair are in grand shape at present and will try hard to add the Pirates win another banner.

DIAMOND NOTES

Haverhill today.

The full looks more at home with a grass diamond in front of him.

The New Bedford papers think well of our aggregation.

All New England games were off yesterday on account of rain.

Little Jack O'Brien and Little Tommy Devine make their first appearance here tomorrow when Fall River plays at Spaulding park.

Halley's comet is raising, or lowering, with the national game in this section.

Home game every day but Friday.

Go out and see the new grass diamond.

The low in the eighth which won for Lowell was practically a gift. With one man on first the batter struck out. The runner started to steal second. Pratt made a perfect throw to the bag but Cummy and Walsh were asleep, the ball traveling way out to center, while the runner scampered along to third, from which point score-

ing was easy.—New Bedford Standard.

McCormack was standing on the third base line waiting for something to bring him in across the plate. Hitting hit a stinging grounder, and it bumped McCormack's legs. The Lowell captain claimed the runner was out, but Byrne claimed that the ball was on foul ground when it struck him, and the "ump's" eyesight had to stand as official.—New Bedford Standard.

Stone, the Lowell catcher, is so full of life that he forgets how the game stands, and twice Saturday in his excitement at winning he pegged the ball to second with a great show of exultation when there were only two strikes on the batter. Stone had lost count and thought there were three.—New Bedford Standard.

"Buddy" O'Day, the Lowell boy who recently signed with Jesse Burkett, has been farmed out to Newport, R. I.

LOCAL DELEGATES

Will Attend Atlantic Waterways Meeting

The local board of trade has selected the following delegates to attend the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention to be held under the auspices of the Massachusetts State Board of Trade to be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on May 19th: Messrs. James O'Sullivan, Fred C. Garrett, Jesse H. Shepherd, Harvey B. Greene, John A. McKenna.

The convention is being held for the purpose of considering the Atlantic deeper waterways movement; to create a general interest among the residents of New England in the question of improving the inland waterways along the Atlantic coast and to stimulate activity in the National Convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association, to be held at Providence, R. I., in the autumn of 1910.

The order of exercises, which will be led by speakers of eminence who are competent and qualified to speak on this subject, will embrace a thorough and comprehensive discussion of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Movement.

In the evening, at the same hotel, a banquet will be served at 6.30, at which the chief speakers will be Congressman J. Hamilton Moore of Pennsylvania, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association; Congressman J. Frank Small of North Carolina; Hon. A. J. Pothier, governor of Rhode Island, and other eminent men.

This convention will be comprised of delegates from each of the constituent bodies of the Massachusetts State Board of Trade, delegations from the other New England states and local boards of trade and commercial and civic organizations, together with governors of the New England states, and prominent business men who are interested in the commercial development of the same section.

The purpose of this convention is educational. The promoters state that New England has not made the advancement on the question of waterway navigation which has been shown in the other parts of the country, particularly the west and middle west, and it is believed if she is to maintain her commercial supremacy and show the progress and enlightenment which is characteristic of her efforts in other avenues, she must make to the possibilities of this great movement which has already become the leading question in other sections of the country.

Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wood—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Buy one every where; if not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated).

MR. ROOSEVELT INJURIES FATAL

South Boston Woman Fell Down Stairs

BOSTON, May 10.—Commencement day exercises at Harvard will this year be arranged by the class of '85, which also holds its 25th anniversary exercises at the same time, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeds Dr. Eliot as president of the Alumni association, will preside at the ceremony in Memorial hall.

James J. Storrow, who will be chief marshal, has issued invitations to the 150 members of the class of '85 who are expected to attend the reunion to take dinner with him at his home in Lincoln.

Class day coming on June 24, among the many features of the celebration will be the Harvard-Yale baseball game, which takes place at Cambridge Thursday, June 23, the reunion of the class of '85, which begins the following day, and the religious exercises, which will be conducted Sunday by President Lowell in Appleton chapel.

A trip down the harbor, including an inspection of the Fore River shipbuilding plant, has been arranged for Monday. Tuesday a trip by special train to visit the Thayer museum at Lancaster will be followed in the evening by the class dinner at the Algonquin club.

Wednesday is commencement day, and the Harvard-Yale boat race takes place the following day. A big block of seats on the observation train has been reserved for members of the class.

HALLEY'S COMET

May Cause Eclipse of the Sun

PROVIDENCE, May 10.—An eclipse of the sun, and daylight flashes across the sky similar to the aurora borealis are among the possibilities of the phenomena that may mark the passing of Halley's comet across the face of the earth on May 18, according to Frank E. Seagrave of Providence.

Mr. Seagrave declares that astronomers are all at sea as to just what will happen. And yet it has not been determined if the head or body of the comet is transparent or is a compact mass. If the former, then its transit across the face of the sun is expected to do no more than cause a temporary dimming of the light, while if the latter, the eclipse may be total.

The probable effect of the sweeping tail, which is estimated at millions of miles in length, is also problematical. If the tail is as long as has been said, astronomers believe that its manifestation will be in the form of electric flashes that will be visible throughout the entire country.

The appearance of Halley's comet in 1066 is recorded in an ancient diary just discovered by Mgr. Bellavacina in the archives of the cathedral at Viterbo, near Rome. The finding of this record is of great importance since it constitutes proof that the comet was observed at Viterbo fully 13 days before it was seen anywhere else in Europe.

BRIGHT THIS MORNING

GENEVA, N. Y., May 10.—Dr. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory and professor of astronomy at Hobart college, reports excellent observations of Halley's comet this morning. The comet was much brighter and the tail could be traced to a length of two degrees and nearly parallel to the great square of Pegasus. The nucleus was brighter than any star in that region of the heavens. Dr. Brooks says the comet is now in its best position for morning observation.

SUES FOR $50,000

MRS. HAMMERSTEIN ASKS THAT SUM FROM PHILA. WOMAN

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein, who divorced the son of Oscar Hammerstein at Reno, Nev., a few weeks ago, yesterday filed a suit for $50,000 libel against Mrs. Genevieve C. K. Frowert, wife of the advertising agent of the Philadelphia Opera House.

Frowert began suit for divorce from his wife recently, and she filed a cross bill naming Mrs. Hammerstein. The latter declares that the use of her name was entirely unwarranted.

Early last Thursday she started to go from one room to another in a house on Alfred street, where she was stopping, and made a mistake in the door. She fell down stairs and her skull was fractured. She was not taken to the Whidden Memorial hospital until Friday. The hospital officials do not know the address of Mrs. Burke in South Boston, but she has a daughter living there, a Mrs. Webb.

PERU PREPARING

For a Possible War With Ecuador

LIMA, Peru, May 10.—Active preparations for a possible war with Ecuador are being made by Peru. Volunteers are enlisting daily and the war fund is being constantly increased by private donations. In this city and its immediate vicinity 24,000 soldiers are quartered while 10,000 additional troops are stationed near the frontier.

The Peruvian government believes that it has reliable information that Ecuador is trying to obtain an alliance with Bolivia against Peru. To this end it is asserted, a member of the Ecuadorian cabinet left Guayaquil today for La Paz, Bolivia, under the instructions to negotiate with the Bolivian government, and the Chilean minister at that capital.

HARVARD PROF.

SAYS THIS IS THE YEAR 1913 ACCORDING TO RESEARCHES

BOSTON, May 10.—According to Professor David Lyon, curator of the Semitic Museum at Harvard University, it is now the year 1913, and he wrote it 1910 to assert a historical untruth. Researches, he declared, have definitely established this.

Professor Lyon declares King Herod died in 750 A. U. C. instead of in 753, according to prevalent belief, and in accepting the latter date as the beginning of the Christian era, historians have erred. As Christ is known to have been born a year before Herod's death, he was born in 749.

"From recent researches," said the professor, "we have positive proof that Herod's son, Archelaus, was deposed in 750 of the era A. U. C. The records show that he ruled nine years, so that he must have ascended the throne in 750.

"Herod's other son, Antipater, was deposed in 792 and consequently has been found which show that Antipater ruled for forty-two years. He also must have ascended his throne 350 years after the building of Rome. "We know that Herod, at his death, divided his kingdom between his two sons. Ancient historians placed Herod's death at 753, and this date has been accepted as the beginning of the Christian era, but I now prove that the event occurred three years previously."

AN EXHIBIT

OF CHILD LIFE IN NEW YORK IS PLANNED

NEW YORK, May 10.—An exhibit of child life in New York, somewhat after the pattern of the tuberculosis exhibit, will be held next November. It will show the life of the child in the streets, in tenements, apartments and in the schools. It will utilize many charts and photographs. Yesterday the incorporation of the New York Child Welfare committee was approved by Justice Whitney in the supreme court. This committee is to have charge of the exhibit.

For a year the paid secretaries of various committees to whom have been assigned special topics have been gathering data and photographs and preparing charts. There are committees of health, homes, streets, schools, amusements and related topics. In the exhibit, which will be held in the first regiment armory, will be shown model houses, apartments, furnishings and clothing. Some of the ground of the tuberculosis exhibit will be covered in the matter of tenement conditions under which some of the children dwell. It is expected that the complete exposition of the facts of child life in New York will be of value in that it may point the way to many reforms. The committee, however, has no other purpose, except the exhibiting in graphic way of the information gathered. It was said yesterday that the exhibit would point to the need of more playgrounds and recreation centres.

COST OF LIVING

Has Cut Into the People's Savings

NEW YORK, May 10.—Deposits in savings banks are falling as a consequence of the high cost of living. What the figures are will not be known till July 1, when the state department of banking receives its reports for the last year.

Individual banks are reticent about their business, but there are signs which indicate an unfavorable showing—chief of these being that savings banks have not been buying bonds when bonds have been low.

The likelihood is that, on account of competition and regardless of decreased deposits, the rate will be kept on the 1910 basis.

"In spring there are always withdrawals," said the treasurer of the Greenwich Savings Bank, "because of the movement to the suburbs, new lands bought, mortgages to be paid, etc."

Samuel D. Styles, president of the North River bank, said: "I don't if you can at this time get the pulse of the situation from the banks themselves."

Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock Bank, with $38,000,000 of deposits, said: "We reduced our interest last January to three and one-half percent. I would not want to predict what will be generally done next month. My observation is that persons who have the habit of saving will save, no matter what the cost of living."

C. E. Sprague, president of the Union Dime, with $29,000,000 deposits, said: "So far as one can judge by our own business, the cost of living is not affecting the business of our bank."

President Altieri, of the Bronx Savings Bank, said: "Our depositors are home-owning and home-staying people, and I don't discern any variation in the amounts of their deposits."

At the state banking department it was said that the deposits should be compared with the population, period for period, and by July 1 that would be possible, as the new census and the new bank reports would be then simultaneously accessible.

A paper will be read by Mr. P. Hildreth Parker on, "The Story of the Plagues of America," illustrated by Mr. Parker's fine collection of flags. Members are privileged to invite friends.

PILES BRING DESPAIR

TAKE COURAGE! INTERNAL TREATMENT WILL CURE

Piles make life unhappy and ruin the best disposition. Most sufferers have been bitterly disappointed by many failures to find a cure. A medicine in tablet form, taken internally, that avoids the unpleasant features of ointments, suppositories and operations, and cures thoroughly by removing the inside cause, is surely worth trying, especially as Carter & Shur-burne guarantee it.

THE SAVINGS BANKS.

The bill drafted by the legislative committee that investigated the Southbridge failure has alarmed the officials of savings banks. It provides many new safeguards, some of which, such as the annual audit by an expert accountant, would be quite expensive. There are other provisions that would entail much more labor and attention on the part of trustees, investment committees and clerks. The bank examiner and the bank commissioner would also be given sweeping powers under this bill in the removal of certain officials for cause. The bank officials are up in arms against the measure, and it will undoubtedly be radically changed if adopted in any form.

BLOODHOUNDS FOR SPRINGFIELD.

The city of Springfield, smarting under the disgrace of allowing a burglar to escape with a long series of crimes through several years only to have him finally commit murder, is now taking extraordinary precautions for safety from such crimes in the future. Enough has been said about the inefficiency of the police which alone was responsible for letting Spencer run at large until he committed murder. Whether the police will be more vigilant than formerly we know not, but the city council has decided to secure two bloodhounds to aid the police in future emergencies. The burglars, the "criminal insane" and all kinds of marauders are now likely to keep away from Springfield so as to avoid being promptly run down by the bloodhounds. The other cities of the state will watch the experiment with much interest, and when they need the loan of the bloodhounds we presume they can have them for a consideration.

INSURANCE AGAINST KING EDWARD'S DEATH.

In the sorrow for the death of King Edward all political asperities are for the time forgotten and laid aside.

The laborites state that they will postpone their demands until the effect of the shock to the nation shall have passed, and so it is with the liberals and the Irish party.

The whole country, without distinction, sincerely mourns the death of the late king, all feeling that his loss at this time is well nigh irreparable.

It is a remarkable fact that although King Edward had been in good health up until within a short time of his death, yet a great many merchants, financial institutions and other concerns, likely to be affected by his death, had been heavily insured against that eventuality and the losses it might entail.

It is said that millions of pounds will be paid upon insurance policies made contingent upon the king's death.

As was expected, the king's passing did very seriously affect the stock market and caused a temporary paralysis of business which seems to justify insurance of this kind, though it would not be allowed in this country.

REPAIR OF SIDEWALKS.

The movement for smooth paved streets is very commendable, but it should be supplemented by a movement for smooth sidewalks. The old uneven brick sidewalk is out of date. The concrete sidewalk is good while it lasts, but it wears out rapidly, shows hollows that hold the water and finally opens up in big cracks. The ideal sidewalk is either granite, flagstones or granolithic. We have some such sidewalks already, and we should have more of them. On many streets that are in good condition the sidewalks are rough, and even dangerous.

The city runs considerable risk of damages where sidewalks are allowed to lapse into a dangerous condition.

The rule in regard to new sidewalks in this city is, that the abutters pay for the curbstones and the first permanent covering. The city then assumes the care and responsibility for the sidewalk ever after. The city lays cinder sidewalks on accepted streets free of charge to the abutters, but in some cases it would appear that even cinders are very scarce. If more attention were paid to sidewalks by the street department there would be fewer damage claims against the city on account of personal injury resulting from accidents either due or falsely charged to the roughness of sidewalks.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is searching for a walking encyclopedia to conduct an information bureau at city hall. It is wonderful how many questions these information bureaus are called upon to answer. A great many people imagine that a man selected for such an office should be able to answer any question on any subject, just as many are inclined to believe that a newspaper office should be able to tell the date of any event of the past. Here are a few posers that were recently propounded over The Sun office telephone:

- When did Dennis Kearney speak in Lowell?
- When did the last horse car run in Lowell?
- When was the car burn on East Merrimack street burned?
- When was the armory on Middle street burned?
- When was the South common opened to the public?
- In what year was Fort Hill park accepted by the city?
- When was the Chelsea fire?
- What was the family name of King Edward?
- How old is Anne?

Some of these questions can be easily answered by aid of reference books, but when it comes to a matter of searching newspaper files for mention of a matter that happened ten, twenty or thirty years ago, the party who asks the question may be able to find it just as readily as the newspaper office.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

It is a mean thing to go into a restaurant and sit down opposite a man who is dining on coffee and ham sandwiches and order mock turtle soup, broiled live lobster, and strawberry shortcake for your meal.

When Noah built the ark, he didn't have to think so much about speed as he did about carrying capacity.

When a man asks you what you think of something he has done, remember that he wants you to praise it.

Only think how much you might have accomplished if you could only have saved all the time wasted in answering telephone calls for the wrong number.

Some people never save the string around packages because you can buy a whole ball of twine for ten cents, and their time is worth more than that. Then they waste the time.

Artificial flowers may be all right to trim hats with, or even for a girl to wear stuck in her belt at a party, but nobody has been mean enough yet to send them to a funeral.

When a man tells you that he didn't have time to do something for you, you know right away that he didn't want to. Everybody finds time for everything that he really wants to do.

The married man who gets home on payday without his money has an opportunity to find out whether his wife really loves him.

Remember when you have a good time while you are visiting that your hosts expect to have a good time later on, while they are visiting you.

It is a mistake to think that the wise man doesn't sometimes say foolish things, or that what a fool says is always folly.

BJONES' COLD

BJones came around the other day, with a most annoying cough. It really seemed as if he held a cold and sneeze his head right off. So everybody that he met and heard him go: "Ca-chew!" Took pity on poor BJones' plight, and told him what to do.

BJones listened to the good advice, and he was most polite. He said to each: "That's common sense; I'll try that sure tonight." And long before the day was done, so much advice he took, he'd gathered replies enough to make a good sized book.

So BJones went home and wrote them down; his memory is good. The published book his fortune made, just as he thought it would. And now it stands an ornament to BJones' library shelf. And as for BJones' cold, oh, yes; the cold got well itself. Somerville Journal.

ALL ITCHING STOPPED

Sound Sleep After a Night of Much Distress

Mr. B., a Philadelphia gentleman, first hesitated about applying posilam after he had obtained it. "But," he says, "afterward the itching became unbearable at night, so I arose and told Mrs. B. I would risk the posilam. I slept soundly all night. I used it three nights and three mornings, then discontinued. It is now over three months and I have never had any return of the eczema; never had any itching after the first application."

Posilam is the new skin remedy which so rapidly combats the worst cases of eczema. It likewise makes quick work of acne, herpes, tetter, scaly scalp, barbo's and every other form of itch. Occasional applications in small quantities will quickly banish pimples, hives, blackheads, blotches, etc. A special 50c package is prepared for minor skin troubles, and this, as well as the regular two-dollar jar, is on sale at Fells & Burdick's, Carter & Sherburne's, and the Riker-Jaynes Drug Co.'s, as well as all drug stores.

HOME FOR BIRDS

of $250,000

CINCINNATI, May 10.—Approximately $250,000 of the estate of Thomas J. Emery, who was by far the largest realty owner in Cincinnati, has been set aside by his widow, Mrs. Mary Emery, for the founding and perpetuation of a home for birds. Mrs. Emery has completed the purchase of a tract of land in Evanswood place of about two acres and has signified her intention of turning it over to the care of the department of biology in the University of Cincinnati.

This ground is to be built up with different kinds of houses, where the feathery tribe can be sheltered. It will be made secure against the invasion of cattle and small boys, and there will be housed there possibly 100 different kinds of birds and their several species. In addition to this there will be houses for the birds of mixed "nationality" and places where these may be housed in their different classes and under different conditions.

All the work of this gigantic bird colony is to be done under the direction of Assistant Professor H. M. Benedict, of the department of biology of the University of Cincinnati. He says that this has been for many years a kind of meeting place for the birds of Cincinnati and that thousands of them have gone there to rest and to eat. He says he will arrange a place where they can rest undisturbed by passersby.

"We are in a new field," said Professor Benedict. "We must study the best way to teach birds to congregate and nest in a locality where they are safe. The action of Mrs. Emery was the first of its kind to my knowledge in the world and will have decided effect in aiding other communities. It will be known as 'The Mary Emery Bird Preserve,' and we will take special delight in showing it to all the people who care to see it when it is finally arranged."

Mrs. Emery and her husband were both great lovers of birds.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the best singing trios seen on a local vaudeville stage this current season is giving its very best to patrons at the Opera House, this week. The pleasant name of Rathskellar trio is what the three young men sail under, and they surely do induce plenty of snap and Bohemianism into their work.

One of the three just plays excellent accompaniments on a piano and essays a kind of solo. He gives "The Rosary" by twanging the strings of the piano. It is novel and sounds well. But the two singers of the team flash up the real stuff. They start out with an involved song of love and roses and all that, parts of it seeming real catchy. Skating the sentiment they tackle comedy. Their first song, number being in Italian dialect, is given withunction by the smaller member of the singing pair. Then comes the Yiddish rag song, given better than it has ever been given here. It was done with no little artistry on the part of the singer. After that a recall must be forthcoming, so the three young men contribute something about a Hebrew's love of peace and his aversion to anything resembling war. The trio purvey excellent entertainment.

Gregg, the cycle maniac, does some heart stopping, hair raising stunts on a circular fence erected in the centre of the stage. Gregg is a little fellow, who uses an ordinary make of bicycle and who spins the machine to the top of the perpendicular fence in quick style. The act doesn't last long but it breeds thrills and chills while it's on. The other is George Banks, born in Collinsville, who tells us that he does all kinds of stunts. He shows some catchy ditties, also. Gertrude Pike, a soprano of high range, gives three or four selections, and in the last she is assisted by a boy soprano.

The picture end of the entertainment is unusually strong. Of much interest is the panoramic picture called "The Banks of the Danube." All of the beauty spots of this lovely river are shown, particularly good being the pictures showing views through castle-towered windows. These are new in the motion picture line and they hold an art value uncommon in such pictures. The Hungarian parliament buildings in Buda-Pest appear in their majestic also. "The Cigaret Maker of Seville," which tells the story of "Carmen," is an engrossing picture, and this is followed by the intensely dramatic picture, entitled "The Money Bags." The comedy film is called "The Stolen Portmanteau," and it will evoke much laughter.

Tonight the amateurs will put on their stunts and there is sure to be a large audience to see the future stars.

STAR THEATRE

Tonight there will be a grand rally of would-be Thespians at the Star theatre. That theatre will be the joy shop of the city and always has been on Tuesday evenings. Many new faces will be seen among the amateurs.

There is a strong program of motion pictures, including a biography subject, "The Converts." The motion pictures presented are those of comedy, drama and scenes of travel. The admission of five cents includes a good seat and the show is "the biggest and best in Lowell." Women and children are tendered special attention.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

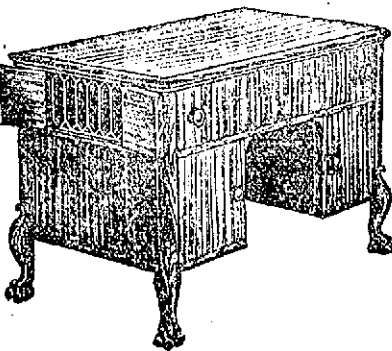

A very attractive bill is being presented at the Academy the first three days of the week, headed by Pierce and Roslin. They have very elaborate and expensive wardrobes and are making a great hit with the crowds that see them. Waldo Whipple, the eccentric rube comedian, is doing an act that also pleases. Miss Claudia Bessette is singing the song "Telling Lies" in a charming manner, and the travel-ettes of the different countries are shown that are instructive and entertaining. A fine list of pictures has been secured and a fine show is assured all those who attend. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

One of the features at the Theatre Voyons today is a dramatization of Charles Kingsley's poem, "The Three Fishers," given under the name of "The Unchanging Sea." To increase the effectiveness of the picture special vocal and instrumental effects are arranged for it. "Immigrant Progress in Canada" is a fine scenic subject, and "The Stolen Fortune" combines a charming love story with a good laughable comedy. "The Cut of the Sea" tells of the fear of the sea that causes a mother to make her son pledge his word never to be a sailor, but when there is a call for her son to save lives, the son, at the bidding of the spirit of his dead father, goes out on the sea. The musical features of the program are unusual and of the best class.

BOARD OF CHARITY

Gives Appropriations Committee Light on the Department

Chairman McCarty, M. D., and Commissioner Howe Discuss Conditions, Present and Past, at the Farm — Ex-Supt. Mayberry Invited to Next Meeting of Committee

The committee on appropriations, Alderman Gray chairman, met in the public reception room at city hall last night, and heard from the board of charities relative to questions previously submitted by the committee. Dr. James J. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities, Commissioner Harry W. J. Howe, Supt. Conley and Clerk Gallagher were heard from and they supplied all the figures and data that was necessary. The present board of charities has a thorough knowledge of affairs pertaining to its department, was evidenced last night by the ready and comprehensive manner in which questions were answered and figures supplied.

It was stated at the meeting that former Supt. Mayberry sold the farm property and bought supplies for the city farm with the money thus received and that he did not turn over the money to the city treasurer. This was touched upon only to show an irregularity and Mr. Mayberry will be given an opportunity to explain.

The meeting was called more particularly to discuss the question of the charity department's financial status at the beginning of 1910 as compared with 1909 and the board's ability to pay the bill of some $4200 presented by the Massachusetts Home for Feeble-Minded Children. Commissioner McCarty and Howe said that the board could not pay the bill out of its annual appropriation. Ald. Gray said that the committee on appropriations had the $4200 bill in mind when it made the appropriation. Dr. McCarty stated that the bill was not an ordinary one. "It is an extraordinary bill," he said, "and the charities department cannot, under the ordinance, be held responsible for it. It is not the kind of bill contemplated by the ordinance to be paid by the regular appropriation."

The ordinance providing for estimates for appropriations and for other purposes, in regard to the charities department, is an ordinance which shall be for and only applicable to the liabilities incurred during the year in which they are made, any form of phraseology in the order, resolution or vote providing for the same, to the contrary notwithstanding.

"The bill from the Massachusetts Home for Feeble-Minded Children is several years old. The city solicitor has said that the city will have to pay the bill, but the city solicitor has not yet said that the board of charities

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

J. H. To retain your charming complexion your tender skin needs a better protection against sunburn, tan and freckles than face powder. There is no more complexion beautifier to be had than the lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spumax in a half-pint, hot water, adding a teaspoonful of glycerine. While the use of this lotion cannot be detected when applied to the face, neck and arms, it transforms ordinary complexion into one of glowing attractiveness. It does not show or rub off like face powder and holds against perspiration. Spumax will clear the skin and whiten any sallow skin and make it youthful and charming. It is unequalled for overcoming that shaly, greasy look which is so troublesome to so many ladies.

Elaine T. You would look much younger and far more charming if you would use regularly a good cream to remove those wrinkles, reduce the size of the large pores below your eyes, and make your face appear plump and smooth. A splendid, graceless cream of this kind can easily be made with an ounce of steamed olive oil, a half-pint cold water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir and let soften and smooth your skin, removing that flabbiness of which you speak. This preparation cleanses the skin thoroughly, and is excellent for massage. It is particularly good in treating tan, freckles, blackheads, and for removing oil from the skin which is so troublesome to so many ladies.

Mrs. C. T. For your tired, sore and aching feet, I can recommend nothing better than bathing them in a basin of warm water in which you have dissolved two teaspoonfuls of Epsom salt. This is an invigorating and healing agent that helps to keep the pores open and clear, whereas foot powder tends to clog them up. After treatment, rub the feet with a towel, taking out the soreness and swelling, and overcoming the annoyance of excessive perspiration.

Miss L. P. You can't expect to look charming unless your hair looks bright and is well cared for. To put your hair and scalp in a healthy condition, shampoo every two weeks with castile soap, and twice a week rub into the hair roots a quinine tonic made by dissolving a quinine tonic in a half-pint alcohol, then add a half-pint cold water. This tonic will clear your scalp of dandruff, stop your hair from falling out, and make it soft and glossy. You will find this tonic very refreshing and much better than any ready-prepared tonic you can buy. It makes an excellent hair dressing, and keeps the hair from looking stringy or dull.

Helene. You are taking quite a risk using "dry shampoo" for, unless the powder is brushed out thoroughly, it will clog up the pores in the scalp and cause dandruff. You can shampoo thoroughly by using warm water, as it is dangerous to use soap and most ready-prepared shampoos, owing to the alkali they contain. It is a good idea to use a little castile soap, and then use the dry shampoo. I want you to try a shampoo made from one teaspoonful of carboxol dissolved in a cup of hot water, and I know you will find it much more pleasant with the results. This shampoo lathers splendidly, cleanses thoroughly, and dries quickly. It is a real skin tonic, and will move dandruff and leave the hair bright, soft and fluffy. This shampoo has given such excellent satisfaction that it is now being used exclusively by many hairdressers.

F. T. S. Your face will never look pretty as long as it is so sallow and is covered with unsightly pimples. These indicate that your blood is out of order. You can easily correct this condition by taking before each meal a tablespoonful of a tonic made by dissolving one-half cup sugar and one ounce alcohol in one-half pint cold water, then adding boiling water to make a full quart. This old-fashioned tonic purifies the blood, aids digestion and promotes a torpid liver. Take it for a few weeks and it will restore your lost appetite and make you feel energetic.

Summer Glet. To remove superfluous hair from the face or forearms, mix a little delatone with enough water to make a paste. Cover the skin from which you wish to remove the hair with this paste; let it remain two or three minutes; then wipe off the paste and wash the skin with warm water. Be sure that you get the delatone from your drugstore in the original one-ounce package. If it is not in the original package, it is not the same. You can get it for you from his wholesaler, and he will move a dollar an ounce, and an ounce is sufficient for your use. The hair may return after the first application, but it will be thin and very light in color. Two or three applications of delatone will permanently remove the hair.

were anonymous. Chairman McCarty said an appraisal was a valuation and an inventory was a listing. The chairman here presented his list.

Asked why there were so many bills presented early last year from $908, Clerk Gallagher said that the board did not approve bills in January and February, so that there was a big list to pass upon in March.

Dr. McCarty submitted figures, to show that former Supt. Solomon Mayberry had collected money for produce from the farm and had bought with that money materials and supplies needed by the department without the city treasurer ever seeing the money. This, he said, was irregular.

Supt. Conley said he knew men who had bought pork from the farm and had paid Supt. Mayberry for the same. He was exchanging farm produce for other supplies. This was regarded as a practice of the former superintendent. In this connection, Supt. Conley said that he had not exchanged property, but had sold it, the money being paid over to the city treasurer, where it could be used by the charity department as it was a regular bill.

The original question of whether or not the $4200 bill should be paid out of a special appropriation came up. Dr. McCarty thought the city solicitor should give an opinion as to who should pay this bill, the city council or the board of charities.

The chair believed it clear that the city council had the power to say where the money should come from. "The motto of the board of charities is 'With envy and malice towards none and with charity for all,' we have turned to the city council, and are going straight ahead," said Dr. McCarty.

"Perhaps that is why you removed Mr. Mayberry," said Alderman Gray. "I think I have shown that there were good and sufficient reasons for the removal of Mr. Mayberry; we did not let his methods," rejoined the doctor.

Councilman Flanagan moved that Harry W. J. Howe be permitted to speak and it became a vote. Mr. Howe came forward, and was asked if he had any figures of value to the committee.

He thought he had. Asked if there was $8000 to $10,000 left over from 1909, he said there was no such amount. "I don't think there were any more bills came in in 1909 for which the preceding administration was responsible than you can find any year," said Mr. Howe.

"With what knowledge I have of this department, I will say that this board cannot do justice to the worthy poor on an appropriation of $75,000. As one member I will say that we do not propose to stint the poor and live with the bill from the Massachusetts Home for Feeble-Minded Children."

He thought he had. Asked if there was $8000 to $10,000 left over from 1909, he said there was no such amount. "I don't think there were any more bills came in in 1909 for which the preceding administration was responsible than you can find any year," said Mr. Howe.

Asked as to what the inventory would show as regards produce, Mr. Howe said there are 100 barrels of cabbage and 61 tons of hay that were not at the farm last year. The hay is of no value because it is so coarse and the horses and cattle will not eat it. In meadow hay bought from the water department by the board of charities.

Asked as to pork Mr. Howe said there were 90 hogs when Mr. Mayberry took charge; there are 300 now. He said the hogs were in the pen in 1909. He said the inmates were living from hand to mouth. He denied that the farm was better stocked this year in January than it was at a corresponding time last year. Mr. Howe said it was customary to buy coal to carry the department through in the winter, and that the money was not done by the administration of 1909, and the cost will come on this year's board.

After looking up the figures of the superintendent with reference to money transactions, it was found that he has the right to dispose of produce, and that he has the right to dispose of such transactions to the city auditor and city treasurer or both.

On motion of Councilman Jewett it was voted to request the presence of former Supt. Mayberry at a meeting to be held Monday night next. Adjourned.

6 O'CLOCK FRIENDS OF KING

Will be Allowed to View Body in State at Westminster

QUEEN MARY

THE LATEST PICTURE OF QUEEN MARY OF ENGLAND

The Country Beginning to Re- sume Its Normal Life — The Body Will be Buried in St. George's Chapel

LONDON, May 10.—The body of King Edward VII will be removed on May 17 from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall, where it will lie in state for three days, then being taken on the evening of the third day to Windsor, for interment in St. George's chapel on the day following.

The body of the late monarch will be borne on a gun carriage through the streets of London to Paddington station, and again through the streets in Windsor to the castle. The procession will be similar to that upon the occasion of the funeral of Queen Victoria in 1901.

KING'S PERSONAL FRIENDS ALLOWED TO VIEW BODY

LONDON, May 10.—George V was proclaimed king throughout the empire yesterday, with all the traditional ceremony of past centuries. In Dublin the Ulster king-at-arms read the proclamation in the presence of Lord Aberdeen, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and Lord Aberdeen.

The country is now beginning to resume its normal life, the king's earnest desire being that except on the day of the funeral of Edward VII, which is now formally fixed for May 20, the national mourning should inflict no unnecessary sacrifice upon the people.

Premier Asquith and Lord Balfour, Kenna, first lord of the admiralty, arrived in London last night. Other members of the cabinet and officials holding important positions under the government are hastening to the capital.

King Hanco and Queen Maude of Norway, were met at the station last evening by King George and Queen Mary, and young Prince Olaf threw his arms around his uncle's neck. The party drove immediately to Buckingham palace, where they viewed the body of the late king. A brief religious service was held in the chapel.

King George, in a letter to the theatrical managers, expressed the wish that the theatres reopen until the day of the funeral, on account of the number of people that would be thrown out of work by the closing of the houses.

The king issued another letter, in which he said:

"Knowing so well the feelings of my beloved father I am sure that it would be contrary to his wishes that there should be any interruption to the enjoyment of his subjects."

MR. BLINK IS DELIGHTED WITH SOME OF LOWELL'S POPULAR AND UP-TO-DATE MUSIC.

Contrary to the original intention that the body of King Edward should be quietly and privately removed from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall on next Tuesday it has now been decided that the removal shall be accompanied by an imposing military spectacle. The house of commons will assemble in the morning and repair in a body to Westminster hall to receive the body. Following the three days during which the body will lie in state it is possible that instead of the funeral procession proceeding direct to Paddington station the casket will be borne to Westminster abbey for the reading there of the first part of the burial service. According to this plan the service will be completed later in the day at Windsor castle. All the churches throughout the United Kingdom are arranging to hold memorial services on the day of the state funeral.

Before the death of the British monarch, the inauguration of the French section of the Brussels exposition which had been arranged for May 16 has been postponed.

POLICE TOOK AUTO

That Was Left too Long in Merrimack Square

Chelmsford Hen Case Furnished Amusement for the Court—The Drunken Offenders

John B. Hyman, the well known golfer and automobilist, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with violating a city ordinance, to wit: allowing his automobile to remain unattended in Merrimack square for a period of more than 20 minutes.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Hyman left his machine in front of the Hildreth building. It is alleged that the machine was left unattended for about three-quarters of an hour, whereupon Patrolman John Leighton, with the assistance of a chauffeur, drove the car over to the police station.

Shortly after the automobile arrived at the police station Mr. Hyman called at the station and after Supt. Welch had explained the ordinance to him summoned him to appear in court this morning.

When the case was called this morning it was decided to allow the matter to go over until next Monday in order that the court might peruse a recent decision handed down by Justice Holmes of the supreme court which covers a case almost identical with the Hyman case.

The local ordinance refers to "vehicles" and the question settled by the supreme court has to do with "carriages," "vehicles" and "automobiles." It is alleged that the purpose of the decision is that an automobile is a vehicle when not in operation.

Chelmsford Hen Case

James W. Coldwell entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of three hens and one rooster, the property of Joseph Gauthier of North Chelmsford. Lawyer Edward Fisher appeared for the government while the defendant was represented by William A. Hogan.

Gauthier testified that he had nine hens and two roosters on his premises up to April 11th when three of the hens and one of the roosters disappeared. As a result of what he learned a week later he called at Mr. Coldwell's place in East Chelmsford and saw his four birds in Mr. Coldwell's hen coop.

Mr. Gauthier caused considerable laughter during the course of his direct testimony by telling of a conversation which he had had with his rooster when he discovered the latter in Mr. Coldwell's hen yard.

Mr. Gauthier said: "I had those hens trained so well that I could pick them up in my hands at any time and when I called them they would come to me. When I went over to Mr. Coldwell's place I saw my rooster and I said, 'Jack, is that you?'"

"You said that to the bird, did you?" asked Judge Hadley.

"And did the rooster answer you?" asked the court.

"No, but he made a noise like he used to when he was with me," said the witness.

Officer James R. Gookin, of North Chelmsford, testified to a visit which he made in company with the complainant to Mr. Coldwell's place. Witness said that he was given a warrant for the arrest of the defendant on April 18, but despite his efforts to locate Coldwell he was unable to do so until when he appeared in court yesterday morning and had his case continued until this morning, was sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater. He appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

James Patterson, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to three months in jail.

John E. Bulmer made a strong plea for another chance, and the court granted his request by giving him a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

John Glavin, charged with being drunk, was fined $5.

Three first offenders were fined $2 each, and four simple drunks were released.

FIVE ARE INJURED

Explosion in Building in Hackensack

NEW YORK, May 10.—Five persons were injured by an explosion and fire in the Hamilton building on Main street, Hackensack, N. J., early today.

What caused the explosion is not definitely known but it was supposed to have been due to escaping gas. The building, a store and residence structure, was completely wrecked, the explosion blowing out walls in every direction. The injuries to occupants were caused by flying bricks, one of which struck the infant child of Mrs. John Morgan and others injuring nine-year-old John Morgan so seriously that he may die. The Morgan boy got his injuries going to the rescue of his mother and infant brother.

The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Assault and Battery

Joseph Hackett, through his counsel, J. Joseph O'Connor, pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Murgardich Garabedian on April 30. He was sentenced to two months in jail. It is alleged that Hackett and another young man, without the slightest provocation, badly beat the complainant at the corner of Central and Charles streets.

Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Dr. Keleher. Funeral Director John P. Rogers had charge of the interment.

Guests of the German Emperor and Empress Today

BERLIN, May 10.—Col. Roosevelt arrived in this city this forenoon from Sweden. He was met in the railroad station by the secretary for foreign affairs, Von Schoen, on behalf of the emperor, the staff of the American embassy, Consul General Alexander Thackara, T. St. John Gaffney, American consul general at Dresden, and many members of the American colony. Among the other Germans to meet Mr. Roosevelt were Lieut. Col. Von Koerner, who was deputed by his majesty as the former president's military attaché during his visit to Germany, and Count Von Wedel, who will have charge of the general arrangements during Mr. Roosevelt's stay. The railroad authorities had decorated the main staircase descending from the platform of the station with double rows of potted plants.

His majesty sent court carriages to the depot to convey the Roosevelt party to the residence of the American ambassador, David J. Hill. The colonel's first engagement this morning in Berlin was with a throat specialist as he is still suffering from hoarseness. A special train will convey the party this afternoon to Potsdam, where the Roosevelts will be luncheon guests of the emperor and empress.

ARRIVAL IN BERLIN
BERLIN, May 10.—The Roosevelt party arrived from Stockholm, Sweden, this morning. They are guests at the American embassy. As is usual whenever Mr. Roosevelt stops, a crowd was at the railroad station to give him a friendly greeting, but, as has not been the case before during his European trip, the official receiving party was not complete.

As a result of a series of misunderstandings American Ambassador Hill was late in reaching the station, while the royal carriages intended for the use of the party did not arrive until the Roosevelts had been driven in other conveyances to the embassy. The representatives of the foreign office were greatly annoyed over the unfortunate mixup. In the first place some one had told Mr. Hill that the special train carrying the Roosevelts would be a half hour late in reaching Berlin. This did not prove to be the case.

In the absence of Emperor William, through the death of his uncle, King Edward, who would have personally met the former president, the official party of reception was headed by Herr Von Schoen, the secretary for foreign affairs, who represented his majesty. The main stairway leading from the station to the street had been made beautiful with a wealth of potted plants, and as the Roosevelts passed down to their carriages they received friendly salutations from the throng. The Roosevelts were driven on once to the American embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's

The common council will meet in regular session tonight and Mayor Meehan has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen so that action, in joint convention, can be taken by both branches of the city council on the death of Abel Wheeler. STATE OFFICIALS

Would Transfer Feeble-
Minded From Farm

The board of charities has been notified by the state lunacy authorities, for the second time, that all insane persons shall be removed from the city farm and transferred to the control of the state authorities.

This notice comes as a blow to the feelings of the board because it was believed that but a very few removals would be made. There is very little insanity at the city farm, in nine cases in ten it is feeble mindedness on account of old age and the patients are childish and harmless—not vicious.

The board will object strenuously to the removal of such persons, and in conversation with a representative of the State, said that he would go to the governor, if necessary, to secure his intervention, if possible.

LYNN STRIKE ENDED

LYNN, May 10.—Under an agreement between the firm and the United Shoe Workers of America the 25 stock-fitters who have been on strike for the past ten days at the factory of the A. M. Creighton Shoe Co. returned to work today.

The firm, it is understood, granted all the demands of the men. The contract system is abolished and the men will be paid according to the provisions of a new and highly complicated stock list.

Twenty-eight stock-fitters who were on strike at the factory of James Phelan & Son also returned to work today, their demands having been granted. At the present time only twenty-five of the stock-fitters are on strike, thirteen in the factory of the Thompson & Crocker Shoe Co. and twelve at the factory of William Porter & Sons.

STRIKE-BREAKERS ATTACKED

NEW YORK, May 10.—Armed with sticks and stones, a mob walked up Park avenue today and attacked the strike-breakers who have taken the places of the laborers on the New York Central tracks who quit, demanding higher pay. Police reserves who had been notified that the mob was on the way to attack the laborers were on hand when the mob arrived hidden from sight.

When the marchers got near the Tremont station they halted. The railroad tracks at that point are depressed below the street level. Leaning over the railing the men hurled a shower of stones at the strike-breakers below. The police swooped down and scattered them after a tussle. Ten men were arrested.

PITTSBURGH, May 10.—The explosion of a large quantity of nitro glycerine stored in a magazine at Durgottstown, 14 miles from here, today, killed an oil well shooter who was literally blown to atoms. Not even a fragment of his body has been found as yet.

At Greensburg, 18 miles away, houses were rocked to their foundations. In Pittsburgh the force of the shock was felt. At McDonald the residents ran from their homes, some shouting that Halley's comet had struck the earth. The explosion broke hundreds of windows at Durgottstown.

THE FISHERFOLK STOLEN

J. B. Connolly Tells of Their Hazardous Life

The College club and its friends were well entertained at Colonial hall last evening when James B. Connolly, South Boston's literary genius and the author of many widely read tales of the sea and the fisherfolk of Gloucester, gave a talk on "Out o' Gloucester," for the benefit of the playground fund.

All of Mr. Connolly's stories are of captivating interest and his talk last evening was likewise and was entirely apart from any of his stories. He has sailed with the fishermen and has experienced their work and the dangers they endure and he gave a plain unvarnished tale of the life of this most interesting class of New Englanders.

"They don't give Carnegie medals to Gloucester fishermen," he said, "Most of them forget the things they have done before they get ashore; but here is a type of heroism and courage that no fighting fleet in the world can equal, and the race of men upon the seas will be stronger for the standard they have raised."

What had often impressed him when talking with men who had been through harrowing experiences, he said, was the fact that they brought back only some humorous recollection of it. One man who had been lost in a dory, and who was rescued only when he was about to perish in the sea, made the comment that all he thought of was that it was a shame to have been fishing all winter, and then to be lost in May. At another time, when a sea of tremendous size broke over the fishing schooner, Connolly shouted "Hang on" to the man at the wheel as the crew ducked below. When the ship righted herself the man was found stretched across the boom, having been saved by one chance out of 40, and he said when taken down: "I'd like to get hold of the leader who told me to hang on. What did he think I was going to do, jump overboard?"

The speaker did not have occasion to resort to the realms of fiction to adorn his narratives, for the truth of the old adage that truth is often stranger than fiction, was apparent as he told story after story of the hardy Gloucester crews and their courage, heroism and hair-breadth escapes. He held his audience spellbound throughout.

Miss Helen M. Lambert of the committee introduced the speaker, and at the conclusion of the talk Mr. Joseph Smith sold at auction the two attractive posters that Mr. John I. Coggeshall had painted to advertise the entertainment. One poster was sold to Mrs. Willis Farrington for $7.50, and the other, after an spirited bidding, went to Mr. Frank E. Dunbar for $10.

THE LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF PRESIDENT TAFT

Nearly Collided With a Train in New York

NEW YORK, May 10.—The cheers of the thousands of Pussie citizens who lined the route of President Taft to the banquet of the Sons of the American Revolution last night so smothered the roar of an approaching Erie express that the president's automobile barely missed being struck by the train.

As it was, the procession was broken in two, his escort was divided and one of the mounted officers was thrown from his horse in making the sudden halt.

The president was on his way to the home of Victor L. Mason, president of the board of trade, where he was to address and hold a brief reception prior to the banquet. The most thorough precautions for his protection had been taken. Every foot of his route through the city was patrolled by members of the Fifth regiment. Secret service men from Washington were aided by a picked squad of police, who remained with the president's officers. Officers of the Fifth regiment were also in the escorting party.

As the procession passed along, the cheers of the throngs were deafening. No one in the escort seemed to notice the approaching train as they neared Avery's avenue. In fact, Chief Hendry and police officers in an automobile, and five mounted policemen had got across the tracks before the express was sighted.

The president's automobile, surrounded by Col. Edwin W. Hine and his staff, was already on the tracks, and the chauffeur quickly shot it across, and it was safe by 20 feet when the train roared by.

But the rest of the procession was brought to such a sudden stop that confusion was narrowly averted. A rearing horse threw a policeman, but did not injure him.

The president smiled blandly through it all. In the car with him were Mr. Mason, Captain Butt and two secret service men.

The many guests at the reception in Mr. Mason's home delayed the president's arrival at the banquet for about an hour. But nearly every one in Passaic was waiting along the route to see him.

The moment Mr. Taft entered Turn hall, the building was surrounded by the men of the Fifth regiment, who did not relax their vigilance until after he had departed.

The delay had caused some worry among the guests at the reception until a message was received explaining it.

The banquet hall was beautifully decorated. Walls and ceilings were a mass of cherry blossoms, concealed in which were hundreds of singing canaries.

At the table with the president sat Mr. Mason, Gov. Port of New Jersey Senator John Kern, Senator F. O. Briggs, Gen. Bird W. Spencer, mayor of Passaic, John W. Griggs, Lloyd C. Grice, ex-Governor Franklin Murphy and Job Hedges. Ambassador Bryce could not be present owing to King Edward's death.

It was after 11 o'clock when the president left the hall in Mr. Mason's automobile. In turning the first corner the machine hit a rut and a rear spring, the one directly under Mr. Taft, broke. The machine was able to go on, however.

It was almost midnight when the president's special got away.

BODY FROM RIVER

Proves to be "That of a Lowell Man"

The body of a man supposed to be that of Joseph Ogden of 14 Kinsman street, this city, who has been missing from his home since April 25th, was found floating in the Merrimack river at Lawrence yesterday. Immediately after the finding of the body the police of this city were notified by telephone, and the description of the body found tallies with the description of Ogden.

The body was taken from the water not far from the city wharves, and was that of a man of about 30 years of age, five feet eight inches tall, mustache and beard, black worsted serge suit, blue and white striped shirt, black tie, black faced shoes, tan colored underclothes and gray socks. The description is almost identical with that received by the local police from the family of the Lowell man. A brother of Ogden was communicated with by Capt. Atkinson late last night and from the information received from the down-river city, he was led to believe that the body was that of the missing man. A member of the body was taken to Lawrence today to view the body.

Ogden was 36 years of age and a timeworn by trade. He was employed at the Hamilton Mfg. Co. for several years, and his last week's pay remains uncalled for at the office of the mill. On the afternoon of April 25th he left his home and had not been seen nor heard from since. Ogden was at work in the mill during the forenoon of the day on which he disappeared.

Body Identified
Inquiry at the police station in Lawrence this noon brought out the information that the body had been positively identified as that of Joseph Ogden of this city, by Harry Ogden, a son of the deceased.

The body which was taken to the funeral parlors of W. W. Coffey in Lawrence, after being removed from the river, will be forwarded to this city tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in the Eden cemetery.

BUILDING STRIKE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 10.—The building strike in this city settled down today to a systematic fight for supremacy between the labor unions and the contractors, twelve of whom yesterday voted to fight to a finish and not to the unions. At the same time the contractors commenced action to fight the unions. Although the number of union men quit their work on several buildings today there was no sign of the rumored sympathetic strike involving 6000 union laborers materializing.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD

Was Lost by Woman 12 Years Ago

CHICAGO, May 10.—Mrs. Fred Grubbe lost $10 while shopping in State street 12 years ago. A young woman who gives her name as "A. M. Hone" found the money the day it was lost. She returned it yesterday with this explanation of delay:

"I kept the money when I found it for I could not find my way to the country for a much longer time. Since then I've never had enough to return it. Now that I have I return the amount."

When she lost the bill Mrs. Grubbe was Miss Lillian Barfield in her last purse and carrying cards. A few days ago she received a telephone from the finder of the money and yesterday the $10 reached her with the explanation.

JACK JOHNSON

Friends Pleased With His Condition

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Jack Johnson's friends are well pleased with the showing made by the fighter in his opening workout today. They saw him stripped following his twelve mile road jog and many professed to be agreeably surprised over his condition. All agreed that the negro should have little trouble in removing surplus weight during the long training interval before the fight and Johnson's announced intention of taking things comparatively easy for a while is generally commended.

Johnson says that his road exercise yesterday was the first real work he has done in preparation for his meeting with Jeffries. What he did at Chicago, he declares, was more for the benefit of photographers than for himself.

A tentative program has been outlined for Johnson's preliminary training. For the first two weeks he proposes to put on the gloves three days a week, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday. Later he will increase this to four days a week appearing in the gymnasium on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. No boxing will be done next Sunday, it is said.

After posing for pictures yesterday wine was uncorked but the pugilist shied away from the bubbling beverage and called for buttermilk.

"Buttermilk is good for what ails you," he remarks. "I don't put on any weight and it keeps you in good condition."

HAS BLACK EYE

MANY WERE INJURED

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars at Brockton

BROCKTON, May 10.—More than a dozen men and women passengers were severely injured and others bruised in a rear-end collision between two crowded electric cars running extra on Torrey street on the Brockton North Easton line, west bound, at 5.30 yesterday afternoon.

Six women fainted in the panic that followed the collision. The vestibules of the cars were badly wrecked.

In the front vestibule of the rear extra car five men, including Motorman H. L. Whittier, the most severely injured, were pinned beneath twisted iron and woodwork until other passengers crawled out of the damaged cars and ran to their rescue.

According to street railway officials, the principal cause of the accident was slippery rails and the fact that the extra cars were running closely together.

The first electric car stopped near the Thorney Lea golf club grounds to let off a woman passenger. Motorman Whittier's car was close behind, and before the brakes could be applied crashed into the car ahead.

The front vestibule of the second car was crowded with men passengers, all of whom were more or less injured in the collision. Motorman Whittier stuck to his post and was pinned between the broken frame of the vestibule and the front door.

Albert Wells of North Easton was pinned down in the wreckage, and it was several minutes before he could be rescued.

A woman passenger who was about to alight from the first car saw the second car coming and ran back into the car screaming. Other women took up the cry, and after the collision several fainted.

Men ran to the assistance of Wells, Motorman Whittier and Bailey, and they with others, including several unconscious women, were taken to the homes of Robert Millitt and Andrew Peters at 178 and 180 Torrey street and physicians summoned.

Street railway officials summoned automobiles, and after the injured were cared for they were taken to their homes.

It was several hours before Whittier could be taken to his home in Cambridge in an automobile. His left foot was badly crushed and his back injured.

He received other severe bruises and sprains. Traffic on the line was delayed for more than an hour. Passengers were transferred to extra cars.

Has Not Been Emasculated, President Taft Says

PASSAIC, N. J., May 10.—In a speech before the Passaic board of trade, here, last night in which he discussed the legislative situation at Washington, President Taft declared with a great deal of emphasis, and amid an outburst of applause that the railroad bill has not been emasculated in any vital way and predicted that a satisfactory law would be passed.

The president said he hoped the provision which permits a road owning 50 per cent of the stock of a competing road to acquire the remaining stock would be restored, and told why.

In his review of the pending legislation, Mr. Taft expressed the belief that the following measures will be enacted into law: Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico; Postal savings banks; Anti-injunction; the so-called validating bill of the conservation measures; the publicity of campaign expenditures; the railroad bill.

In commenting on the delay over the railroad bill the president acknowledged that there was "hesitation" on the part of the republicans in the senate in passing a bill which is "likely to add four dollars to the cost of a ticket."

"Or if not democratic," he added, in taking what was regarded as reference to some insurgents, "republicans of that radical type that are entirely out of sympathy with the more conservative notions of this country."

In spite of this the president said that he was very anxious that the party should carry out its standard pledge, and he did not think he would be disappointed.

The president came to Passaic yesterday from New York, where in the afternoon he attended the Actors' Fund fair.

Passaic turned out its entire population to honor the president.

Governor Fort of New Jersey aroused a great deal of enthusiasm with a speech in which he denounced the criticism of an executive on the ground that he should be held responsible for legislation "and everything else." President Taft was decidedly hoarse last night. He left Washington with severe cold which threatened bronchial complications. His physician, Dr. J. J. Richardson, of Washington, accompanied him.

The president returned to Washington last night.

ORPHANS' PARTY

THE LITTLE ONES ENTERTAINED THEIR ADULT FRIENDS

The children of the French American orphanage held a delightful entertainment in C. M. A. C. hall last evening, complimentary to the friends who have been waiting for their interests.

The program included songs, recitations and dialogues. Rev. F. LeFebvre, O. M. L., the venerable chaplain of the orphanage, was present, and he made an address.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Charles Kendall and Miss Catherine J. Warren were united in marriage yesterday by Rev. N. W. Matthews at the latter's residence, 15 Ellsworth street. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Burns.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of General Adelbert Ames camp, No. 19, United Spanish War Veterans, was held last night in Memorial hall. There were 36 members present. The reports of the Memorial day committee were read and approved. Comrade Mitchell acted as officer of the guard in the absence of Comrade Driscoll. There were three comrades mustered in, Harold E. Stanley and Roy W. Greenleaf. The meeting was closed at 9.30, after which the entertainment committee provided a collation.

Cook in You no longer need wear your self out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All its heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wick with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

PITTSBURG'S VETERAN PITCHERS

HAVE WON MANY GAMES

When looking over the records of the veteran baseball pitchers and their consistently good work in the box one must give great credit to Sam Leever and "Deacon" Phillippi of the Pittsburgh Nationals. During their careers with the Pirates the pair have won 340 out of 523 games and no doubt will add to the already long list before the 1910 season ends. During the time they have been with Fred Clarke their work has been faithfully performed. Only recently they demonstrated their loyalty to Captain Fred. At St. Louis the Pirates were forced to play the Cardinals while rain and snow fell in inclement combinations. Clarke didn't want to take a chance for ruining the arms of either "Babe" Adams or Howard Carnitz, his star pitchers, for the season, so he asked for volunteers to pitch the game. Leever and Phillippi were the ones to answer the call. Leever was chosen, and he went in and won. The pair are in grand shape at present and will try hard to aid the Pirates win another banner.

DIAMOND NOTES

Haverhill today.

The Bull looks more at home with a grass diamond in front of him.

The New Bedford papers think well of our aggregation.

All New England games were off yesterday on account of rain.

Little Jack O'Brien and Little Tony Devine make their first appearance here tomorrow when Fall River plays at Spaulding park.

Haley's comet is raising—or brooding—the national game in this section.

Home game every day but Friday.

Go out and see the new grass diamond.

The run to the eighth which went for Lowell was practically a gift. With one man on first the batter struck out. The runner started to steal second. Pratt made a perfect throw to the bag but Cunny and Walsh were asleep, the ball travelling way out to center, while the runner scampered along to third, from which point sec-

ing was easy.—New Bedford Standard.

McCormack was standing on the third base line waiting for something to bring him in across the plate. Ringing hit a stinging grounder and it bumped McCormack's legs. The Lowell captain claimed the runner was out. But Byrne claimed that the ball was on foul ground when it struck him, and the "ump's" eyesight had to stand as official.—New Bedford Standard.

Stone, the Lowell catcher, is so full of life that he forgets how the game stands, and twice Saturday in his excitement at winning he pegged the ball to second with a great show of exultation when there were only two strikes on the batter. Stone had lost count and thought there were three.—New Bedford Standard.

"Paddy" O'Day, the Lowell boy who recently signed with Jesse Burkett, has been farmed out to Newport, R. I.

MR. ROOSEVELT INJURIES FATAL

Is to Preside at Anniversary Exercises

BOSTON, May 10.—Commencement day exercises at Harvard will this year be arranged by the class of '85, which also holds its 25th anniversary exercises at the same time, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeds Dr. Eliot as president of the Alumni association, will preside at the ceremony in Memorial hall.

James J. Storrow, who will be chief marshal, has issued invitations to the 150 members of the class of '85 who are expected to attend the reunion to take dinner with him at his home in Lincoln.

Class day coming on June 24, among the many features of the celebration will be the Harvard-Yale baseball game, which takes place at Cambridge Thursday, June 25; the reunion of the class of '85, which begins the following day, and the religious exercises, which will be conducted Sunday by President Lowell in Appleton chapel.

A trip down the harbor, including an inspection of the Fore River shipbuilding plant, has been arranged for Monday. There may be a trip by special train to visit the Thummi museum at Lancaster will be followed in the evening by the class dinner at the Algonquin club.

Wednesday is commencement day, and the Harvard-Yale race takes place the following day. A big block of seats on the observation train has been reserved for members of the class.

HALLEY'S COMET

May Cause Eclipse of the Sun

PROVIDENCE, May 10.—An eclipse of the sun and daylight flashes across the sky similar to the aurora borealis are among the possibilities of the phenomena that may mark the passing of Halley's comet across the face of the sun on May 13, according to Frank E. Seagrave of Providence.

Mr. Seagrave declares that astronomers are all at sea as to just what will happen. And yet it has not been determined if the head or body of the comet is transparent or is a compact mass. If the former, then its transit across the face of the sun is expected to do no more than cause a temporary dimming of the light, while if the latter, the eclipse may be total.

The probable effect of the sweeping tail, which is estimated at millions of miles in length, is also problematical. If the tail is as long as has been said, many astronomers believe that its manifestation will be in the form of electric flashes that will be visible throughout the entire country.

The appearance of Halley's comet in 1065 is recorded in an ancient diary just discovered by Mr. Seagrave in the archives of the cathedral at Viterbo near Rome. The finding of this record is of great importance, since it constitutes proof that the comet was observed at Viterbo fully 13 days before it was seen anywhere else in Europe.

BRIGHT THIS MORNING

GENEVA, N. Y., May 10.—Dr. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory and professor of astronomy at Hobart college, reports excellent observations of Halley's comet this morning. The comet was much brighter and the tail could be traced to a length of two degrees and nearly parallel to the great square of Pegasus. The nucleus was brighter than any star in that region of the heavens. Dr. Brooks says the comet is now in its best position for morning observation.

PERU PREPARING

For a Possible War With Ecuador

LIMA, Peru, May 10.—Active preparations for a possible war with Ecuador are being made by Peru. Volunteers are enlisting daily and the war fund is being constantly increased by private donations. In this city and its immediate vicinity 24,000 soldiers are quartered while 10,000 additional troops are stationed near the frontier.

The Peruvian government believes that it has reliable information that Ecuador is trying to obtain an alliance with Bolivia as against Peru. To this end it is asserted, a member of the Ecuadorian cabinet left Guayaquil today for La Paz, Bolivia, under the instructions to negotiate with the Bolivian government and the Chilean minister at that capital.

HARVARD PROF.

SAYS THIS IS THE YEAR 1913 ACCORDING TO RESEARCHES

BOSTON, May 10.—According to Professor David Lyon, curator of the Peabody Museum at Harvard University, it is now the year 1913, and to write it 1910 is to assert a historical untruth. Researches, he declared, have definitely established this.

Professor Lyon declares King Herod died in 750 A. U. C., instead of in 753, according to prevalent belief, and in accepting the latter date as the beginning of the Christian era, historians have erred. As Christ is known to have been born a year before Herod's death, he was born in 749.

"From recent researches," said the professor, "we have positive proof that Herod's son, Archelaus, was deposed in 753 of the era A. U. C. The records show that he ruled nine years, so that he must have ascended the throne in 750.

"Herod's other son, Antipater, was deposed in 752 and comes have been found which show that Antipater ruled for forty-two years. This date must have ascended his throne 750 years after the building of Rome.

"We know that Herod, at his death, divided his kingdom between his two sons. Ancient historians placed Herod's death in 753, and this date has been accepted as the beginning of the Christian era, but is now proven that the event occurred three years previously."

AN EXHIBIT

NEW YORK, May 10.—An exhibit of child life in New York, somewhat after the pattern of the tuberculosis exhibit, will be held next November. It will show the life of the child in the streets, in tenements, apartments and in the schools. It will utilize many charts and photographs. Yesterday the incorporation of the New York Child Welfare committee was approved by Justice Whitney in the supreme court. This committee is to have charge of the exhibit.

For a year the paid secretaries of various committees to whom have been assigned special topics have been gathering data and photographs and preparing charts. There are committees of health, homes, streets, schools, amusements and related topics. In the exhibit, which will be held in the 71st regiment armory, will be shown model houses, apartments, furnishings and clothing. Some of the ground of the tuberculosis exhibit will be covered in the matter of tenement conditions under which some of the children dwell. It is expected that the complete ex-

COST OF LIVING

Has Cut Into the People's Savings

NEW YORK, May 10.—Deposits in savings banks are falling as a consequence of the high cost of living. What the figures are will not be known till July 1, when the state department of banking receives its reports for the half-year.

Individual banks are reticent about their business, but there are signs which indicate an unfavorable showing—chief of these being that savings banks have not been buying bonds when bonds have been low.

In three or four weeks the banks will separately call their directors together to settle upon the rate of interest to be paid for the ensuing six months.

The likelihood is that, on account of competition and regardless of decreased deposits, the rate will be kept on the 1910 basis.

In spring there are always withdrawals, said the treasurer of the Greenwich Savings Bank, "because of the movement to the suburbs, new lands bought, mortgages to be paid, etc."

Samuel D. Styles, president of the North River Bank, said: "I doubt if you can at this time get the pulse of the situation from the banks themselves."

Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock Bank, with $86,000,000 of deposits, said: "We reduced our interest last January to three and one-half per cent. I would not want to predict what will be generally done next month. My observation is that very few who have the habit of saving will

C. E. Sprague, president of the Union Trust, with $29,000,000 deposits, said: "So far as one can judge by our own business, the cost of living is not affecting the business of our bank."

President Aldrich, of the Bronx Savings Bank, said: "Our depositors are home-owning and home-staying people, and I don't discern any variation in the amounts of their deposits."

At the state banking department it was said that the deposits should be compared with the population, period for period, and by July 1 that would be possible, as the new census and the new bank reports would be then simultaneously accessible.

PILES BRING DESPAIR

TAKE COURAGE! INTERNAL TREATMENT WILL CURE

Piles make life unhappy and ruin the best disposition. Most sufferers have been bitterly disappointed by many failures to find a cure. A medicine in tablet form, taken internally, that avoids the unpleasant features of ointments, suppositories and operations, and cures thoroughly by removing the inside cause, is surely worth trying, especially as Carter & Sherburne guarantee it.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid costs $1 for a large box—24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonard Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

Kentucky-owned horse, Joe Morris, now first choice in the betting. The eight starters officially announced yesterday are:

Joe Morris, Donnan, Fighting Bob, Boola Boola, Topland, Gallant Pirate, Eyewhite and John Furlong.

THE SAVINGS BANKS.

The bill drafted by the legislative committee that investigated the Southbridge failure has alarmed the officials of savings banks. It provides many new safeguards, some of which, such as the annual audit by an expert accountant, would be quite expensive. There are other provisions that would entail much more labor and attention on the part of trustees, investment committees and clerks. The bank examiner and the bank commissioner would also be given sweeping powers under this bill in the removal of certain officials for cause. The bank officials are up in arms against the measure, and it will undoubtedly be radically changed if adopted in any form.

BLOODHOUNDS FOR SPRINGFIELD.

The city of Springfield, smarting under the disgrace of allowing a burglar to escape with a long series of crimes through several years only to have him finally commit murder, is now taking extraordinary precautions for safety from such crimes in the future. Enough has been said about the inefficiency of the police which alone was responsible for letting Spencer run at large until he committed murder. Whether the police will be more vigilant than formerly we know not, but the city council has decided to secure two bloodhounds to aid the police in future emergencies. The burglars, the "criminal insane" and all kinds of marauders are now likely to keep away from Springfield so as to avoid being promptly run down by the bloodhounds. The other cities of the state will watch the experiment with much interest, and when they need the loan of the bloodhounds we presume they can have them for a consideration.

INSURANCE AGAINST KING EDWARD'S DEATH.

In the sorrow for the death of King Edward all political asperities are for the time forgotten and laid aside.

The laborites state that they will postpone their demands until the effect of the shock to the nation shall have passed, and so it is with the liberals and the Irish party.

The whole country, without distinction, sincerely mourns the death of the late king, all feeling that his loss at this time is well nigh irreparable.

It is a remarkable fact that although King Edward had been in good health up until within a short time of his death, yet a great many merchants, financial institutions and other concerns, likely to be affected by his death, had been heavily insured against that eventuality and the losses it might entail.

It is said that millions of pounds will be paid upon insurance policies made contingent upon the king's death.

As was expected, the king's passing did very seriously affect the stock market and caused a temporary paralysis of business which seems to justify insurance of this kind, though it would not be allowed in this country.

REPAIR OF SIDEWALKS.

The movement for smooth paved streets is very commendable, but it should be supplemented by a movement for smooth sidewalks. The old uneven brick sidewalk is out of date. The concrete sidewalk is good while it lasts, but it wears out rapidly, shows hollows that hold the water and finally opens up in big cracks. The ideal sidewalk is either granite, flagstones or granolithic. We have some such sidewalks already, and we should have more of them. On many streets that are in good condition the sidewalks are rough and even dangerous.

The city runs considerable risk of damages where sidewalks are allowed to lapse into a dangerous condition.

The rule in regard to new sidewalks in this city is, that the abutters pay for the curbstones and the first permanent covering. The city then assumes the care and responsibility for the sidewalk ever after. The city lays cinder sidewalks on accepted streets free of charge to the abutters, but in some cases it would appear that even cinders are very scarce. If more attention were paid to sidewalks by the street department there would be fewer damage claims against the city on account of personal injury resulting from accidents either due or falsely charged to the roughness of sidewalks.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is searching for a walking cyclopaedia to conduct an information bureau at city hall. It is wonderful how many questions these information bureaus are called upon to answer. A great many people imagine that a man selected for such an office should be able to answer any question on any subject, just as many are inclined to believe that a newspaper office should be able to tell the date of any event of the past. Here are a few posers that were recently propounded over The Sun office telephone:

When did Dennis Kearney speak in Lowell?
When did the last horse car run in Lowell?
When was the car burn on East Merrimack street burned?
When was the armory on Middle street burned?
When was the South common opened to the public?
In what year was Fort Hill park accepted by the city?
When was the Chelsea fire?
What was the family name of King Edward?
How old is Anne?

Some of these questions can be easily answered by aid of reference books, but when it comes to a matter of searching newspaper files for mention of a matter that happened ten, twenty or thirty years ago, the party who asks the question may be able to find it just as readily as the newspaper office.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

It is a mean thing to go into a restaurant and sit down opposite a man who is dining on coffee and ham sandwiches and order mock turtle soup, broiled live lobster, and strawberry shortcake for your meal.

When Noah built the ark, he didn't have to think so much about speed as he did about carrying capacity.

When a man asks you what you think of something he has done, remember that he wants you to praise it.

Only think how much you might have accomplished if you could only have saved all the time wasted in answering telephone calls for the wrong number.

Some people never save the strings around packages because you can buy a whole bull of twine for ten cents, and their time is worth more than that. Then they waste the time.

Artificial flowers may be all right to trim hats with, or even for a girl to wear stuck in her belt at a party, but nobody has been mean enough yet to send them to a funeral.

When a man tells you that he didn't have time to do something for you, you know right away that he didn't want to. Everybody finds time for everything that he really wants to do.

The married man who gets home on payday without his money has an opportunity to find out whether his wife really loves him.

Remember when you have a good time while you are visiting your hosts expect to have a good time later on, while they are visiting you.

BONES' COLD
Bones came around the other day, with a most annoying cough. It really seemed as if he'd caught and sneeze his head right off. So everybody who he met and heard him go: "Ca-chew!" Took pity on poor Bones' plight, and told him what to do.

Bones listened to the good advice, and he was most polite. He said to each: "That's common sense; I'll try that sure tonight." And long before the day was done, so much advice he took. He'd gathered recipes enough to make a good sized book.

So Bones went home and wrote them down; his memory is good. The published book his fortune made, just as he thought it would. And now it stands an ornament to Bones' library shelf. And as for Bones' cold—oh, yes; the cold got well itself.

ALL ITCHING STOPPED

Sound Sleep After a Night of Much Distress

Mr. B., a Philadelphia gentleman, first hesitated about applying poslam after he had obtained it. "But," he says, "afterward the itching became unbearable at night, so I arose and told Mrs. B. I would risk the poslam. I slept soundly all night. I used it three nights and three mornings, then discontinued. It is now over three months and I have never had any return of the eczema; never had any itching after the first application."

Poslam is the new skin remedy which so rapidly combats the worst cases of eczema. It likewise makes quick work of acute herpes, tetter, scaly scalp, barber's and every other form of itch. Occasional applications in small quantities will quickly banish pimples, hives, blackheads, blotches, etc. A special 50c package is prepared for minor skin troubles, and this, as well as the regular two-dollar jar, is on sale at Pauls & Burkshaw's, Carter & Sherburne's, and the Riker-Jaynes Drug Co.'s, as well as all drug stores.

To be Built at Expense of $250,000

CINCINNATI, May 10.—Approximately $250,000 of the estate of Thomas J. Emery, who was by far the largest realty owner in Cincinnati, has been set aside by his widow, Mrs. Mary Emery, for the founding and perpetuation of a home for birds. Mrs. Emery has completed the purchase of a tract of land in Evanswood place of about two acres and has signified her intention of turning it over to the care of the department of biology in the University of Cincinnati.

This ground is to be built up with different kinds of houses, where the feathery tribe can be sheltered. It will be made secure against the invasion of cattle and small boys, and there will be housed there possibly 100 different kinds of birds and their several species. In addition to this there will be houses for the birds of mixed "nationality" and places where these may be studied in their different classes and under different conditions.

All the work of this gigantic bird colony is to be done under the direction of Assistant Professor H. M. Benedict, of the department of biology of the University of Cincinnati. He says that this has been for many years a kind of meeting place for the birds of Cincinnati and that thousands of them have gone there to rest and to eat. He says he will arrange a place where they can rest undisturbed by man.

"We are in a new field as yet," said Professor Benedict. "We must study the best way to teach birds to congregate and nest in a locality where they are safe. The action of Mrs. Emery was the first of its kind to my knowledge in the world and will have decided effect in aiding other communities. It will be known as 'The Mary Emery Bird Preserve,' and we will take special delight in showing it to all the people who care to see it when it is finally arranged."

Mrs. Emery and her husband were both great lovers of birds.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the best singing trios seen on a local vaudeville stage this current season is giving its very best to patrons at the Opera House, this week. The pleasant trio of musical trios is what the three young men sail under, and they surely do infuse plenty of snap and Bohemianism into their work.

One of the three just plays excellent accompaniments on a piano and essays a new kind of solo. He gives "The Rosary" by twanging the strings of the piano. It is novel and sounds well. But the two singers of the team flash up the real stuff. They start out with an involved song of love and roses and all that parts of it seeming real catchy. Shaking the sentiment they tackle comic songs, the number being in Italian dialect. This is given with unctious by the smaller member of the singing pair. Then comes the Yiddish rag song, given better than it has ever been given here. It was done with no little artistry on the part of the singer. After the song will be forthcoming, so the lively pair contribute something about a Hebrew's love of peace and his aversion to anything resembling war. The trio purvey excellent entertainment.

Gregg, the cycle man, does some heart stopping, hair raising stunts on a circular fence erected in the center of the stage. Gregg is a little fellow, who uses an ordinary make of bicycle and who spins the machine to the top of the perpendicular fence in quick style. The act doesn't last long but it gives thrills and chill while it's on. Then there is George Banks, born in Collinsville, who tackles out some steps of all kinds. He sings some catchy ditties, also. Gertrude Eiske, a soprano of high range, gives three or four selections, and in the last she is assisted by a boy soprano.

The picture end of the entertainment is unusually strong. Of much interest is the panoramic picture called "The Banks of the Danube." All of the beauty spots of this lovely river are shown, particularly good being the pictures showing views through cascaded windows. These are new in the motion picture line and they hold an art value uncommon in such pictures. "The Hungarian parliament buildings in Buda-Pest appear in all their majesty also. 'The Cigaret Maker of Seydlitz,' which tells the story of a man, is an engrossing picture, and this is followed by the comedy dramatic picture, entitled "The Money Bag." The comedy film is called "The Stolen Fortune," and it will evoke much laughter.

Tonight the amateurs will put on their stunts and there is sure of being a large audience to see the future stars.

STAR THEATRE

Tonight there will be a grand rally of would-be Theopians at the Star theatre. That theatre will be the joy shop of the city and always has been on Tuesday evenings. Many new faces will be seen among the amateurs.

There is a strong program of motion pictures, including a biograph subject, "The Converts." The motion pictures presented are those of comedy, drama and scenes of travel. The admission of five cents includes a good seat and the show is "the biggest and best in Lowell." Women and children are tendered special attention.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A very attractive bill is being presented at the Academy the first three days of the week, headed by Pierce and Roslin. They have very elaborate and expensive wardrobes and are making a great hit with the crowds that see them. Waldo Whipple, the eccentric rubicomedian, is doing an act that also pleases. Miss Claudia Besette is singing the song "Telling Lies" in a charming manner, and the travel-ettes of the different countries are shown that are instructive and entertaining. A fine list of pictures has been secured and a fine show is assured all those who attend. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

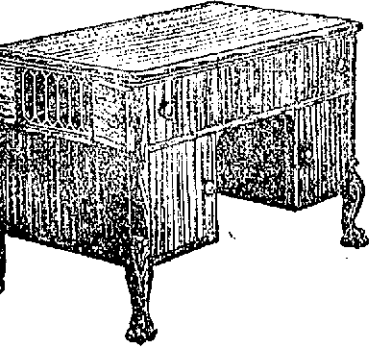

THEATRE VOYONS

One of the features at the Theatre Voyons today is a dramatization of Charles Kingsley's poem, "The Three Fishers," given under the name of "The Unchanging Sea." To increase the effectiveness of the picture special vocal and instrumental effects are arranged for it. "Immigrant Progress in Canada" is a fine scenic subject, and "The Stolen Fortune" combines a charming love story with a good laughable comedy. "The Call of the Sea" tells of the fear of the sea that causes a mother to make her son pledge his word never to be a sailor, but when there is a call for men to save lives, the son, at the bidding of the spirit of his dead father, goes out on the sea. The musical features of the program are unusual and of the best class.

CAPE COD CANAL

The Bill Was Passed By the State Senate

BOSTON, May 10.—Senator Bray, chairman of the committee on harbors and lands, opened the debate on the Cape Cod canal bill in the senate yesterday.

Senator White of the cape offered an amendment to eliminate the joint board and to place the whole matter in the hands of the harbor and land commissioners.

Senator Blanchard of Somerville moved postponement to Wednesday next. He was opposed by both Senators Bray and White.

The motion to postpone was lost on a voice vote. The White amendment was adopted without division and the bill as amended ordered to a third reading.

Towns to Benefit by Auto Fees

Senator Nason spoke for the bill to give to small towns 20 per cent of the amount received in license fees from automobiles for the repair and maintenance of town and county ways.

Senator Teeling of Boston opposed the bill as objectionable when the policy of the state is to use the money from these fees to be used for the whole state.

Senator Hibbard of Lowell believed this one of the best acts that has come from his committee on roads and bridges.

The bill was then passed to be engrossed without a division.

Chaplain on King's Death

In the senate Chaplain Horton made special reference to the passing of Edward VII of England, and referred to the late king's liberality to Ireland.

No "Missing Link" This Year

The following reports of committees were received in the senate:

Roads and bridges, a bill for construction and maintenance of a new bridge over the Merrimack at Lawrence. Also ought not to pass on the resolve that the Massachusetts highway commission consider the possibility of building the "missing link" traffic road in Revere from Point of Pines bridge to Revere street.

No Stock Exchange Inquiry

Representative Martin Hays of Boston urged in the house the adoption of his order providing for the appointment of a special legislative committee to investigate the matter of false statements relative to securities. He declared that the matter exists to an undreamed of extent and demands a searching inquiry.

Mr. Washburn of Worcester contended that there is no pending crisis such an order late in the session.

On a rising vote the order was adopted, 40 to 36, in the absence of a quorum. A quorum was brought in, and the house then rejected the order on a rising vote, 84 to 70. On a roll call the action was sustained, 74 to 117.

Sustain Veto on Militia Pay

Gov. Draper's veto of the bill providing that municipal employees shall receive their regular pay while doing militia duty was taken up in the house yesterday. Mr. Conway of Boston asking the house to override the veto.

Those who voted to pass the militia bill over the governor's veto were: Brennan, Brophy, R. F. Brown, Carleton, Carmody, Culpins, Conway, Coogan, Cronin, Daly, Davies, Dean, Donovan, Dwyer, Hancock, Harrington, Hutton, J. J. Hayes, Hester, F. E. Holt, H. R. Holt, Hughes, Kearns, Edwin, D. J. McCarthy, McCullough, McGrath, Meade, J. H. Mellen, Murray, M. P. O'Brien, W. H. O'Brien, O'Donnell, Perkins, J. F. Powers, Quigley, J. J. Reed, W. M. Robinson, Ryan, Scully, Shaw, Sorenson.

Land for Roads

The article of amendment to the constitution, increasing the power of the legislature to authorize the taking of the land and property for highways or streets, was agreed to 160 to 3. Representative Conway of Boston, Hickey of Boston and Priest of Haverhill voting in the negative.

Refused to Change Law

Mr. O'Brien of Boston moved to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that suits for damages shall be given a speedy trial if the plaintiff is without visible means of support.

Mr. Roberts of Boston opposed substitution on the ground that the bill is unworkable and unfair to others having cases in the courts.

The motion to substitute was lost 34 to 41.

For Voting Machines

The article of amendment of the constitution authorizing the use of voting machines at all elections was agreed to, 130 to 37, in the house.

Finance Board

The committee on metropolitan affairs reported no legislation necessary on the report of the Boston finance commission relative to the soldiers' relief department and next general court on ex-Mayor Hibbard's bill providing for an appropriation of the expense of maintaining the bridge between Breed's island in the city of Boston and the town of Winthrop.

No Prohibition on L

With Rep. Keene of Somerville dissenting, the committee reported leave to withdraw on the bill prohibiting further construction of elevated railways in Boston.

To Tax Telephones

The committee on taxation reported a bill providing for an excise tax on telephone companies, and public charitable institutions a bill requiring that living in hospitals in cities and towns shall be registered with the board of charity.

Light Up Your Buggy

The bill requiring vehicles to carry lights at night on public highways and bridges was then taken up, and the house refused to amend the bill to make it apply only to rubber tired vehicles; the first question then coming on ordering the bill to a third reading, the bill was given a reading, 92 to 82, on a roll call.

GOVERNOR HUGHES SPEAKS FOR THE DIRECT PRIMARY BILL

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 10.—Governor Charles D. Hughes was loudly cheered last night when he spoke forcefully in favor of the Hinman-Green bill in favor of the direct primary.

Gathered at the annual dinner of the Binghamton University Men's club.

Sen. Hinman sat beside Gov. Hughes. Men of both parties united in applauding the sentiments expressed by the governor.

Speaking of his acceptance of the associate justiceship in the supreme court bench, the governor said: "Nothing has affected me more deeply than the many expressions of regret which I have received that I could not be separated from public life and political activity of this state. I could not have continued in my present office even had the people desired it. And such opportunities of public service as might have been incidental to active professional work cannot for a moment be regarded as comparable to the duties which I have been called to perform."

Then the governor launched into a minute analysis and earnest defense of the Hinman-Green bill. Referring to the opposition to the bill, he said: "Its opponents have ridiculed and scorned it. They have searched it for defects with an insupportable analysis. But it has borne the full brunt of the attack of those who are opposed to any system of direct nominations." Disclaiming any effort to influence a single vote on the measure, he expressed the sincere hope that this bill would be brought up and fully discussed on the floor of the legislature.

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The naval appropriation bill was reported to the senate yesterday. It carries $130,770,334, in comparison with $127,829,693, carried by the bill as it passed the house. As reported the aggregate of recommended appropriations is $6,164,265 less than the total for the present fiscal year.

The increases made by the senate committee are as follows:

For pay of navy, $259,843.

Bureau of navigation, $1,154,000.

Public works, $256,600.

Bureau of medicine and surgery, $50,000.

Naval academy, $52,948.

Increases of the navy, $2,425,000.

A decrease of $263,000 was made in the items for public works, yards and docks.

No change was made in the program for the construction of two battleships.

"MACHINE" MAN Rep. George Marchand is "Discovered"

Says Practical Politics: Two members of the house (names furnished on application) had an argument in the state house corridors the other day as to whether or not Rep. George E. Marchand of Lowell is a "machine man." "Of course he's a machine man," said "A." "Not on your life," said "B." "You can't tell me that Marchand is a machine man. Why, just look at his record. He has voted on the plain people's side of every public question. Further than that, he's around working his head off in an effort to line up the members to support Butler Ames for the United States senate against Lodge. What's the matter with you? Don't you know anything at all? That's all right," said the irrepressible "A." "But I'll bet you three good cigars that George is not only a machine man but that he rides on the front seat and keeps the machine oiled, too." "It's a bet," said "B."

And then each arguer undertook to prove his side of the case. "B" dug for the Journal of the house. He ran through page after page, pointed out "A" that the Lowell representative had voted for the direct election of United States senators, that he has been devoting the best part of his time during present legislative session to pleading members who expect to be members next year to support his bill to save persons unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the police from the necessity of paying two dollars in order to be bailed by authorizing police officials to administer bail without fees; and that his position on roll call after roll call was such as would be approved by the workingman. He demanded that "A" hand over the cigars. "Just wait a minute," said the latter, and he pulled from his pocket a volume of "Who's Who in State Politics." He opened the book to the page where Marchand's photograph is printed and looked at it. "B" looked. "Why that only helps to prove my argument," he said. "There's one of those faces that tell right of the real that its owner is honest and independent." "But just read down through what's under the picture," said "A." Here is what "B" read: "Marchand, George E., 17th Middlesex Rep. Lowell. Born there Dec. 23, 1877; public schools. Chauffeur. 'H-m,' mused "B." "So he's a chauffeur. Well, I guess he is a machine man, does sit right on the front seat and oiled the machine. Come on, and I'll buy the cigars."

COL. ROOSEVELT Has Controversy With Ex-Premier

CHRISTIANA, May 10.—Mr. Roosevelt here has been followed by an incident which is making a sensation in Norway. Mr. Roosevelt has severely censured ex-Premier Gunner Knudsen, who is now vice president of the parliament for using his name and quoting him as a partisan in Norwegian politics.

The campaign has been making a campaign and has introduced a bill in parliament for the conservation of the natural resources, chiefly the water power. Mr. Knudsen had a conversation with Mr. Roosevelt on this subject. The latter, in the belief that he was speaking on general principles, expressed his policy. In the work, Mr. Knudsen asked permission to make the former president's remarks public. "Tell it to anyone you like," Mr. Roosevelt replied enthusiastically. There was a considerable stir when the newspapers appeared quoting Mr. Roosevelt as a warm supporter of Knudsen's policy. Mr. Roosevelt emphatically that he issues a denial, and he himself wrote a letter to the same effect. The opposition papers are now attacking the ex-premier.

ENRICO CARUSO Was a Witness in Court Yesterday

NEW YORK, May 10.—Enrico Caruso, the opera singer, testified yesterday in the county court of Brooklyn as a witness against Antonio Mislani, who is on trial charged with trying to extort $15,000 from the tenor. Caruso appeared nervous and ill at ease during the brief time he was on the stand.

A detective who captured Mislani, told of seeing Mislani, in company with Antonio Cincotta, pick up a decoy package. He had to fight to subdue Mislani, he testified, and took from him a loaded pistol.

Caruso was accompanied to court by the body guard he has employed since leaving the city. He kept a sword cane he carries constantly in his hand, even while on the stand.

MAN FOUND DEAD He Was Overcome by Sewer Gas

WORCESTER, May 10.—William Pettigrew, 39, of 3 Fairfield street, a journeyman plumber, was found dead at midnight in a pit under George H. Jewett's garage, 168 Shrewsbury street. He was overcome by sewer gas.

He went into the pit at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to connect a water pipe, and the workmen supposed he had come out of the pit. When he did not go home a search was made for him.

In making a search in the pit Policeman Gustav Fryberg was overcome by gas, but after recovering went into the pit again and brought up the body.

NO CONCESSIONS MADE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 10.—Gen. Manager Higgins of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. was notified yesterday of the result of the strike ballot of the telegraphers employed by the road, 96 per cent being in favor of a strike—but in the conference that followed no concessions were made by Mr. Higgins on the telegraphers' demand for an increase in wages. A second conference was held last night at which Mr. Higgins' suggestions of arbitration or mediation were turned down.

DOUBLE MURDER Hindoo Butler and Aged Housekeeper Were Found Dead

NEW YORK, May 10.—Evidently the victims of burglars, Charles W. Gemon, a Hindoo butler, and Margaret Mesman, an aged housekeeper, were found murdered last night in the residence of Dr. Mott D. Cannon, 130 West 122nd street.

The two were killed sometime between 2:30 and 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, during the physician's absence. Returning, Dr. Cannon discovered the bodies. The butler was shot through the mouth from the right cheek. Two other wounds, one on his forehead and another on the back of his neck were apparently inflicted with a jimmy. The old housekeeper has an ugly bullet wound in the back of her head and was beaten with a jimmy or some other blunt instrument.

In the physician's study the top drawer of a bureau was "jimmied" open and $100 in bills, $100 in silver and several valuable gold stickpins were taken. Nothing else in the house was touched.

ALLEGED ABUSES OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The senate is in a fair way to investigate alleged abuses of the franking privilege. Declaring that a book of 480 pages in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, which is being circulated under the franks of senators and members of the house, contains much matter that has not appeared in the Congressional Record, Sen. Stone introduced a resolution yesterday directing the senate committee on post offices and post roads to determine whether the publication is entitled to free circulation through the mails.

Speaking on the resolution, Mr. Stone said that the book was "purely and essentially a campaign document." If one party could so circulate matter he thought the other party should have the same privilege. He complained especially of the little page, sub-heads and index as extraneous and therefore objectionable matter.

Confessing that he authorized the use of his own frank in the circulation of the book, Mr. Gallinger endorsed the effort to have the circulation of the book investigated. He said he had been assured that the publication contained no matter which had not appeared in the Record. He said, moreover, that the compilers of the pamphlet acted in good faith in what they had done.

Mr. La Follette moved an amendment to include inquiry into the circulation of a circular letter from the American Protective League which he said was also being circulated under the franks of senators and members of the house, contains much matter that has not appeared in the Congressional Record, Sen. Stone introduced a resolution yesterday directing the senate committee on post offices and post roads to determine whether the publication is entitled to free circulation through the mails.

BOARD OF CHARITY WORMS

Gives Appropriations Committee Light on the Department

Chairman McCarty, M. D., and Commissioner Howe Discuss Conditions, Present and Past, at the Farm—Ex-Supt. Mayberry Invited to Next Meeting of Committee

The committee on appropriations, Alderman Gray chairman, met in the public reception room at city hall last night, and heard from the board of charities relative to questions previously submitted by the committee. Dr. James J. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities, Commissioner Harry W. J. Howe, Supt. Conley and Clerk Gallagher were heard from and they supplied all the figures and data that was necessary. That the present board of charities has a thorough knowledge of affairs pertaining to its department was evidenced last night by the ready and comprehensive answers to which questions were answered and figures supplied.

It was stated at the meeting that former Supt. Mayberry sold city farm property and bought supplies for the city farm with the money thus received and that he did not turn over the money to the city treasurer. He was touched upon only to show an irregularity and Mr. Mayberry will be given an opportunity to explain.

The meeting was called more particularly to discuss the question of the charity department's financial status at the beginning of 1919 as compared with 1918 and the board's ability to pay the bill of some $4200 presented by the Massachusetts Home for Feeble-Minded Children. Commissioners McCarty and Howe said that the board could not pay the bill out of its annual appropriation. Ald. Gray said that the committee on appropriations had the $4200 bill in mind when it made the appropriation. Dr. McCarty doubted that statement. He said that the bill was not an ordinary one. "It is an extraordinary bill," he said, "and the charity department cannot, under the ordinance, be held responsible for it. It is not the kind of bill contemplated by the ordinance, but it is paid by the regular appropriation."

The ordinance providing for estimates for appropriations and for other purposes reads, in part, as follows: "All regular annual appropriations shall be for and only applicable to the liabilities incurred during the year in which they are made, any form of phraseology in the order, resolution or vote providing for the same, to the contrary notwithstanding." The bill owed the Massachusetts Home for Feeble-Minded Children is several years old. The city solicitor has said that the city will have to pay the bill, but the city solicitor has not yet said that the board of charities would have to pay it out of its regular appropriation.

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAR MARTIN

J. H.: To retain your charming complexion your tender skin needs a better protection against sunburn, tan and freckles than face powder. There is no more complete and effective protection than the lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spumax in a half-pint hot water, adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. The lotion thus made can be detected when applied to the face, neck and arms. It transforms an ordinary complexion into one of brilliant attractiveness. It will show or rub off like face powder and holds against perspiration. Spumax lotion will clear up and whiten any dirty, skin and make it youthful and charming. It is unequalled for overcoming that shiny, greasy look which is so troublesome to so many ladies.

Mrs. C. T.: For your tired, sore and aching feet I can recommend nothing better than bathing them in a basin of warm water in which you have dissolved two teaspoonfuls of phrosol. Phrosol is an antiseptic and healing deodorant. It helps to keep the feet cool and clear, whereas foot powders tend to clog them up. This treatment helps to harden tender feet, taking care of the corns, calluses and all coming from the annoyance of excessive perspiration. If your drugstore hasn't phrosol in stock he will get it for you, if he wants to accommodate you. Use it as they are beginning to advertise it, and it is bound to be in great demand because it is so good. You can get a fair-sized package for twenty-five cents.

Helen: You are taking quite a risk using "dry shampoo" for, unless the powder is brushed out thoroughly, it will close the pores in the scalp and cause dandruff. You can shampoo thoroughly only by using water. As it is dangerous to use soap and most ready-prepared shampoos owing to the alkali in them, it is better to keep a bottle of pure, clear, clean water and use it. Be sure that you get the dandruff from your drugstore in the original one-ounce package. If he hasn't it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler. He will talk for one dollar an ounce, and an ounce is sufficient for your use. The hair will return after its first application, but it will be thin and very light in color. Two or three applications of the dandruff will permanently remove the hair.

Summer Girl: To remove superfluous hair from the face or forehead, mix a little solution with enough water to make a paste. Cover the skin from which you wish to remove the hair with this paste. Let it remain two or three minutes, then wipe off the paste and wash the skin with warm water. Be sure that you get the dandruff from your drugstore in the original one-ounce package. If he hasn't it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler. He will talk for one dollar an ounce, and an ounce is sufficient for your use. The hair will return after its first application, but it will be thin and very light in color. Two or three applications of the dandruff will permanently remove the hair.

were synonymous. Chairman McCarty said an appraisal was a valuation and an inventory was a listing. The chairman here presented his list.

Asked why there were so many bills presented early last year from 1908, Clerk Gallagher said that the board did not approve bills in January and February, so that there was a big grist to pass upon in March.

Dr. McCarty submitted figures to show that former Supt. Solomon Mayberry had collected money for produce sold by the farm and had bought with that money materials and supplies needed by the department without the city treasurer ever seeing the money. This, he said, was irregular.

Supt. Conley said he knew men who had bought pork from the farm and had paid Supt. Mayberry for the same. As to exchanging farm produce for other supplies, this was recognized as a practice of the former superintendent. In this connection, Supt. Conley said that he had not exchanged property, but had sold it; the money being paid over to the city treasury, where it could be used by the charity department as it was last year.

The original question of whether or not the $4200 bill should be paid out of a special appropriation came up. Dr. McCarty thought the city solicitor should give an opinion as to who should pay this bill, the city council or the board of charities.

The chair believed it clear that the city council had the power to say where the money should come from. "The money of the board of charities is 'with envy and malice toward none and with charity for all' we have turned to the right and are going straight ahead," said Dr. McCarty.

"Perhaps that is why you removed Mr. Mayberry," said Alderman Gray. "I think I have shown that there were good reasons for the removal of Mr. Mayberry; we did not like his methods," rejoined the doctor.

Councilman Flanagan moved that Harry W. J. Howe be permitted to speak and it became a vote. Mr. Howe came forward, and was asked if he knew any figures of value to the committee.

He thought he had. Asked if there was $8000 to $10,000 left over from 1908, he said there was no such amount. "I don't think there were any more bills came in in 1909 for which the preceding administration was responsible than you can find any year," said Mr. Howe.

"With what knowledge I have of this department, I will say that this board cannot do justice to the worthy poor on an appropriation of $75,000. As one member I will say that we do not propose to stint the poor and live with $75,000, and when $4000 is left out of this amount it is simply absurd to think of living within the amount. The board of 1908 exceeded its appropriation by over $1000 and originally had $75,000 set aside. It is simply impossible for us, to do justice to the poor on $75,000."

Asked as to what the inventory would show as regards produce, Mr. Howe said there are 100 barrels of cabbage and 61 tons of hay that were not at the farm last year. "The hay is of no value because it is so coarse the horses and cattle will not eat it. It is mowdown hay brought from the water department by the board of charities," said Mr. Howe.

"Asked as to pork, Mr. Howe said there were 90 hogs when Mr. Mayberry took charge; there are 200 now. Mr. Howe spoke of the conditions in 1909. He said the inmates were living from hand to mouth. He denied that the farm was better stocked this year in January than it was at a corresponding time last year. Mr. Howe said it was customary to buy coal to carry the department through in the succeeding year, but this was not done by the administration of 1909, and the cost will come on this year's board.

After looking up the audit and the superintendent with reference to money transactions, it was found that he has the right to dispose of produce, but that he must make an accounting of such transactions to the city auditor and city treasurer.

On motion of Councilman Javett it was voted to request the city auditor, former Supt. Mayberry at a meeting to be held Monday night next. Adjourned.

KILLED HIMSELF

SUICIDE WAS SON OF AN INDIAN CHIEF

NEW YORK, May 10.—Although he had lived apart from his people for many years, had been educated in a government college, and had become recognized as a musician and actor, Uric Kenrade, son of an Indian chief, killed himself yesterday for love of his dead mother.

The shooting in his room at 214 West 14th street amazed his friends for Kenrade, who was only 26 years old, had achieved wonderful success and prosperity for a man of his race. He was a real artist at the piano and had played several Indian roles on the stage, besides posing for the New York art school and the Students League, all of which netted him a comfortable income. Besides, he owned a large tract of land in South Dakota.

But the death of his mother a year ago was a terrible blow to him. She was a Mexican woman. It was on the anniversary of her death, yesterday, that he unpacked his old mule-load of Indian wars, and then shot himself. He died in St. Vincent's hospital an hour later. Camilla Cobiente, a Mexican, living in the same house, was in the room

House Passed Railroad Bill

EXTRA RAILROAD BILL

Urged By Pres. Taft Was Passed By the House

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The administration railroad bill passed the house by a vote of 200 to 126. The bill was promptly placed before the house today for final action upon various amendments that had been voted upon when the measure was under consideration in committee of the whole.

CLANCY'S MARE GIRL SHOT DEAD

Furnished Fun in Market Street Man Then Tried to Commit Suicide

There wasn't any attraction in Lowell this afternoon to compare with that furnished by John B. Clancy and his kicking mare in Market street. John is the personification of good nature and can stand for a big pile of hard things and there were persons in Market street who marveled at his patience this afternoon.

It was the second or third performance that John had participated in, reluctantly, but the old mare was unduly strenuous. The way she kicked was a caution and she kept it up until the police interfered and suggested to John that the last act would have to be pulled off in the rear of the police station.

Lieut. Brosnan said that the people in Market street had stood for about all the high kicking that was necessary and, besides, John B. didn't have any permit for a public performance. Nobody could work or talk or walk in Market street while John B.'s mare was performing. She didn't take kindly to harness and she punctuated her remarks with high and lofty kicking. She kicked incessantly for more than an hour and one could almost see the holes that she made in the atmosphere.

John B. thought that she would tire herself out but she seemed to have great staying qualities and appeared as fresh as a daisy when taken from the street to the rear of the police station. Clancy's dog, too, was in the east. He showed up at intervals and attempted to bite the mare's heels, but he was muzzled and he had very much success along that line. Mr. Clancy feared that he will have to do away with the mare and when it comes to breeding there's some class to her. She was bred in old Kentucky and she doesn't care who knows it. The only explanation John B. has to offer is that the mare came from a kicking family.

GETS DIVORCE

WOMAN IS FREED FROM THIEF HUSBAND

BOSTON, May 10.—Isabelle Weeks, a young and attractive woman, gained the sympathy of the spectators in support of her petition for divorce when she told the judge how her life's dream of happiness had been blighted after two weeks of married life, when she learned that her husband, Henry Weeks, was a thief.

Besides knowing that her husband was a burglar by occupation, she then had to suffer the abuse and cruelty at his hands, she testified. On one occasion he went so far as to threaten her with a revolver, an incident her sister corroborated.

Mrs. Weeks was granted a divorce and permission to resume her maiden name, that of Isabelle Stewart. During their married life the couple lived in Winthrop and Dorchester.

AN INQUEST HELD

On An Alleged Wood Alcohol Victim

WESTERLY, R. I., May 10.—No definite statement was given out by Coroner Cross of Charlestown at the conclusion of the inquest held today upon the body of Michael Riley of Niantic, the 14th wood alcohol victim in this vicinity within the past month, other than that it corroborated the evidence already made public, that Riley died of drinking whiskey containing wood alcohol. The inquest was ordered following a report received from Prof. Whitney of the Harvard Medical school stating that he had found evidence of wood alcohol poisoning in the stomach of Riley. It is believed that the person who sold the whiskey which Riley drank and which has been held by the police on a charge of conducting a liquor nuisance will be arrested shortly on a charge of manslaughter.

FAMILY ESCAPED

Mother and Children Leave Burning House

LYNN, May 10.—Hemmed in by flames and dense billows of smoke, it was only after a struggle with the suffocating fumes that Mrs. Ella Coniff, her sister and her two little daughters escaped death in a stubborn blaze that threatened to destroy their home at 138 Chestnut street yesterday.

The house is a three story wooden building and Mrs. Coniff's little daughter, Marian and Helen, aged 7 and 5 respectively, were asleep in a room on the second floor when the fire broke out. Mrs. Coniff and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, were working upstairs.

The two women felt their way through the smoke down the stairs and at last reached the bedroom where the girls were sleeping. Both the children were unconscious, and would have suffocated in a few minutes more.

Mrs. Dougherty placed Helen in Mrs. Coniff's arms, and taking Marian in her own, led the way to the street. At the first landing the smoke was so dense that they could scarcely make headway against it, but after a hard struggle they finally reached the street.

As soon as the little girls had been taken care of, Mrs. Coniff, overcome by her exertions, fainted, and Mrs. Dougherty was not so much affected and turned in an alarm.

The cause of the fire is not known. The loss was $2000.

THE MILK WAR

WAS CONTINUED WITH MORE VIGOR TODAY

BOSTON, May 10.—The milk war was continued with vigor today by the contractors and producers. Contractor Graustein offered a reward of $500 for the detection of persons who are reported to have emptied milk in Vermont intended for shipment to Boston. Mr. Graustein stated today that Jonas Remis, vice president of the Milk Producers' union, was shipping milk to Worcester from which city it would be easily sent to Boston. Regarding the report that farmers in Vermont were being threatened and interfered with, Secretary Hunter of the Producers' union said today:

"We have always frowned on any action of this sort. We have realized from the start that this sort of thing would only injure our own cause. The milk that was tipped over in Vermont was spilled by boys. I am sure that none of our members have made any such action of this kind. The charge that they have is ridiculous."

TO ARBITRATE TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, May 10.—At a conference today between the interstate commerce commission and representatives of the eastern trunk line railroads and commercial bodies in Boston, New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia the commission agreed to act as arbitrator on the important traffic question, which has resulted in a rate war among the eastern railroads.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The house today passed a series of resolutions calling on the war department for information as to the actual purchasers of the Philippine prior lands under the rule of the Mindanao Development Co., which Rep. Martin of Colorado claims was backed by the American Sugar Refining Co.

PRESIDENT MELLEN THE HEINZE TRIAL

Willing to Have Finances of New Haven Road Investigated

BOSTON, May 10.—Much Massachusetts opposition to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was wiped off the slate today when President Mellen agreed to an investigation of the finances of the road by any fair-minded board as a step towards liquidating the capital indebtedness of the company in accordance with his own petition to the legislature. The leaders of the opposition to the New Haven road, generally known as the anti-mergers, expressed themselves as satisfied with the attitude of Mr. Mellen and agreed that such action would help greatly in bringing about a better feeling toward the road.

Mr. Mellen appeared at the state house accompanied by Vice President Byrnes, Director Hemenway and James D. Brady of New York. He spoke five minutes in submitting his petition and bill for the validation of the securities of the company and then spent five minutes in replying to questions of House Chairman Washburn of Worcester. It was during this latter part of his appearance before the legislative committee on railroads that he agreed to the amendment suggested by Mr. Washburn that the road be investigated pending which the bill should be referred to the next general court.

Mr. Mellen said: "It is a condition not a theory which confronts the New Haven road in Massachusetts. Lawyers have disagreed. Your attorney general says that a large part of capital stock of our road is illegal. Our lawyers claim that it is not illegal. The feeling in the public mind in this state is not favorable to the company. Two ways are open to the company; either to obtain the validation through the legislature or go through a long litigation. 'Our lawyers want us to adopt the second alternative, but we have differed with them and without the aid of any lawyer, I personally, drew up the petition and bill which is before the Massachusetts legislature. 'It is the earnest desire of the New Haven road to have better feeling in this state and we feel that we cannot make money unless we do have that feeling. So we come here in all fairness and ask that this whole matter be straightened out satisfactorily to all parties.'"

In response to questions by Mr. Washburn as to whether he would be willing to have an investigation first and leave the question of the validation of the securities until afterward, Mr. Mellen said that the company welcomed any sort of an examination into its finances, provided it were pursued with a fair and honest intent. Mr. Washburn pointed out that some of the property of the New Haven Co. was in steamboats, trolleys, lighting and heating plants which are objectionable to people in Massachusetts. Mr. Mellen replied that the New Haven company had been interested in such properties for many years and that such property constituted part of the company's assets.

A BIG INCREASE

In Membership of the K. of C.

BOSTON, May 10.—There were several reasons for the spirit of enthusiasm which prevailed at the 17th annual encampment of the Massachusetts state council, Knights of Columbus, today. The one which was considered the most important was the success of the order's efforts to have Columbus day, Oct. 12, declared a legal holiday in Massachusetts. Another was the report of State Deputy W. J. O'Brien, who stated that the total membership in the state is now 237,012, an increase of 15,550 for the year; the number of subordinate councils is now 1423, an increase of 54; the total amount of insurance in force on Jan. 1 last was $7,452,000. He reported that Massachusetts is the lowest state in insurance membership, having 12,094 insurance members out of a total of 75,655.

Green at the time of going to press was in a semi-conscious condition, having rallied somewhat after being in the hospital for a couple of hours.

Guests of the German Emperor and Empress Today

BERLIN, May 10.—Col. Roosevelt arrived in this city this forenoon from Sweden. He was met in the railroad station by the secretary for foreign affairs, Von Schoen, on behalf of the emperor, the staff of the American embassy, Consul General Alexander Thackara, T. St. John Gaffney, American consul general at Dresden, and many members of the American colony. Among the other Germans to meet Mr. Roosevelt were Lieut. Col. Von Koener, who was greeted by his majesty as the former president's military attaché during his visit to Germany, and Count Von Wedel, who will have charge of the general arrangements during Mr. Roosevelt's stay. The railroad authorities had decorated the main staircase descending from the platform of the station with double rows of potted plants.

His majesty sent court carriages to the depot to convey the Roosevelt party to the residence of the American ambassador, David J. Hill. The colonel's first engagement this morning in Berlin was with a throat specialist, as he is still suffering from hoarseness.

A special train will convey the party this afternoon to Potsdam, when the Roosevelt will be luncheon guests of the emperor and empress.

ARRIVAL IN BERLIN

BERLIN, May 10.—The Roosevelt party arrived from Stockholm, Sweden, this morning. They are guests at the American embassy. As is usual whenever Mr. Roosevelt stops, a crowd was at the railroad station to give him a friendly greeting, but, as has not been the case before, during his European trip, the official receiving party was not complete.

As a result of a series of misunderstandings American Ambassador Hill was late in reaching the station, where the royal carriages intended for the use of the party did not arrive until the Roosevelt had been driven in other conveyances to the embassy. The representatives of the German office were greatly annoyed over the unfortunate mix-up. In the first place some one had told Mr. Hill that the special train carrying the Roosevelt would be a half hour late in reaching Berlin. This did not prove to be the case.

In the absence of Emperor William, through the death of his uncle, King Edward, who would have personally met the former president, the official party of reception was headed by Herr Von Schoen, the secretary for foreign affairs, who represented his majesty. The main railway landing from the station to the street had been made beautiful with a wealth of potted plants, and as the Roosevelt passed down to their carriages they received frequent salutations from the throng. The Roosevelt were driven at once to the American embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's voice is bothering him slightly and one of his earliest appointments today was with a throat specialist.

To the City Council of the City of Lowell: Gentlemen:—I desire to call your attention to the death of Abel Wheeler, which occurred Monday, May 9, 1910. STATE OFFICIALS

Would Transfer Feeble Minded From Farm

The board of charities has been notified by the state lunacy authorities, for the second time, that all insane persons shall be removed from the city farm and transferred to the control of the state authorities.

This notice comes as a blow to the feelings of the board because it was believed that but a very few removals would be made. There is very little insanity at the city farm. In nine cases out of ten it is feeble mindedness on account of old age and the patients are childish and harmless—not vicious. The board will object strenuously to a wholesale removal and Supt. Conley, of the Sun, said he would go to the governor, if necessary, to secure his intervention, if possible.

DR. HYDE TESTIFIES

KANSAS CITY, May 10.—Dr. Hyde resumed his testimony in his own behalf when court opened this morning. The physician smiled as he came out of his cell. Mrs. Hyde was waiting for him.

"Testifying doesn't make me nervous," he said. "I'm glad to have an opportunity to tell my story."

LYNN, May 10.—Under an agreement between the firm and the United Shoe Workers of America the 25 stock-fitters who have been on strike for the past ten days at the factory of the A. M. Creighton Shoe Co. returned to work today. The firm, it is understood, granted all the demands of the men. The contract system is abolished and the men will be paid according to the provisions of a new and highly complicated stock list.

Twenty-eight stock-fitters who were on strike at the factory of James Phelan & Son also returned to work today, their demands having been granted. At the present time only twenty-five of the stock-fitters are on strike, thirteen in the factory of the Thompson & Crocker Shoe Co. and twelve at the factory of William Porter & Sons.

STRIKE-BREAKERS

ATTACKED

NEW YORK, May 10.—Armed with sticks and stones, a mob walked up Park avenue today and attacked the strike-breakers who have taken the places of the laborers on the New York Central tracks who quit, demanding higher pay. Police reserves who had been notified that the mob was on the way to attack the laborers were on hand when the mob arrived hidden from sight.

When the marchers got near the Tremont station they halted. The railroad tracks at that point are depressed below the street level. Leaning over the railing the men hurled a shower of stones at the strike-breakers below. The police swooped down and scattered them after a tussle. Ten men were arrested.

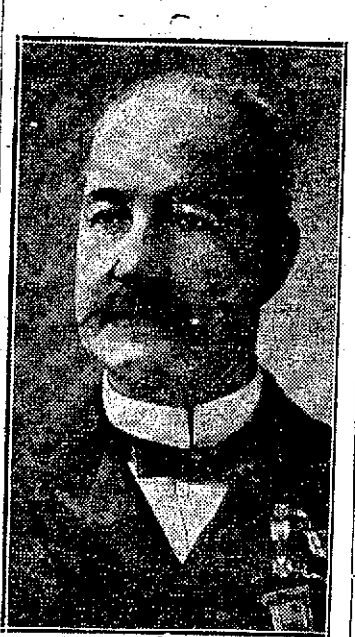

MAN BLOWN UP

PITTSBURG, May 10.—The explosion of a large quantity of nitro glycerine stored in a magazine at Burgettstown, 14 miles from here, today, killed an oil well shooter who was literally blown to atoms. Not even a fragment of his body has been found as yet.

At Greensburg, 18 miles away, houses were rocked to their foundations. In Pittsburg the force of the shock was felt. At McDonald the residents ran from their homes, some shouting that Halley's comet had struck the earth. The explosion broke hundreds of windows at Burgettstown.

DR. MOSES G. PARKER

Dr. Moses G. Parker, of this city, was honored by the members of the Sons of the American Revolution at the 21st annual congress held at Toledo, Ohio, last week by being re-elected a member of the executive committee. Inasmuch as this will make his fourth consecutive year as a member of the executive committee there is no doubt that his zealous and untiring work is greatly appreciated by the members of the organization.

When the congress was held in Boston in 1906 he was elected first vice-president general and since that time has annually been re-elected to the executive board.

Moses Greeley Parker, is the son of Theodore and Hannah (Greeley) Parker, and was born at Dracut, Oct. 12, 1842. His grandfather, Peter Parker, served as a private in the militia and his great grandfather, Kendal Parker, as corporal in Varnum's Massachusetts regiment during the Revolution.

Dr. Parker was educated at Phillips' Andover academy and began the study of medicine in this city in 1861. He attended courses of lectures in New York and took the degree of M. D. at Harvard University Medical school in 1864.

In the Civil war he was assistant surgeon of the 67th Mass. regiment and of the 2d U. S. Col. Cavalry, also surgeon-in-charge at Point of Rocks hospital, being honorably discharged from service May 24, 1865. He later studied medicine at Vienna and Paris.

Since 1876 Dr. Parker has been actively interested in medical and surgical matters in this city in connection with several hospitals. He is an oculist and aurist, and is consulting oculist at St. John's hospital. He is a member of several local and medical associations and has attended a number of international and other medical congresses. He has published results of investigations of the peculiar motion found in lightning and other electric currents, and on the modern uses of electricity.

He has been a director and member of the executive committee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. since its organization. LOWELL DOCTOR PRES. TAFT'S AUTO

THE LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF PRESIDENT TAFT

Nearly Collided With a Train in New York

NEW YORK, May 10.—The cheers of the thousands of Passaic citizens who lined the route of President Taft to the banquet of the board of trade in that city last night so smothered the roar of an approaching Erie express that the president's automobile barely missed being struck by the train.

As it was, the procession was broken in two, his escort was divided and one of the mounted officers was thrown from his horse in making the sudden halt.

The president was on his way to the home of Victor L. Mason, president of the board of trade, where he was to dress and hold a brief reception prior to the banquet. The most thorough precautions for his protection had been taken. Every foot of his route through the city was patrolled by members of the Fifth regiment. Secret service men from Washington were aided by a picked squad of police, who remained and patrolled near his person. Officers of the Fifth regiment were also in the escorting party.

As the procession passed along, the cheers of the throngs were deafening. No one in the escort seemed to notice the approaching train as they neared the city. In fact, Chief Hendry and the other officers in an automobile, and five mounted policemen had been across the tracks before the express was sighted.

The president's automobile, surrounded by Col. Edwin W. Hine and staff, was already on the tracks, and the chauffeur quickly shot it across, and it was safe by 20 feet when the train roared by.

But the rest of the procession was brought to such a sudden stop that confusion was narrowly averted. A rearing horse threw a policeman, but did not injure him.

The president smiled blandly through it all. In the car with him were Mr. Mason, Captain Butt and two secret service men.

The many guests at the reception in Mr. Mason's home delayed the president's arrival at the banquet for about an hour. But nearly every one in Passaic was waiting along the route to see him.

The moment Mr. Taft entered Turn hall, the building was surrounded by the men of the Fifth regiment, who did not relax their vigilance until after he had departed.

The delay had caused some worry among the guests at the reception until a message was received explaining it.

The banquet hall was beautifully decorated. Walls and ceilings were a mass of cherry blossoms, concealed in which were hundreds of singing canaries.

At the table with the president sat Mr. Mason, Gov. Fort of New Jersey, Senator John Kean, Senator F. O. Briggs, Gen. Bird W. Spencer, mayor of Passaic, John W. Griggs, Lloyd C. Griggs, ex-Governor Franklin Murphy and Job Hedges. Ambassador Trevelock could not be present owing to King Edward's death.

It was after 11 o'clock when the president left the hall in Mr. Mason's automobile. In turning the first corner the machine hit a rut and a rear spring, the one directly under Mr. Taft, broke. The machine was able to go on, however.

It was almost midnight when the president's special got away.

THE FISHERFOLK TOLEEN GOODS

J. B. Connolly Tells of Their Hazardous Life

The College club and its friends were well entertained at Colonial hall last evening when James B. Connolly, South Boston's literary genius and the author of many widely read tales of the sea and the fisherfolk of Gloucester, gave a talk on "Out of Gloucester," for the benefit of the playground fund.

All of Mr. Connolly's stories are of captivating interest and his talk last evening was likewise and was entirely apart from any of his stories. He has sailed with the fishermen and has experienced their work and the dangers they endure and he gave a plain unvarnished tale of the life of this most interesting class of New Englanders.

"They don't give Carnegie medals to Gloucester fishermen," he said, "Most of them forget the things they have done before they get ashore; but here is a type of heroism and courage that no fishing fleet in the world can equal and the race of men upon the seas will be stronger for the standard they have raised."

What had often impressed him when talking with men who had been through harrowing experiences, he said, was the fact that they brought back only some humorous recollection of it. One man who had been lost in a dory, and who was rescued only when he was about to perish in the sea, made the comment that all he thought of was that it was a damp night and he had been fishing all winter, and then to be lost in May. At another time when a sea of tremendous size broke over the fishing schooner, somebody shouted "Hang on" to the man at the wheel as the crew ducked below. When the ship righted herself the man was found stretched across the boom, having been saved by one chance out of 10, and he said when taken down: "I'd like to get hold of the loafer who told me to hang on. What did he think I was going to do, jump overboard?"

The speaker did not have occasion to resort to the realm of fiction to adorn his narratives, for the truth of the old adage, that truth is oft a stranger than fiction, was apparent as he told story after story of the hardy Gloucester crew and their courage, heroism and hair-breadth escapes. He held his audience spellbound throughout.

Miss Helen M. Lambert of the committee introduced the speaker, and at the conclusion of the talk Mr. Joseph Smith sold at auction the two attractive pictures that Mr. John J. Coggeshall had painted to advertise the entertainment. One poster was sold to Mrs. Willis Farrington for $7.50, and the other, after spirited bidding, went to Mr. Frank E. Dunbar for $10.

BODY FROM RIVER

Proves to be That of a
Lowell Man

The body of a man supposed to be that of Joseph Ogden of 74 Kinsman street, this city, who has been missing from his home since April 25th, was found floating in the Merrimack river at Lawrence yesterday. Immediately after the finding of the body the police of this city were notified by telephone, and the description of the body found tallies with the description of Ogden.

The body was taken from the water not far from the city proper. It was that of a man of about 35 years of age, five feet eight inches tall, medium build and beard, black worsted shirt, blue and white striped shirt, black tie, black laced shoes, tan colored undershirts and gray socks. The description is almost identical with that received by the Lowell police from the family of the Lowell man. The brother of Ogden was communicated with by Capt. Atkinson late last night and from the information received from the down-river city, he was led to believe that the body was that of the missing member of the family will go to Lawrence today to view the body.

Ogden was 66 years of age and was employed by the Hamilton Mfg. Co. for several years, and his last week's pay remains uncalled for at the office of the mill. On the afternoon of April 25th he left his home and has not been seen or heard from since. Ogden was a work in the mill during the forenoon of the day on which he disappeared.

Body Identified
Inquiry at the police station in Lawrence this noon brought out the information that the body had been positively identified as that of Joseph Ogden of this city, by Harry Ogden, a son of the deceased.

The body which was taken to the funeral parlors of W. W. Cole in Lawrence, after being removed from the river, will be forwarded to this city tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in the Edison cemetery.

BUILDING STRIKE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 10.—The building strike in this city settled today to a systematic fight for supremacy between the labor unions and the contractors, twelve of whom yesterday recognized the union. At the same time the unions commenced action to force the contractors. Although a small number of union men quit their work on several buildings today there was no sign of the rumored sympathetic strike involving 6000 union laborers materializing.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—Committee reports took up a great part of today's program of the national convention of the Methodist Brotherhood. The report of William B. Patterson of New York showed that receipts for the month of March, 1908, amounted to $5.00 and for the corresponding month this year $1203.

MONEY RETURNED
Was Lost by Woman 12
Years Ago

CHICAGO, May 10.—Mrs. Fred Grubeck lost $10 while shopping in State street 12 years ago. A young woman who gives her name as "A. M. Honey" found the money today it was lost. She turned it in yesterday with this explanation: "I kept the money when I found it for I needed it to pay my way to the country for a much needed rest. Since then I've never had enough at one time to return it. Now that I have I return the amount."

When she told the bill Mrs. Grubeck was Mrs. Lillian Burdette. In her lost purse were visiting cards. A few days ago she received a telephone from the finder of the money and yesterday the $10 reached her with the explanation.

NIGHT EDITION

MET THE KAISER

Col. Roosevelt Greeted by the German Emperor

POTSDAM, May 10.—The much discussed meeting of Emperor William and Theodore Roosevelt took place this afternoon. The visit of the former president at the new palace was devoid of any spectacular feature inconsistent with the court mourning for King Edward but the occasion lacked nothing from the viewpoint of hospitality and the purpose to honor the distinguished American.

Mr. Roosevelt, who arrived in Berlin this morning and spent the forenoon at the American embassy, was escorted to Potsdam this afternoon by General Alfred von Loewenfeld, the personal representative of the emperor.

Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied here by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt and Kermit, American Ambassador Hill and Mrs. Hill, Captain Charlie, the military attaché and Lieut. Commander Reginald R. Belknap, the naval attaché of the American embassy.

As their carriages drove into the courtyard, Emperor William appeared at the principal entrance of the new palace and descended the steps to meet his guests. He extended his hand first to Mr. Roosevelt, then to Mrs. Roosevelt and to Ethel and Kermit, greeting each most cordially. His majesty wore the uniform of the Garde du Corps with a helmet.

Preceded by the lord chamberlain, Count zu Eulenberg, and master of the Imperial household, Baron von Lyncker, the emperor with Mr. Roosevelt at his right entered the palace and passing through the large apartment popularly known as the shell room showed his guests into the smaller salon beyond. Mrs. Roosevelt entered on the arm of General von Loewenfeld and in turn was followed by Ambassador and Mrs. Hill, Miss Roosevelt and Kermit, Captain Charlie, Lieut. Commander Belknap and Dr. von Bothmann-Holtz, the imperial chamberlain with Prince Solms-Baruth. Within the salon the party was received by Empress Augusta Victoria, Crown Prince Frederick William, Crown Princess Cecilie, Princess Victoria Luise, Prince Joachim and Prince Oskar.

The luncheon that followed was attended by a large number, including many government officials and others prominent in public.

MAY DAY LABOR TROUBLES

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10.—The May day labor troubles have practically ended in Newport. The teamsters who have been on strike since May 2 have accepted the fourteen and thirteen dollars a week scale of nine hours a day and returned to work today. All but thirty of the striking carpenters have returned to work. The contractors who have refused to increase the wages of the carpenters are still holding out for the old wage scale and claim that they will be able to find enough carpenters outside the city to finish the construction work on which they are engaged.

THE RAILROAD BILL

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A motion to recommit the railroad bill in the house was defeated by a vote of 157 to 176.

HIS ARM INJURED THE JAPANESE

Man Fell From a Freight Car Are Superseding the British Officers

SEATTLE, Wash., May 10.—The superseding of British officers by Japanese on the Japanese trans-Pacific line, the officers being removed one by one generally at this end of the run, is said to be due to pressure of Japanese public opinion which demands the manning of Japanese vessels entirely by Japanese. The companies would like to retain white captains and chief engineers, but even this is impossible. Each month sees fewer white officers on the Japanese liners that arrive in Puget sound.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The court customs appeals has set June 7 as the day for beginning hearing of cases on the docket of which there are already between 40 and 50. The jurisdiction of the tribunal covers appeals from the board of general appraisers. Rules of procedure before the court have been prepared for distribution.

Cook in You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wick with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

THE MARKET

NOTHING SURPRISING IN THE TRANSACTIONS TODAY

Prices Came Back to What They Were at the Close Yesterday—The Particular Stocks Affected

NEW YORK, May 10.—Stocks opened at higher prices on active trading but without any conspicuous feature in the dealings. There were slight declines in a few issues including United States Steel, New York Central and Can. Pac., the last named falling 1/4. Brooklyn Union Gas sold at an advance of 2, Louisville & Nashville and General Electric 1/4. Am. Maltin pld 1/4, International Harvester 1 and Wabash pld and Utah Copper large fractions.

After alternating up and down a narrow range for a time the market developed a pronounced downward movement with St. Paul, the Pacific, United States Steel and American Smelting leading. All of the above named as well as several others sold below yesterday's closing. St. Paul losing a point.

The extreme dullness and heaviness of the market was ascribed to new drawal of supporting measures which were thought advisable on account of the death of the king of England and which seemed no longer necessary today. Some reselling of stocks bought on that account was supposed to be going on. Strength in the New York public utilities raised the market at noon. Bonds were firmer.

Stocks were pressed for sale again and prices reached the lowest. Southern Railway and U. S. Steel gave way a point.

When the selling slackened prices were bid up again to about where they left off yesterday after which the market fell into stagnation. Lackawanna gained five points.

The market closed irregular and active. Reports of beneficial rains in the northwest and of some large sales of copper by the leading interests gave a brisk upward impetus to prices. There was some yielding from the best in the late dealings.

PEACE CONGRESS PENSION FRAUD

Made Pilgrimage to Ellhu Burritt's Grave Is Charged Against a Charlestown Woman

HARTFORD, Conn., May 10.—Pausing in their convention activities in this city for a few hours today after a single session, the delegates to the New England arbitration and peace congress which began its sessions yesterday joined in a peace pilgrimage to the grave of Ellhu Burritt at New Britain where a centennial celebration of the birth of the pioneer peace advocate had been arranged by his native city. At today's session in Hartford, President Seyler of Smith college presided. The speakers were Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, Boston; Miss Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the American School Peace league, Boston; and President John M. Thomas of Middlebury college.

BOSTON, May 10.—A case pathetic as well as strange was presented before U. S. Commissioner Hayes in the federal building yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Anna McDermott of 15 Gray St., Charlestown, was arraigned on a charge of perjury in an alleged pension fraud.

The defendant, who is 67 years old, was taken into custody shortly after noon, when she was discharged from the Boston City Hospital, where she had been for some time recovering from an operation. Pale, haggard and helpless she was brought to the federal building by Deputy U. S. Marshal Charles D. Baucroft, and later was arraigned on complaint of U. S. Pension Examiner McSorley.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Several important concessions have been secured by the 5000 telegraphers on the Pennsylvania system east of Pittsburgh following a meeting of the general committee representing the operators and General Manager Myers of the company. Among the concessions granted were these:

"In addition to the general 8 per cent. increase in wages recently declared by the company supplementary increases were granted to equalize wages with the amount of work performed. An agreement that when vacancies are advertised any employee may bid for them regardless of his rate of pay or the rate of pay of the advertised position.

A few other requests, including that of granting two relief days a month under pay to all telegraphers were held under advisement until a subsequent meeting.

SUPERIOR COURT

The Jury Returned Verdict of $512.20

The case of Desjarlais vs. Lowell Textile company, which was finished last evening, went to the jury this morning. Judge Hardy making his charge to the jury at the opening of court.

The jury later returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $512.20.

The case of Levi Ellis vs. City of Everett was on trial today. The plaintiff sues to recover for services and labor as a collector of garbage for the city of Everett. The work having been done under a contract with the board of health.

John J. O'Connor of Boston appeared for the plaintiff and City Solicitor N. P. Brown for the defendant.

The case broke the contract on the ground that the plaintiff did not live up to it while the plaintiff claims that he lived up to his part, but that the board of health did not.

It seems that the plaintiff at the time owned several large piggeries and used the swill to feed the pigs. Law- yer Brown on cross examination tried to bring out the claim that the plaintiff neglected to collect all the swill because there was more than his pigs could eat. Mr. Ellis claimed that at no time had he too much swill.

"How many pigs did you have?" asked Mr. Brown.

"I don't know. I couldn't tell," answered the witness.

"Didn't you once say you had about 500?"

"Perhaps I did."

"Then why can't you tell now how many?"

"I couldn't tell. I might go home at night and find 50 more there than when I left in the morning," said the witness.

The case was on all day.

The short list is filled with overdue assigned cases though the general list is near at hand.

The cases in order are as follows: Quigley vs. Boston & Maine, Coakley & Sherman for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for the defendant, assigned for May 4.

Holland vs. Senares, J. J. and W. A. Hogan for the plaintiff, F. J. Hennessy for defendant, assigned for May 5.

Keleher vs. Boston & Maine (two cases), Coakley & Sherman for plaintiff, Trull & Wier for defendant, assigned for May 6.

Nevel vs. Fitchburg & Leominster R. R., Edward Fisher for plaintiff, Baker & Baker for defendant, assigned for May 9.

Donohe vs. Thayer, Miller for plaintiff, W. H. Vincent for defendant, assigned for May 9.

The cases of Connors Bros. Co. vs. John Gray & Co. and Gray vs. Connors Bros. were on the short list of assignments, but the assignments have been cancelled. Messrs. Qua appear for the Connors Bros. and Lawyer Allen for Mr. Gray.

The case of Hill ex. vs. Hill, which was assigned for May 9, was on the list, but the assignment was cancelled. One of the witnesses in this case, Truman Hill, who came here from California, died suddenly at his hotel a few days ago. F. E. Dunbar appears for the plaintiff and the Messrs. Hogan for the defendant.

MRS. C. W. MORSE

Seeks a Pardon for Her Husband

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Dressed in a modest gray suit and black hat, a sad-faced, gray-haired little woman stood nearly all the afternoon at the main entrance of the house and senate yesterday and quietly implored members of congress to sign a petition to the president to pardon her husband from the penitentiary. The woman was Mrs. Charles W. Morse, wife of the New York financier now in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., serving a sentence of 14 years for wrecking his banks in New York.

Many representatives and senators signed the petition. Some declined abruptly and others explained their unacquaintance with the facts in the case and did not sign. Most of the New York members of the house signed, although there were some who declined.

With Mrs. Morse was Miss Morse, a sister of the convicted financier.

ANOTHER LEGACY

MORE MONEY COMING TO WESTBORO MAN

WESTBORO, May 10.—William M. Gardner, 50 years old, a florist, living at 50 Elm street, received word yesterday from his old home in Dumfries, Scotland, that he was one of four heirs to $25,000 left by the death of his uncle, who was one of the well-to-do merchants of Dumfries.

Only recently Mr. Gardner was named in a $18,000 estate in New Haven, and then received from a Scotland bank, which was placed on deposit for him by a relative when he was a child.

The Scotland lawyers have been searching for the whereabouts of the Westboro heir since last June. The other three heirs, two brothers and a sister of Mr. Gardner, that will come in for their share, live at the old Gardiner home in Dumfries, Scotland.

ICE BREAKING UP

WIRRAVICK, Ark., May 10.—The ice on the Chen river began to break up in front of Fairbanks yesterday and before the end of the week navigation will begin on the Tanana and the lower Yukon. There are indications of a big stampede to the Alaskan gold fields discovered late last fall.

MR. ROOSEVELT INJURIES FATAL

Is to Preside at Anniversary Exercises South Boston Woman Fell Down Stairs

BOSTON, May 10.—Commencement day exercises at Harvard will this year be arranged by the class of '85, which also holds its 25th anniversary exercises at the same time, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeds Dr. Eliot as president of the Alumni association, will preside at the ceremony in Memorial hall.

James J. Storrow, who will be chief marshal, has issued invitations to the 150 members of the class of '85 who are expected to attend the reunion to take dinner with him at his home in Lincoln.

Class day coming on June 24, among the many features of the celebration will be the Harvard-Yale baseball game, which takes place at Cambridge Thursday, June 25; the reunion of the class of '85, which begins the following day; and the religious exercises, which will be conducted Sunday by President Lowell in Appleton chapel.

A trip down the harbor, including an inspection of the Fore River shipbuilding plant, has been arranged for Monday. Tuesday a trip by special train to visit the Thayer museum at Lancaster will be the evening of the evening by the class dinner at the Algonquin club.

Wednesday is commencement day, and the Harvard-Yale boat race takes place the following day. A big block of seats on the observation train has been reserved for members of the class.

EVERETT, May 10.—Mrs. Katherine Burke of South Boston died at the Whidden Memorial hospital yesterday at the age of 69. Early last Thursday she started to go from one room to another in a house on Alfred street, where she was stopping, and made a mistake in the door. She fell downstairs and her skull was fractured.

She was not taken to the Whidden Memorial hospital until Friday. The hospital officials do not know the address of Mrs. Burke in South Boston, but she has a daughter living there, a Mrs. Webb.

PERU PREPARING

For a Possible War With Ecuador

LIMA, Peru, May 10.—Active preparations for a possible war with Ecuador are being made by Peru. Volunteers are enlisting daily and the war fund is being constantly increased by private donations. In this city and its immediate vicinity 24,000 soldiers are quartered while 10,000 additional troops are stationed near the frontier.

The Peruvian government believes that it has reliable information that Ecuador is trying to obtain an alliance with Bolivia as against Peru. To this end it is asserted, a member of the Ecuadorian cabinet left Guayaquil today for La Paz, Bolivia, under the instructions to negotiate with the Bolivian government and the Chilean minister at that capital.

HARVARD PROF.

SAYS THIS IS THE YEAR 1913 ACCORDING TO RESEARCHES

BOSTON, May 10.—According to Professor David Lyon, curator of the Semitic Museum at Harvard University, it is now the year 1913, and to write it 1910 is to assert a historical untruth. Researches, he declared, have definitely established this.

Professor Lyon declares King Herod died in 750 A. U. C., instead of in 753, according to prevalent belief, and in accepting the date as the beginning of the Christian era, historians have erred. As Christ is known to have been born a year before Herod's death, he was born in 749.

"From recent researches," said the professor, "we have positive proof that Herod's son, Archelaus, was deposed in 759 of the era A. U. C. The records show that he ruled nine years, so that he must have ascended the throne in 750.

"Herod's other son, Antipater, was deposed in 752 and comes have been found which show that Antipater ruled for forty-two years. This date must have ascended his throne 760 years after the building of Rome.

"We know that Herod, at his death, divided his kingdom between his two sons. Ancient historians placed Herod's death at 753, and this date has been accepted as the beginning of the Christian era, but is now proven that the event occurred three years previously."

AN EXHIBIT

OF CHILD LIFE IN NEW YORK IS PLANNED

NEW YORK, May 10.—An exhibit of child life in New York, somewhat after the pattern of the tuberculosis exhibit, will be held next November. It will show the life of the child in the streets, in tenements, apartments and in the schools. It will utilize many charts and photographs. Yesterday the incorporation of the New York Child Welfare committee was approved by Justice Whitney in the supreme court. This committee is to have charge of the exhibit.

For a year the paid secretaries of various committees to whom have been assigned special topics have been gathering data and photographs and preparing charts. There are committees of homes, streets, schools, amusements and related topics. In the exhibit, which will be held in the first regiment armory, will be shown model houses, apartments, furnishings and clothing. Some of the ground of the tuberculosis exhibit will be covered in the matter of tenement conditions under which some of the children dwell. It is expected that the complete ex-

COST OF LIVING

Has Cut Into the People's Savings

NEW YORK, May 10.—Deposits in savings banks are falling as a consequence of the high cost of living. What the figures are will not be known till July 1, when the state department of banking receives its reports for the half-year.

Individual banks are reticent about their business, but there are signs which indicate an unfavorable showing—chief of these being that savings banks have not been buying bonds when bonds have been low.

In three or four weeks the banks will separately call their directors together to settle upon the rate of interest to be paid for the ensuing six months.

The likelihood is that, on account of competition and regardless of decreased deposits, the rate will be kept on the 1910 basis.

"In spring there are always withdrawals," said the treasurer of the Greenwich Savings Bank. "Because of the movement to the suburbs, new lands bought, mortgages to be paid, etc."

Samuel D. Styles, president of the North River Bank, said: "I doubt if you can at this time get the price of the situation from the banks themselves."

Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock Bank, with $36,000,000 of deposits, said: "We reduced our interest last January to three and one-half per cent. I would not want to predict what will be generally done next month. My observation is that persons who have the habit of saving will

May Cause Eclipse of the Sun

PROVIDENCE, May 10.—An eclipse of the sun and daylight flashes across the sky similar to the aurora borealis are among the possibilities of the phenomenon that may mark the passing of Halley's comet across the face of the earth on May 18, according to Frank E. Segrave of Providence.

Mr. Segrave declares that astronomers are all at sea as to just what will happen. And yet it has not been determined if the head of body of the comet is transparent or is a compact mass. If the former, then its transit across the face of the sun is expected to do no more than cause a temporary dimming of the light, while if the latter, the eclipse may be total.

The probable effect of the sweeping tail, which is estimated at millions of miles in length, is also problematical. If the tail is as long as has been said, many astronomers believe that its manifestation will be in the form of electric flashes that will be visible throughout the entire country.

The appearance of Halley's comet in 1066 is recorded in an ancient diary just discovered by Mr. Bevilacqua in the archives of the cathedral at Viterbo, near Rome. The finding of this record is of great importance, since it constitutes proof that the comet was observed at Viterbo fully 13 days before it was seen anywhere else in Europe.

BRIGHT THIS MORNING

GENEVA, N. Y., May 10.—Dr. Brooks, director of the Smithsonian observatory and professor of astronomy at Hobart college, reports excellent observations of Halley's comet this morning. The comet was much brighter and the tail could be traced to a length of two degrees and nearly parallel to the great square of Pegasus. The nucleus was brighter than any star in that region of the heavens. Dr. Brooks says the comet is now in its best position for morning observation.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein, who divorced the son of Oscar Hammerstein at Reno, Nev., a few weeks ago, yesterday filed a suit for $50,000 libel against Mrs. Genevieve C. K. Frowett, wife of the advertising agent of the Philadelphia Opera House.

Frowett began suit for divorce from his wife recently and she filed a cross bill naming Mrs. Hammerstein. The latter declares that the use of her name was entirely unwarranted.

THE SAVINGS BANKS.

The bill drafted by the legislative committee that investigated the Southbridge failure has alarmed the officials of savings banks. It provides many new safeguards, some of which, such as the annual audit by an expert accountant, would be quite expensive. There are other provisions that would entail much more labor and attention on the part of trustees, investment committees and clerks. The bank examiner and the bank commissioner would also be given sweeping powers under this bill in the removal of certain officials for cause. The bank officials are up in arms against the measure, and it will undoubtedly be radically changed if adopted in any form.

BLOODHOUNDS FOR SPRINGFIELD.

The city of Springfield, smarting under the disgrace of allowing a burglar to escape with a long series of crimes through several years only to have him finally commit murder, is now taking extraordinary precautions for safety from such crimes in the future. Enough has been said about the inefficiency of the police which alone was responsible for letting Spencer run at large until he committed murder. Whether the police will be more vigilant than formerly we know not, but the city council has decided to secure two bloodhounds to aid the police in future emergencies. The burglars, the "criminal insane" and all kinds of marauders are now likely to keep away from Springfield so as to avoid being promptly run down by the bloodhounds. The other cities of the state will watch the experiment with much interest, and when they need the loan of the bloodhounds we presume they can have them for a consideration.

INSURANCE AGAINST KING EDWARD'S DEATH.

In the sorrow for the death of King Edward all political asperities are for the time forgotten and laid aside.

The laborites state that they will postpone their demands until the effect of the shock to the nation shall have passed, and so it is with the liberals and the Irish party.

The whole country, without distinction, sincerely mourns the death of the late king, all feeling that his loss at this time is well nigh irreparable.

It is a remarkable fact that although King Edward had been in good health up until within a short time of his death, yet a great many merchants, financial institutions and other concerns, likely to be affected by his death, had been heavily insured against that eventuality and the losses it might entail.

It is said that millions of pounds will be paid upon insurance policies made contingent upon the king's death.

As was expected, the king's passing did very seriously affect the stock market and caused a temporary paralysis of business which seems to justify insurance of this kind, though it would not be allowed in this country.

REPAIR OF SIDEWALKS.

The movement for smooth paved streets is very commendable, but it should be supplemented by a movement for smooth sidewalks. The old uneven brick sidewalk is out of date. The concrete sidewalk is good while it lasts, but it wears out rapidly, shows hollows that hold the water and finally opens up in big cracks. The ideal sidewalk is either granite, flagstones or granolithic. We have some such sidewalks already, and we should have more of them. On many streets that are in good condition the sidewalks are rough and even dangerous.

The city runs considerable risk of damages where sidewalks are allowed to lapse into a dangerous condition.

The rule in regard to new sidewalks in this city is, that the abutters pay for the curbstones and the first permanent covering. The city then assumes the care and responsibility for the sidewalk ever after. The city lays cinder sidewalks on accepted streets free of charge to the abutters, but in some cases it would appear that even cinders are very scarce. If more attention were paid to sidewalks by the street department there would be fewer damage claims against the city on account of personal injury resulting from accidents either due or falsely charged to the roughness of sidewalks.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is searching for a walking cyclopaedia to conduct an information bureau at city hall. It is wonderful how many questions these information bureaus are called upon to answer. A great many people imagine that a man selected for such an office should be able to answer any question on any subject, just as many are inclined to believe that a newspaper office should be able to tell the date of any event of the past. Here are a few posers that were recently propounded over The Sun office telephone:

- When did Dennis Kearney speak in Lowell?
- When did the last horse car run in Lowell?
- When was the car barn on East Merrimack street burned?
- When was the armory on Middle street burned?
- When was the South common opened to the public?
- In what year was Fort Hill park accepted by the city?
- When was the Chelsea fire?
- What was the family name of King Edward?
- How old is Anne?

Some of those questions can be easily answered by aid of reference books, but when it comes to a matter of searching newspaper files for mention of a matter that happened ten, twenty or thirty years ago, the party who asks the question may be able to find it just as readily as the newspaper office.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

It is a mean thing to go into a restaurant and sit down opposite a man who is dining on coffee and ham sandwiches and order mock turtle soup, broiled live lobster, and strawberry shortcake for your meal.

When Noah built the ark, he didn't have to think so much about speed as he did about carrying capacity.

When a man asks you what you think of something he has done, remember that he wants you to praise it.

Only think how much you might have accomplished if you could only have saved all the time wasted in answering telephone calls for the wrong number.

Some people never save the string around packages because you can buy a whole ball of twine for ten cents and their time is worth more than that. Then they waste the twine.

Artificial flowers may be all right to trim hats with, or even for a girl to wear stuck in her belt at a party, but nobody has been mean enough yet to send them to a funeral.

When a man tells you that he didn't have time to do something for you, you know right away that he didn't want to. Everybody finds time for everything that he really wants to do.

The married man, who gets home on payday without his money has an opportunity to find out whether his wife really loves him.

Remember when you have a good time while you are visiting that your hosts expect to have a good time later on, while they are visiting you.

BJONES' COLD

BJones came around the other day, with a most annoying cough. It really seemed as if he'd cough and sneeze his head right off. So everybody that he met and heard him go: "Ca-chew!" Took pity on poor BJones' plight, and told him what to do.

BJones listened to the good advice, and he was most polite. He said to each: "That's common sense; I'll try that sure tonight!" And long before the day was done, so much advice he took, He'd gathered recipes enough to make a good sized book.

So BJones went home and wrote them down: his memory is good. The published book his fortune made. Just as he thought it would. And now it stands an ornament to BJones' library shelf. And as for BJones' cold—oh, yes; the cold got well itself! Somerville Journal.

ALL ITCHING STOPPED

Sound Sleep After a Night of Much Distress.

Mr. B., a Philadelphia gentleman, first hesitated about applying posilam after he had obtained it. "But," he says, "afterward the itching became unbearable at night, so I arose and told Mrs. B. It is now over three months and I have never had any return of the eczema; never had any itching after the first application."

Posilam is the new skin remedy which so rapidly combats the worst cases of eczema. It likewise makes quick work of acute herpes, tetter, scaly scalp, barber's and every other form of itch. Occasional applications in small quantities will quickly banish pimples, hives, blackheads, blotches, etc. A special 50c package is prepared for minor skin troubles, and this, as well as the regular two-dollar jar, is on sale at F. HOME FOR BIRDS

CINCINNATI, May 10.—Approximately $250,000 of the estate of Thomas J. Emery, who was by far the largest realty owner in Cincinnati, has been set aside by his widow, Mrs. Mary Emery, for the founding and perpetuation of a home for birds. Mrs. Emery has completed the purchase of a tract of land in Evanswood place of about two acres and has signified her intention of turning it over to the care of the department of biology in the University of Cincinnati.

This ground is to be built up with different kinds of houses, where the feathery tribe can be sheltered. It will be made secure against the invasion of cattle and small boys, and there will be housed there possibly 100 different kinds of birds and their several species. In addition to this there will be houses for the birds of mixed "household" and places where these may be studied in their different classes and under different conditions.

All the work of this gigantic bird colony is to be done under the direction of Assistant Professor H. M. Benedict, of the department of biology of the University of Cincinnati. He says that this has been for many years a kind of meeting place for the birds of Cincinnati and that thousands of them have gone there to rest and to eat. He says he will arrange a place where they can rest undisturbed by man.

"We are in a new field as yet," said Professor Benedict. "We must study the best way to teach birds to congregate and nest in a locality where they are safe. The action of Mrs. Emery was the first of its kind to my knowledge in the world and will have decided effect in aiding other communities. It will be known as 'The Mary Emery Bird Preserve,' and we will take special delight in showing it to all the people who care to see it when it is finally arranged."

Mrs. Emery and her husband were both great lovers of birds.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the best singing trios seen on a local vaudeville stage this current season is giving its very best to patrons at the Opera House, this week. The pleasant name of Rathskel-lar trio is what the three young men call under, and they surely do fuse plenty of snap and Bohemianism into their work.

One of the three just plays excellent accompaniments on a piano and essays a new kind of solo. He gives "The Roseary" by twanging the strings of the piano. It is novel and so-called. But the two singers of the team flash up the real stuff. They start out with an involved song of love and roses and all that, parts of it seeming real catchy. Shaking the sentiment they launch comedy, the first song number being in Italian. This is given with unctious by the smaller member of the singing pair. Then comes the Yiddish rag song, given better than it has ever been given here. It was done with no little artistry on the part of the singer. After that a recital must be forthcoming so the three young men contribute something about a Hebrew love of peace and his aversion to anything resembling war. The trio purvey excellent entertainment.

Gregg, the cycle maniac, does some heart stopping, hair raising stunts on a circular fence erected in the centre of the stage. Gregg is a little fellow, who uses an ordinary make bicycle and who spins the machine to the top of the perpendicular fence in quick style. The act doesn't last long but it breeds thrills and chills while it's on. Then there is George Banks, born in Collinsville, who ticks out dance steps of all kinds. He is a very catchy ditty, also. Gertrude Fiske, a soprano of high range, gives three or four selections, and in the last she is assisted by a boy soprano.

The picture end of the entertainment is unusually strong. Of much interest is the panoramic picture called "The Banks of the Danube." All of the beauty spots of this lovely river are shown, particularly good being the pictures showing views through castellated windows. These are new in the motion picture line and they hold an art value uncommon in such pictures. The picture of the Danube in all its majesty also, "The Chiquet Mucker of Seville," which tells the story of "Carmen," is an engrossing picture, and this is followed by the intensely dramatic picture, entitled "The Money Bags." The comedy film is called "The Stolen Horse," and it will evoke much laughter.

Tonight the matinee will put on their stunts and there is sure of being a large audience to see the future stars.

Tonight there will be a grand rally of would-be Thespians at the Star theatre. That theatre will be the joy shop of the city and always has been on Tuesday evenings. Many new faces will be seen among the amateurs. There is a strong program of motion pictures, including a biograph subject, "The Converts." The motion pictures presented are those of comedy, drama and scenes of travel. The admission of five cents includes a good seat and the show is "the biggest and best in Lowell." Women and children are tendered special attention.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A very attractive bill is being presented at the Academy of Music this three days of the week, headed by Pierce and Roslin. They have very elaborate and expensive wardrobes and are making a great hit with the crowds that see them. Waldo Whitte, the eccentric rube comedian, is doing an act that also pleases. Miss Claudia Besette is singing the song "Telling Lies" in a charming manner, and the travel-ettes of the different countries are shown that are instructive and entertaining. A fine list of pictures has been secured and a fine show is assured all those who attend. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

One of the features at the Theatre Voyons today is a dramatization of Charles Kingsley's poem, "The Three Fishers," given under the name of "The Unchanging Sea." To increase the effectiveness of the picture special vocal and instrumental effects are arranged for it. "Immigrant Progress in Canada" is a fine scenic subject, and "The Stolen Fortune" combines a charming love story with a good laughable comedy. "The Call of the Sea" tells of the fear of the sea that causes a mother to make her son pledge his word never to be a sailor, but when there is a call for men to save lives, the son, at the bidding of the spirit of his dead father, goes out on the sea. The musical features of the program are unusual and of the best class.

The case of the GRAFONOLA "REGENT" is made of the finest selected San Domingo mahogany, hand-rubbed and dully-finished. The mechanical features of the instrument are completely concealed. The motor is of the three-speed type, powerful and reliable.

While the general design of the GRAFONOLA "REGENT" peculiarly adapts it for installation in private libraries and reading rooms, clubs, lodges and all places of like character where people of refinement congregate, its field of entertainment and utility may be said to be practically unlimited. Wherever it may be placed, it retains its exceptional value in the usages for which it was designed, and lends its own beauty and dignity to its surroundings.

CONGRESSMAN AMES

To Press Resolution for Reciprocity With Canada

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Representative Ames of Massachusetts yesterday made formal request in writing that the ways and means committee grant him a hearing on his resolution declaring it to be the sense of the house that there should be closer and better trade relations between the United States and Canada.

Mr. Ames has made informal requests for a hearing heretofore, but without result. He says that he is determined the committee shall have no excuse for failing to give him a hearing.

He has obtained more than 30 signatures of republican members to his petition asking the committee to report the resolution. He has interviewed Speaker Cannon, but failed to obtain any satisfactory reply.

Mr. Ames has taken the matter up with members of the committee on rules. Representative Lawrence is willing to help him, but some other members are indifferent. Mr. Ames wants to secure a special rule to provide for the consideration of his resolution in the house in case the ways and means committee refuses to report it.

He might move to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of the resolution, but the speaker, Mr. Ames says, would not recognize him for that purpose. Mr. Ames says that Speaker Cannon insists that the resolution should come up in regular order.

In spite of numerous obstacles, Mr. Ames says that his resolution will eventually pass.

NATIONAL TROTTER ASSN.
NEW YORK, May 10.—Action on several important cases was postponed yesterday until today by the board of review of the National Trotting association in session here. Reinstatement applications comprised the principal business, the leading case being that concerning Thomas Nolan and Thomas Murphy, trainers, and the judges of the Lexington meeting. The trainers were fined $50 each during the progress of a race. Afterwards it appeared the judges decided there had been error in imposing the fines and they were remitted.

The case was carried over from the December meeting to give the judges a chance to explain how the error was made. Today's hearing was expected to hinge on the question of whether judges can reverse decisions through error.

HORSE FEEDING

Mashes and Teas Are Beneficial

The following mashes, teas, etc., will be found beneficial in weak condition from illness.

Linsced Tea: Bruised linsced, 4 to 5 ounces, 1 gallon boiling water, simmer for two hours, strain, add a little molasses.

Linsced Mash: Linsced, 2 quarts, a teacupful of sugar, 6 quarts boiling water, simmer slowly from 4 to 5 hours.

Barley Water: Barley, 1 pound, 2 gallons water, boil down to 6 quarts, strain, add teacup of molasses.

Mashes: Half peck bran, enough boiling water to soak it thoroughly, stir well and give warm. Always give mashes from a clean pail.

Corn Mash: One pound of corn meal in 6 quarts of boiling water, stir frequently and give when blood warm. This is a nutritious mash.

Oat-meal Gruel: One pint of oat-meal mixed in one-half pint of cold water, add to this one gallon of boiling water and boil for a few minutes. Feed when warm.

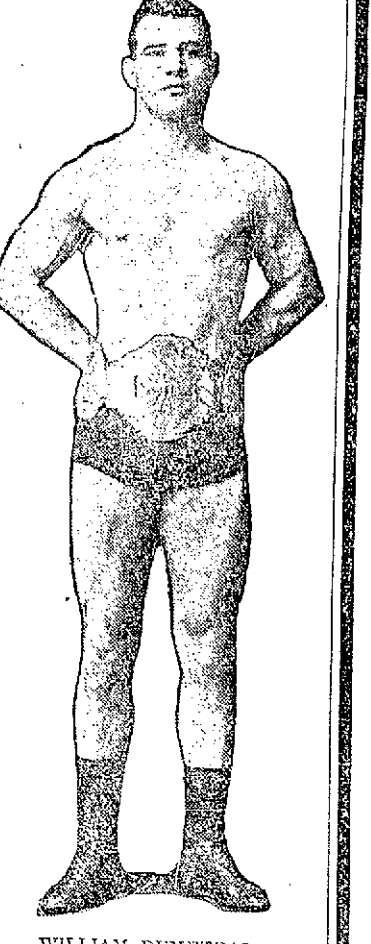

Water should be given a horse at rest; three times daily. When at work often but in small quantities and often. Water never should be given ice cold and should be given before feeding at least fifteen minutes, half hour is better. Water from clear spring, deep well, or clean surface water, is considered wholesome. Water from cultivated lands doubtful. Shallow well water, river water contaminated by sewage, often dangerous. Pure water is of great importance in maintaining health. Impure water causes great loss every year to unthinking stock owners, through diarrhoea, dysentery and other ills.

(Next week Dr. Daniels' article will deal with the subject of Giving the Horse Medicine.)

MOCK MARRIAGE

Turns Out to be Real Ceremony

NEW YORK, May 10.—Paul Schiff, of Newark, who is engaged to marry a Manchester, N. H., girl, awoke suddenly to the fact yesterday that he was already married, having played a bridegroom at a party at the home of George Arnold, No. 5 Milton street, Newark, on the night of April 28.

About the same time that Schiff made his discovery a telegram carried news to Miss Rose Oliver, of No. 1214 Broad street, Hartford, Conn., that she was a bride for the second time in her life. Eighteen years ago she became Mrs. William Theur, at Boston, but three years ago she got back her maiden name with a divorce on the ground of intemperance.

There were loud shrieks from the unexpected bride in Hartford and from the unwilling bridegroom in Newark.

"It was a mock marriage," cried Miss Oliver, or Mrs. Schiff.

"It was all a joke," insisted Schiff.

"Then the joke is on you," said Justice of the Peace Emil Kusch, who performed the ceremony. "I find that you were legally married."

Schiff hurried to City Clerk Connolly, of Newark, and asked to have the marriage record wiped out. He was told he would have to go to the courts, and went out to look for counsel.

"I can't believe I was really married at that Newark party," said Mrs. Oliver Theur-Schiff at Hartford last night. "I've been married before, and I ought to know a legal ceremony when I hear one. No one could possibly believe in such a ceremony as Justice Kusch used that night. I never agreed to anything more serious than a mock ceremony, and the courts will have to set the matter straight."

GENERAL ALARM

For Somerville Man Who is Missing

NEW YORK, May 10.—Alfred Reardon of Somerville, Mass., is missing and his father, J. W. Reardon today asked the local police to send out a general alarm for him. Reardon, who was in business at 3 Tremont row, Boston, left home the latter part of March to attend a meeting of the Royal Order of the Moose in this city. He is known to have been here on April 15 when at the hotel where he stopped he asked that his mail be forwarded to his business address in Boston. He did not return home and nothing has been heard from him.

Reardon is 27 years old. When he left home he carried a gold watch and chain and wore a valuable diamond ring and his society pin.

GIRL LOCATED

NEW YORK, May 10.—Mildred Rudol, whose father is a member of the Rockefeller grand jury that is investigating the traffic in women, was arrested on the city streets last night and turned over to the children's society. She made the mistake of asking aid from a detective who recognized her.

The girl is 15 years old and had been missing since last Saturday when she disappeared from an institution in Harlem where her father had placed her.

CIRCUS PARADE

BROKE UP MEETINGS OF CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES

WASHINGTON, May 10.—That members of congress really are little less than big boys was proved yesterday when a circus parade passing the capitol just before the convening of the two houses of congress broke up practically every committee meeting in the big gray building.

Groups of senators and representatives raced over to watch the animals and gaily caparisoned riders, and to listen to the bands and the strident notes of the callopes.

The venerable Senator Frye stopped his auto close to the line of march and a score of his colleagues were within hail of him.

"It's a mighty good thing," said Senator Burrows, "that the parade passed before noon. If it hadn't we'd never been able to muster a quorum."

Champ Clark, minority leader in the house, called attention to the fact that the G. O. P. elephants in the parade were not half so well received by the crowds as the democratic donkeys ridden by the clowns.

"It's significant," he said.

CAPE COD CANAL

The Bill Was Passed By the State Senate

BOSTON, May 10.—Senator Bray, chairman of the committee on harbors and lands, opened the debate on the Cape Cod canal bill in the senate yesterday.

Senator White of the cape offered an amendment to eliminate the joint board and to place the whole matter in the hands of the harbor and land commissioners.

Senator Blanchard of Somerville moved postponement to Wednesday next. He was opposed by both Senators Bray and White.

The motion to postpone was lost on a voice vote. The White amendment was adopted without division and the bill as amended ordered to a third reading.

Towns to Benefit by Auto Fees

Senator Nason spoke for the bill to give to small towns 20 per cent of the amount received in license fees from automobiles for the repair and maintenance of town and county ways.

Senator Teeling of Boston opposed the bill as objectionable when the policy of the state is that the money from these fees is to be used for the whole state.

Senator Hibbard of Lowell believed this one of the best acts that has come from his committee on roads and bridges.

The bill was then passed to be engrossed without a division.

Chaplain on King's Death

In the senate Chaplain Horton made special reference to the passing of Edward VII of England, and referred to the late king's liberality to Ireland.

No "Missing Link" This Year

The following reports of committees were received in the senate:

Roads and Bridges. A bill for construction and maintenance of a new bridge over the Merrimack at Lawrence. Also ought not to pass on the resolve that the Massachusetts highway commission consider the possibility of building the "missing link" traffic bridge in Revere from Point of Pines bridge to Revere street.

No Stock Exchange Inquiry

Representative Martin Hays of Boston urged in the house the adoption of his order providing for the appointment of a special legislative committee to investigate the matter of false statements relative to securities. He declared that the matter exists to an undreamed of extent and demands a searching inquiry.

Mr. Washburn of Worcester contended that there is no pending crisis sufficient to warrant the passage of such an order so late in the session.

On a rising vote the order was adopted, 40 to 38, in the absence of a quorum. A quorum was brought in, and the house then rejected the order on a rising vote, 64 to 70. On a roll call the action was sustained, 74 to 117.

Sustain Veto on Militia Pay

Gov. Draper's veto of the bill providing that municipal employees shall receive their regular pay while doing militia duty was taken up in the house yesterday. Mr. Conway of Boston asking the house to override the veto.

Those who voted to pass the militia bill over the governor's veto were: Brennan, Brophy, R. F. Brown, Carleton, Carmody, Colpoys, Conway, Coogan, Cronin, Eady, Davis, Dean, Donahue, Dwyer, Hancock, Harrington, Hutton, J. J. Hayes, Hester, F. E. Holt, H. R. Holt, Hughes, Kearns, Levin, D. J. McCarthy, McCullough, McGrath, Meade, J. H. McEllen, Murray, M. P. O'Brien, W. H. O'Brien, O'Donnell, Parks, J. F. Powers, Quigley, J. J. Reed, W. M. Robinson, Ryan, Scully, Shaw, Sorenson.

Land for Roads

The article of amendment to the constitution, increasing the power of the legislature to authorize the taking of the land and property for highways or streets, was agreed to 109 to 3. Representative Conway of Boston, Hickey of Boston and Priest of Haverhill voting in the negative.

Refused to Change Law

Mr. O'Brien of Boston moved to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that suits for damages shall be given a speedy trial if the plaintiff is without visible means of support.

Mr. Roberts of Boston opposed substitution on the ground that the bill is unworkable and unfair to others having cases in the courts.

The motion to substitute was lost 34 to 41.

For Voting Machines

The article of amendment of the constitution authorizing the use of voting machines at all elections was agreed to, 130 to 37, in the house.

Finance Board

The committee on metropolitan affairs reported no legislation necessary on the report of the Boston finance commission relative to the soldiers' relief department and next general court on ex-Mayor Hibbard's bill providing for an apportionment of the expense of maintaining the bridge between Breed's island in the city of Boston and the town of Winthrop.

No Prohibition on L.

With Rep. Keene of Somerville dissenting, the committee reported leave to withdraw on the bill prohibiting further construction of elevated railways in Boston.

To Tax Telephones

The committee on taxation reported a bill providing for an excise tax on telephone companies, and public charitable institutions a bill requiring that lying-in hospitals in cities and towns shall be registered with the board of charity.

Light Up Your Buggy

The bill requiring vehicles to carry lights at night on public highways and bridges was then taken up, and the house refused to amend the bill to make it apply only to rubber tired vehicles; the main question then coming on ordering the bill to a third reading, the bill was given a reading, 82 to 82, on a roll call.

GOVERNOR HUGHES SPEAKS FOR THE DIRECT MARY BILL

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 10.—Governor Charles E. Hughes was loudly cheered last night when he spoke forcefully in favor of the Hindman-Green direct primary bill to those gathered at the annual dinner of the Binghamton University Men's club.

Sen. Hinman sat beside Gov. Hughes. Men of both parties united in applauding the sentiments expressed by the governor.

Speaking first of his acceptance of the associate justiceship of the supreme court bench, the governor said: "Nothing has affected me more deeply than the many expressions of regret which I have received that I should be separated from public life and political activity of this state. I could not have dreamed that my present office even had the remote desire to do so."

And such opportunities of public service as might have been incidental to active professional work cannot for a moment be regarded as comparable to the duties which I have been called to.

Then the governor launched into a minute analysis and earnest defense of the Hindman-Green bill. Referring to the opposition to the bill, he said: "Its opponents have ridiculed and scorned it. They have searched it for defects with insuperable analysis. But it has borne the full heat of the attack of those who are opposed to any system of direct nominations."

Disclaiming any effort to influence a single vote on the measure, he expressed the sincere hope that this bill would be brought up and fully discussed on the floor of the legislature.

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The naval appropriation bill was reported to the senate yesterday. It carries $130,770,394, in comparison with $127,828,503, carried by the bill as it was passed by the house. As reported the aggregate of recommended appropriations is $6,164,265 less than the total for the present fiscal year.

The increases made by the senate committee are as follows: For pay of navy, $269,942. Bureau of navigation, $131,540. Public works, $256,000. Bureau of medicine and surgery, $6000. Naval academy, $62,048. Increases of the navy, $2,425,000. A decrease of $253,000 was made in the items for public works, yards and docks.

No change was made in the program for the construction of two battleships.

"MACHINE" MAN

Rep. George Marchand is "Discovered"

Says Practical Politics:

Two members of the house (names furnished on application) had an argument in the state house corridors the other day as to whether or not Rep. George E. Marchand of Lowell is a "machine man." Of course he is a "machine man," said "A." "Not on your life," said "B." "You can't tell me that Marchand is a machine man. Why, just look at his record. He has voted on the plain people's side of every public question. Further than that, he's around working his head off in an effort to line up the members to support Butler Ames for the United States senate against Lodge. What's the matter with you? Don't you know anything at all? That's all right," said the irrepressible "A." "But I'll bet you three good cigars that George is not only a machine man, but that he rides on the front seat, and keeps the machine oiled, too." "It's a bet," said "B." And then each arguer undertook to prove his side of the case. "B" dug for the Journal of the house. He ran through page after page, pointed out to "A" that the Lowell representative had voted for the direct election of United States senators, that he has been devoting the best part of his time during present legislative session to plugging members who expect to be members next year to support his bill to save persons unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the police from the necessity of paying two dollars in order to be bailed by authorizing police officials to administer bail without fee, and that his position on roll-call after roll-call was such as would be approved by "B" after he read the demands that "A" hand over the cigars. "Just wait a minute," said the latter, and he pulled from his pocket a volume of "Who's Who in State Politics." He opened the book to the page where Marchand's photograph is printed and bade "B" to look at it. "Looked." "Why that only helps to prove my argument," he said. "There's one of those faces that tell right of the real that its owner is honest and independent." "But just read down through what's under the picture," said "A." "Here is what you read: 'Marchand, George E., 17th Middlesex Rep., Lowell, born there Dec. 22, 1877; public schools, chauffeur.' 'H-m,' mused 'B.' 'So he's a chauffeur. Well, I guess he is a machine man, does sit right on the front seat and does oil the machine. Come on, and I'll buy the cigars.'"

COL. ROOSEVELT

Has Controversy With Ex-Premier

CHRISTIANA, May 10.—Mr. Roosevelt's visit here has been followed by an incident which is making a sensation in Norway. Mr. Roosevelt has severely censured ex-Premier Gunner Knudsen, who is now vice president of the parliament, for using his name and quoting him as a partisan in Norwegian politics.

The ex-premier has been making a campaign and has introduced a bill in parliament for the conservation of the natural resources, chiefly the water power. Mr. Knudsen had a conversation with Mr. Roosevelt on this subject. The latter, in the belief that he was speaking on general principles, expressed sympathy in the work. Mr. Knudsen asked permission to make the former president's remarks public.

"Tell it to anyone you like," Mr. Roosevelt replied enthusiastically.

There was a considerable stir when the newspapers appeared quoting Mr. Roosevelt as a warm supporter of Knudsen's policy.

Knudsen's reply was to sum up emphatically that he issue a denial, and he himself wrote a letter to the same effect. The opposition papers are now attacking the ex-premier.

ENRICO CARUSO

Was a Witness in Court Yesterday

NEW YORK, May 10.—Enrico Caruso, the opera singer, testified yesterday in the county court of Brooklyn as a witness against Antonio Misiani, who is on trial charged with trying to extort $15,000 from the tenor. Caruso appeared nervous and ill at ease during the brief time he was on the stand.

A detective who captured Misiani, told of seeing Misiani in company with Antonio Cinotto, pick up a decoy package. He had to fight to subdue Misiani, he testified, and took from him a loaded pistol.

Caruso was accompanied to court by the body guard he has employed since leaving Italy. He kept a sword cane he carried constantly in his hand, even while on the stand.

MAN FOUND DEAD

He Was Overcome by Sewer Gas

WORCESTER, May 10.—William Pettigrew, 30, of 3 Fifield street, a journeyman plumber, was found dead at midnight in a pit under George H. Jewett's garage, 165 Shrewsbury street. He was overcome by sewer gas.

He went into the pit at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to connect a water pipe, and the workman supposed he had come out of the pit. When he did not go home a search was made for him.

In making a search in the pit Police-man Gustav Fryberg was overcome by gas, but after recovering went into the pit again and brought up the body.

NO CONCESSIONS MADE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 10.—Gen. Munroe Higgins of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. was notified yesterday of the result of the strike ballot of the telegraphers employed by the road, 86 per cent being in favor of a strike—but in the conference that followed no concessions were made by Mr. Higgins on the telegraphers' demand for an increase in wages. A second conference was held last night at which Mr. Higgins' suggestion of arbitration or mediation were turned down.

DOUBLE MURDER

Hindoo Butler and Aged Housekeeper Were Found Dead

NEW YORK, May 10.—Evidently the victims of burglars, Charles W. Geismon, a Hindoo butler, and Margaret Meshan, an aged housekeeper, were found murdered last night in the residence of Dr. Mott D. Cannon, 130 West 122nd street.

The two were killed something between 2:30 and 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, during the physician's absence. Returning, Dr. Cannon discovered the bodies. The butler was shot through the mouth from the right check. Two other wounds, one on his forehead and another on the back of his neck were apparently inflicted with a jimmy. The old housekeeper has an ugly bullet wound in the back of her head and was beaten with a jimmy or some other blunt instrument.

In the physician's study the top drawer of a bureau was "jimmied" open and $100 in bills, $100 in silver and several valuable gold stickpins were taken. Nothing else in the house was touched.

ALLEGED ABUSES OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The senate is in a fair way to investigate alleged abuses of the franking privilege. Declaring that a book of 480 pages in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, which is being circulated under the franks of senators and members of the house, contains much matter that has not appeared in the Congressional Record, Sen. Stone introduced a resolution yesterday directing the senate committee on post offices and post roads to determine whether the publication is entitled to free circulation through the mails.

Speaking on the resolution, Mr. Stone said that the book was "purely and essentially a campaign document." If one party could so circulate matter he thought the other party should have the same privilege. He complained especially of the little page, sub-heads and index as extraneous and therefore objectionable matter.

Confessing that he authorized the use of his own frank in the circulation of the book, Mr. Gallinger endorsed the effort to have the circulation of the book inquired into. He said he had been assured that the publication contained no matter which had not appeared in the Record. He said, moreover, that the compilers of the pamphlet acted in good faith in what they had done.

Mr. La Follette moved an amendment to include inquiring into the circulation of a circular letter from the American Protective League which he said was also being circulated under the

Mr. Money moved an extension of the investigation so as to include executive department franks. This provision was accepted.

The resolution was referred to the postal committee on the promise of its chairman, Sen. Penrose, that a prompt report would be made.

SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Evelyn Barrows was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening when a number of her young friends called at her home on Gorham street and presented her with a beautiful opal ring. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Thomas Hartley. Although taken wholly by surprise she responded in a fitting manner.

The evening was spent most enjoyably with games, music and readings after which refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour all wishing Miss Evelyn, happy returns of the day.

BOARD OF CHARITY

Gives Appropriations Committee Light on the Department

Chairman McCarty, M. D., and Commissioner Howe Discuss Conditions, Present and Past, at the Farm - Ex-Supt. Mayberry Invited to Next Meeting of Committee

The committee on appropriations, would have to pay it out of its regular appropriation.

The board of charities last night provided the committee with a list of figures for future reference and the committee members were very much interested in what Dr. McCarty and others of the board and department had to say.

Present at the meeting were: Chairman Gray, Aldermen Dexter and Wright, Councilmen Fulton, Davis, Jewell and Flanagan of the committee on appropriations, and Chairman, Dr. Jas. J. McCarty, Harry W. J. Howe, Master Conley and Clerk Gallagher were heard from and they supplied all the figures and data that was necessary. That the present board of charities has a thorough knowledge of affairs pertaining to its department was evidenced last night by the ready and comprehensive manner in which questions were answered and figures supplied.

It was stated at the meeting that former Supt. Mayberry sold city farm property and bought supplies for the city farm with the money thus received and that he did not turn over the money to the city treasurer. This was touched upon only to show an irregularity and Mr. Mayberry will be given an opportunity to explain.

The meeting was called particularly to discuss the question of the charity department's financial status at the beginning of 1910 as compared with 1909 and the board's ability to pay the bill of some $4200 presented by the Massachusetts Home for Feeble Minded Children. Commissioners McCarty and Howe said that the board could not pay the bill out of its annual appropriation. Ald. Gray said that the committee on appropriations had had the $4200 bill in mind when it made the appropriation. Dr. McCarty doubted that statement. He said that the bill was not an ordinary one.

"It is an extraordinary bill," he said, "and the charities department cannot, under the ordinance, be held responsible for it. It is not the kind of bill contemplated by the ordinance to be paid by the regular appropriation."

The ordinance.

An ordinance providing for estimates for appropriations and for other purposes reads, in part, as follows:

"All regular annual appropriations shall be for and only applicable to the liabilities incurred during the year in which they are made, any form of phreology in the order, resolution or vote providing for the same, to the contrary notwithstanding."

The bill owed the Massachusetts Home for Feeble Minded Children is several years old. The city solicitor has said that the city will have to pay the bill, but the city solicitor has not yet said that the board of charities

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

J. H.: To retain your charming complexion your tender skin needs a better protection against the pores than freckles than face powder. There is no finer complexion beautifier to be had than the lotions and creams of our famous sprays in a half-pint bottle of water, adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. While the use of this lotion beautifies the face, it also cleanses the face, neck and arms, it transforms an ordinary complexion into one of brilliant attractiveness. It does not dry the face or rub away the pores, it holds against perspiration. Sprays will clear up and whiten any sallow skin and make it youthful and charming. It is so good for the complexion that shiny, greasy look which is so troublesome to so many ladies.

Maime T.: You would look much younger and far more charming if you remove those wrinkles, a good cream to use regularly. It is a cream of the large pores below your eyes, and makes your face appear plump and bright. It is a cream of the large pores below your eyes, and makes your face appear plump and bright. TRUE'S Elixir

Is the best worm remedy made. Purely vegetable. Where no worms are present, acts as a tonic to strengthen stomach and bowels. Sore relief for constipation and biliousness. Ask your druggist for True's Elixir.

Chairman McCarty said an appraisal was made and an inventory was a listing. The chairman here presented his list.

Asked why there were so many bills presented early last year from 1908, Clerk Gallagher said that the board did not approve bills in January and February, so that there was a big list to present in March.

Dr. McCarty submitted figures to show that former Supt. Solomon Mayberry had collected money for produce sold by the farm and had bought with that money materials and supplies needed by the department without the city treasurer seeing the money.

Supt. Conley said he knew men who had bought pork from the farm and had paid Supt. Mayberry for the same. As to exchanging farm produce for other supplies, this was recognized as a practice of the former superintendent. In this connection, Supt. Conley said that he had not exchanged property, but had sold it, the money being paid over to the city treasury, where it could be used by the charity department as it was last year.

The original question of whether or not the $4200 bill should be paid out of a special appropriation came up.

Dr. McCarty thought the city solicitor should give an opinion as to who should pay this bill, the city council or the board of charities.

The council believed it clear that the city council had the money, but he said where the money should come from.

"The motto of the board of charities is 'With envy and malice towards none and with charity for all,' we have turned the money over to the city treasury."

"Perhaps that," said Alderman Gray, "I think I have shown that there were good and sufficient reasons for the removal of Mr. Mayberry; we did not like his methods," rejoined the doctor.

Councilman Flanagan moved that Harry W. J. Howe be permitted to speak and it became a vote.

Mr. Howe came forward, and was asked if he had any figures of value to the committee.

He thought he had. Asked if there was $8000 to $10,000 left over from 1908, he said there was no such amount. "I don't think there were any more bills in 1909 for which the preceding administration was responsible than you can find any year," said Mr. Howe.

"With what knowledge I have of this department, I will say that the board cannot do justice to the worthy poor on an appropriation of $75,000. As one member I will say that we do with $75,000. We cannot get through with $75,000 and when $400 is taken off this amount it is simply absurd to think of living within the amount. The board of 1909 exceeded its appropriation by over $1000 and originally paid $75,000 set aside. It is simply impossible for us to do justice to the poor on $75,000."

Asked as to what the inventory would show as regards produce, Mr. Howe said there are 100 barrels of cabbage and 61 tons of hay that were not at the farm last year. The hay is of no value because it is so coarse and the horses and cattle will not eat it. Mr. Howe said that the hay was bought from the water department by the board of charities.

Asked as to pork, Mr. Howe said there were 90 hogs when Mr. Mayberry was in charge; there are 200 now. Mr. Howe spoke of the conditions in 1909. He said the inmates were living from hand to mouth. He denied that the farm was better stocked this year in January than it was at a corresponding time last year. Mr. Howe said that he did not want to carry the department to buy coal to the succeeding year, but this was not done by the administration of 1909, and the cost will come on this year's board.

After looking up the duties of the superintendent with reference to money, Mr. Howe said that he was not at the farm last year. He said that he was not at the farm last year. He said that he was not at the farm last year.

On motion of Councilman Jewell it was voted to request the presence of former Supt. Mayberry at a meeting to be held Monday night next. Adjourned.

Chairman McCarty said an appraisal was made and an inventory was a listing. The chairman here presented his list.

RAILROAD BILL

Urged By Pres. Taft Was Passed By the House

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The administration railroad bill passed the house by a vote of 290 to 125.

The railroad bill was promptly placed before the house today for final action upon various amendments that had been voted upon when the measure was under consideration in committee of the whole.

CLANCY'S MARE GIRL SHOT DEAD

Furnished Fun in Market Street

Man Then Tried to Commit Suicide

There wasn't any attraction in Lowell this afternoon to compare with that furnished by John B. Clancy and his kicking mare in Market street. John is the personification of good nature and can stand for a big pile of hard dolings and there were persons in Market street who marveled at his patience this afternoon.

It was the second or third performance that John had participated in, reluctantly, but the old mare was unduly strenuous. The way she kicked was a caution and she kept it up until the police intervened and suggested to John that the last act would have to be pulled off in the rear of the police station.

Lieut. Brosnan said that the people in Market street had stood for about all the high kicking that was necessary and besides, John B. didn't have any permit to a public performance. Nobody could work or talk or walk in Market street while John B.'s mare was performing. She didn't take kindly to harness and she punctuated her remarks with high and lofty kicking. She kicked incessantly for more than an hour and one could almost see the holes that she made in the atmosphere.

John B. thought that she would tire herself out but she seemed to have great staying qualities and appeared as fresh as a daisy when taken from the street to the rear of the police station. Clancy's dog, too, was in the cast. He showed up at intervals and attempted to bite the mare's heels, but he was muzzled and didn't have very much success along that line. Mr. Clancy fears that he will have to do away with the mare and when it comes to breeding, there's some class to her. She was bred in old Kentucky and she doesn't care who knows it. The only explanation John B. has to offer is that the mare came from a kicking family.

GETS DIVORCE

WOMAN IS FREED FROM THIEF HUSBAND

BOSTON, May 10.—Isabelle Weeks, a young and attractive woman, gained the sympathy of the spectators in a divorce court yesterday when in support of her petition for divorce she told the judge how her life's dream of happiness had been blighted after two weeks of married life, when she learned that her husband, Henry Weeks, was a thief.

Before knowing that when her husband was a burglar by occupation, she then had to suffer the abuse and cruelty at his hands, she testified. On one occasion he went so far as to threaten her with a revolver, an incident her sister corroborated.

Mrs. Weeks was granted a divorce and permission to resume her maiden name, that of Isabelle Stewart. During their married life the couple lived in Winthrop and Dorchester.

CAN VOTE FOR U. S. SENATOR

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—A candidate for the United States senate can be voted upon in a primary as a recommendation to the state legislature, according to a decision today by Judge Babcock in common pleas court who refused an application to restrain the placing of United States Senator Chas. Dick's name upon the primary ballot.

OHIO LEGISLATURE

COLUMBUS, May 10.—The Ohio legislature will adjourn today after a session since the first Monday in January. Probably the most important law to be passed is the London state tax commission bill which fixes the tax on public utilities.

THE FRIAR LANDS

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The house today passed a series of resolutions calling on the war department for information as to the actual purchasers of the Philippine friar lands under the guise of the Mindanao Development Co., which Rep. Martin of Colorado claims was backed by the American Sugar Refining Co.

WATCH CHARM With initials C. E. B., lost between Prescott, Merrimack and Central sts. Finder will be rewarded by returning to Sun Office.

SCHEMECTADY, N. Y., May 10.—Because Mrs. Josephine Lippello refused to consent to give her 16 year old daughter Angela to Luciano Milano, Milano pulled a revolver from his pocket today and shot the girl through the temple, causing almost instant death. He then shot the mother through the throat, and after futile attempts to cut his throat with a razor, took poison. The mother and Milano will probably recover.

NOT SATISFIED

Coal Merchants Want to Get Even

GLASGOW, May 10.—Piqued at the failure of their bids to secure any part of the recently placed contract for coal for the United States navy, local coal merchants, who are also shipowners, today compacted not to quote below a certain rate for coal carriage. By this move they hope to make the American contractors recoup them in part for the loss of the anticipated profits on the fuel itself.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

BOY'S STAIRCASE WAS A ROPE OF LINEN

BOSTON, May 10.—A rope of sheets dangling from a window in the second story of the House of the Angel Guardian explained to the attendants who discovered it early Sunday morning why the Moore drew a base on balls.

Late on Saturday night Patrolman John Jackson of Division 5 encountered a tired and sleepy little wayfarer in one of the South End parks, and when his questions were not answered satisfactorily, brought the refugee to the station house, and from there to the Chardon street home.

The wayfarer had the imagination of a Munchausen, and when Miss Johnson, the matron of the home, questioned him kindly, he gave his imagination full sway. He came from Chicago, he said, his father and mother were living, also his 10 brothers and sisters, he added, but they had treated him unjustly, and he left them to their fate.

In answer to Miss Johnson's inquiries the police could find no family in Chicago. He came from Chicago, he said, yesterday morning, by careful inquiries and comparison of statistics the discovery was made that the runaway and Francis Merthius were one and the same, and he was led back to the House of the Angel Guardian.

WESTERLY, R. I., May 10.—No definite statement was given out by Coroner Cross of Charlestown at the post mortem of the inquest held today upon the body of Michael Riley of Lowell, the 14th wood alcohol victim in this vicinity within the past month, other than that it corroborated the evidence already made public, that Riley died of drinking whiskey containing wood alcohol. The inquest was ordered following a report, received from Prof. Whitney of the Harvard Medical school, stating that he had found evidence of wood alcohol poisoning in the stomach of Riley. It is believed that the person who sold the whiskey which Riley drank and who has been held by the police on a charge of conducting a liquor nuisance will be arrested shortly on a charge of manslaughter.

FAMILY ESCAPED

Mother and Children Leave Burning House

LYNN, May 10.—Horrified in by flames and dense billows of smoke, it was only after a struggle with the suffocating fumes that Mrs. Ella Coniff, her sister and her two little daughters escaped death in a stubborn blaze that threatened to destroy their home at 155 Chestnut street yesterday.

The house is a three story wooden building, and Mrs. Coniff's little daughters, Marian and Helen, aged 7 and 5 respectively, were asleep in a room on the second floor when the fire broke out. Mrs. Coniff and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, were working upstairs.

The two women felt their way through the smoke down the stairs, and at last reached the bedroom where the girls were sleeping. Both the children were unconscious, and would have suffocated in a few minutes more.

Mrs. Dougherty placed Helen in Mrs. Coniff's arms, and taking Marian in her own, led the way to the street. At the first landing the smoke was so dense that they could scarcely make headway against it, but after a hard struggle they finally reached the street. As soon as the little girls had been taken care of, Mrs. Coniff, overcome by her exertions, fainted. Mrs. Dougherty was not so much affected and turned the cause of the fire is not known. The loss was $2000.

Mrs. Mary Murray, wife of the late Paul A. Murray of Dixon, Neb., with her youngest daughter, Miss Jeanie, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Michael Cryan, 1239 Lawrence street, and while here will also be the guest of her cousin, Mrs. M. A. McKean, of 155 West Sixth street.

THE MILK WAR

WAS CONTINUED WITH MORE VIGOR TODAY

BOSTON, May 10.—The milk war was continued with vigor today by the contractors and producers. Contractor Graustein offered a reward of $500 for the detection of persons who are reported to be importing milk into Boston. Mr. Graustein stated today that John Bemis, vice president of the Milk Producers union, was shipping milk to Worcester, from which city it would be easily sent to Boston. Regarding the report that farmers in Vermont friendly to the contractors were being threatened and interfered with, Secretary Hunter of the Producers union said today:

"We have always frowned on any action of this sort. We have realized from the start that this sort of thing would only injure our own cause. The milk that was tipped over in Vermont was spilled by boys. I am sure that none of our members have made any threats to poison farmers' cattle or to burn their buildings. The charge that they have is ridiculous."

Guests of the German Emperor and Empress Today

BERLIN, May 10.—Col. Roosevelt arrived in this city this forenoon from Sweden. He was met in the railroad station by the secretary for foreign affairs, Von Schoen, on behalf of the emperor, the staff of the American embassy, Consul General Alexander Thackara, T. St. John Gaffney, American consul general at Dresden, and many members of the American colony. Among the other Germans to meet Mr. Roosevelt were Lieut. Col. Von Koenner, who was deputed by his majesty as the former president's military attaché during his visit to Germany, and Count Von Wied, who will have charge of the general arrangements during Mr. Roosevelt's stay. The railroad authorities had decorated the main staircase descending from the platform of the station with double rows of potted plants.

His majesty sent court carriages to the depot to convey the Roosevelt party to the residence of the American ambassador, David J. Hill. The colonel's first engagement this morning in Berlin was with a throat specialist as he is still suffering from hoarseness. A special train will convey the party this afternoon to Potsdam, when the Roosevelt will be luncheon guests of the emperor and empress.

ARRIVAL IN BERLIN
BERLIN, May 10.—The Roosevelt party arrived from Stockholm, Sweden, this morning. They are guests at the American embassy. As is usual wherever Mr. Roosevelt stops, a crowd was at the railroad station to give him a friendly greeting, but, as has not been the case before during his European trip, the official receiving party was not complete.

As a result of a series of misunderstandings American Ambassador Hill was late in reaching the station. While the royal carriages intended for the use of the party did not arrive until the Roosevelt had been driven in other conveyances to the embassy. The representatives of the German government were greatly annoyed over the unfortunate mixup. In the first place some one had told Mr. Hill that the special train carrying the Roosevelt would be a half hour late in reaching Berlin. This did not prove to be the case.

In the absence of Emperor William, through the death of his uncle, King Edward, who would have personally met the former president, the official party of reception was headed by Herr Von Schoen, the secretary for foreign affairs, who represented his majesty. The main stairway leading from the platform to the street had been made beautiful with a wealth of potted plants, and as the Roosevelt passed down to their carriages they received frequent salutations from the throng. The Roosevelt were driven at once to the American embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's

NEW YORK, May 10.—The cheers of the thousands of Passaic citizens who lined the route of President Taft to the banquet of the board of trade in that city last night so smothered the roar of an approaching Erie express at the Averil avenue crossing that the president's automobile barely missed being struck by the train.

As it was, the procession was broken in two, his escort was divided and one of the mounted officers was thrown from his horse in making the sudden halt.

The president was on his way to the home of Victor L. Mason, president of the board of trade, where he was to dress and hold a brief reception prior to the banquet. The most thorough precautions for his protection had been taken. Every foot of his route through the city was patrolled by members of the Fifth regiment. Secret service men from Washington were aided by a picked squad of police, who remained constantly near his person. Officers of the Fifth regiment were also in the escorting party.

As the procession passed along, the cheers of the throngs were deafening. As one in the escort seemed to notice the approaching train as they neared Averil avenue. In fact, Chief Hendry and police officers in an automobile, and five mounted policemen had got across the tracks before the express was sighted.

The president's automobile, surrounded by Col. Edwin W. Hine and his staff, was already on the tracks, and the chauffeur quickly shot it across, and it was safe by 20 feet when the train roared by.

But the rest of the procession was brought to such a sudden stop that confusion was narrowly averted. A courting horse threw a policeman, but did not injure him.

The president smiled blandly through it all. In the car with him were Mr. Mason, Captain Butt and two secret service men.

The many guests at the reception in Mr. Mason's home delayed the president's arrival at the banquet for about an hour. But nearly every one in Passaic was waiting along the route to see him.

The moment Mr. Taft entered Turn hall, the building was surrounded by the men of the Fifth regiment, who did not relax their vigilance until after he had departed.

The delay had caused some worry among the guests at the reception hall. A message was received explaining it.

The banquet hall was beautifully decorated. Walls and ceilings were a mass of chrysanthemums, concealed in which were hundreds of singing canaries.

THE FISHERFOLK STOLEN GOODS

J. B. Connolly Tells of Their Hazardous Life Were Recovered in a Roxbury Shed

The College club and its friends were well entertained at Colonial hall last evening when James B. Connolly, South Boston's literary genius and the author of many widely read tales of the sea and the fisherfolk of Gloucester, gave a talk on "Out o' Gloucester," for the benefit of the playground fund.

All of Mr. Connolly's stories are of captivating interest and his talk last evening was likewise and was entirely apart from any of his stories. He has sailed with the fishermen and has experienced their work and the dangers they endure and he gave a plain unvarnished tale of the life of this most interesting class of New Englanders.

"They don't give Carnegie medals to Gloucester fishermen," he said. "Most of them forget the things they have done before they get ashore; but here is a type of heroism and courage that is a type of heroism and courage that no fishing fleet in the world can equal, and the race of men upon the sea will be stronger for the standard they have raised."

What had often impressed him when talking with men who had been through harrowing experiences, he said, was the fact that they brought back only some humorous recollection of it. One man who had been lost in a dory, and who was rescued only when he was about to perish in the sea, made the comment that all he thought of was that it was a shame to have been fishing all winter, and then to be lost in May. At another time, when a sea of tremendous size broke over the fishing schooner, somebody shouted "Hang on" to the man at the wheel as the crew ducked below. When the ship righted herself the man was found stretched across the boom, having been saved by one chance out of 10, and he said with a look of scorn: "I'd like to get hold of the loafer who told me to hang on. What did he think I was going to do, jump overboard?"

The speaker did not have occasion to resort to the realms of fiction to adorn his narratives, for the truth of the old adage, that truth is often stranger than fiction, was apparent as he told story after story of the hardy Gloucester crews and their courage, heroism and hair-breadth escapes. He held his audience spellbound throughout.

Miss Helen M. Lambert of the committee introduced the speaker, and at the conclusion of the talk Mr. Joseph Smith sold at auction the two attractive posters that Mr. John L. Coggeshall had painted to advertise the entertainment. One poster was sold to Mrs. Willis Farrington for $7.50, and the other, after spirited bidding, went to Mr. Frank E. Dunbar for $10.

BODY FROM RIVER

Proves to be That of a Lowell Man

The body of a man supposed to be that of Joseph Ogden of 74 Kinsman street, this city, who has been missing from his home since April 25th, was found floating in the Merrimack river at Lawrenceville yesterday. Immediately after the finding of the body the police of this city were notified by telephone, and the description of the body found tallies with the description of Ogden.

The body was taken from the water not far from the city proper. It was that of a man of about 60 years of age, five feet eight inches tall, mustache and beard, black, medium build, blue and white striped shirt, blue and black laced shoes, tan colored underdrawers and gray socks. The description is almost identical with that received by the local police from the family of the Lowell man. A brother of the missing man, who was in the city, was contacted and from him the information received from the down-river city, he was led to believe that the body was that of the missing man. A member of the family will go to Lawrence today to view the body.

Ogden was 66 years of age and a fourth by trade. He was employed at the Hamilton Mfg. Co. for several years, and his last week's pay remains uncalled for at the office of the mill. On the afternoon of April 25th he left his home and has neither been seen nor heard from since. Ogden was at work in the mill during the forenoon of the day on which he disappeared.

Body Identified
Inquiry at the police station in Lawrence this noon brought out the information that the body had been positively identified as that of Joseph Ogden of this city, by Harry Ogden, a son of the deceased.

The body which was taken to the funeral parlors of W. W. Colby in Lawrence, after being removed from the river, will be forwarded to this city tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in the Edison cemetery.

BUILDING STRIKE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 10.—The building strike in this city settled down today to a systematic fight for supremacy between the labor unions and the contractors, twelve of whom yesterday voted to fight to the finish and not to recognize the union. At the same time the unions commenced action to fight the contractors. Although a small number of union men quit their work on several buildings today there was no sign of the rumored sympathetic materializing.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—Committee reports took up a great part of today's program of the national convention of the Methodist Brotherhood. The report of William T. Patterson of New York showed that reports for the month of March, 1908, amounted to $5.00 and for the corresponding month this year $12.00.

MONEY RETURNED
Was Lost by Woman 12 Years Ago

CHICAGO, May 10.—Mrs. Fred Gruback lost $10 while shopping in State street 12 years ago. A young woman who gives her name as "A. M. Honesty" found the money the day it was lost. She returned it yesterday with this explanation of delay:

"I kept the money when I found it for I needed it to get my way to the country for a much needed rest. I then I've never had enough at all to return it. Now that I have I return the amount."

When she lost the bill Mrs. Gruback was Miss Lillian Bartlett. In her last years she was visiting cards. A few days ago she received a telephone from the finder of the money and yesterday the $10 reached her with the explanation.

STRIKE-BREAKERS ATTACKED
NEW YORK, May 10.—Armed with sticks and stones, a mob walked up Park avenue today and attacked the strike-breakers who have taken the places of the laborers on the New York Central tracks who quit, demanding higher pay. Police reserves who had been notified that the mob was on the way to attack the laborers were on hand when the mob arrived hidden from sight.

When the marchers got near the Tremont station they halted. The railroad tracks at that point are depressed below the street level. Leaning over the railing the men hurled a shower of stones at the strike-breakers below. The police swooped down and scattered them after a tussle. Ten men were arrested.

MAN BLOWN UP
PITTSBURG, May 10.—The explosion of a large quantity of nitro glycerine stored in a magazine at Burgettstown, 13 miles from here; today, killed an oil well shooter who was literally blown to atoms. Not even a fragment of his body has been found as yet.

At Greensburg, 18 miles away, houses were rocked to their foundations. In Pittsburg the force of the shock was felt. At McDonnell the residents ran from their homes, some shouting that Halloy's comet had struck the earth. The explosion broke hundreds of windows at Burgettstown.

AUTO ACCIDENT
Woman Knocked Down and Killed

CHICAGO, May 10.—An automobile with bloodstains on the wheels found abandoned in an alley here today is believed to be the machine which caused the death of Mrs. Albert Hehr here last night. Mrs. Hehr and her husband, a carpenter, were about to cross the street when the car is said to have swerved into Mrs. Hehr, who was almost decapitated before the eyes of her husband. The chauffeur did not stop. It is said, and quickly disappeared into Lincoln park. The alley in which the machine was found by detectives today is several miles from the scene of the accident. A police captain whose son is believed to have been one of the five men in the car is active in conducting the investigation. Three saloon-keepers and the driver are said to have been the other occupants.

MR. ROOSEVELT INJURIES FATAL

South Boston Woman Fell Down Stairs

BOSTON, May 10.—Commencement day exercises at Harvard will this year be arranged by the class of '85, which also holds its 25th anniversary exercises at the same time, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeds Dr. Eliot as president of the Alumni association, will preside at the ceremony in Memorial hall.

James J. Storrow, who will be chief marshal, has issued invitations to the 150 members of the class of '85 who are expected to attend the reunion to take dinner with him at his home in Lincoln.

Class day coming on June 24, among the many features of the celebration will be the Harvard-Yale baseball game, which takes place at Cambridge Thursday, June 25; the reunion of the class of '85, which begins the following day; and the religious exercises, which will be conducted Sunday by President Lowell in Appleton chapel.

A trip down the harbor, including an inspection of the Fore River shipbuilding plant, has been arranged for Monday. Tuesday a trip by special train to visit the Thayer museum at Lancaster will be followed in the evening by the class dinner at the Algonquin club.

Wednesday is commencement day, and the Harvard-Yale boat race takes place the following day. A big block of seats on the observation train has been reserved for members of the class.

HALLEY'S COMET

May Cause Eclipse of the Sun

PROVIDENCE, May 10.—An eclipse of the sun and daylight flashes across the sky similar to the aurora borealis are among the possibilities of the phenomena that may mark the passing of Halley's comet across the face of the sun on May 18, according to Frank B. Seagrave of Providence.

Mr. Seagrave declares that astronomers are all at sea as to just what will happen. And yet it has not been determined if the head or body of the comet is transparent or is a compact mass. If the former, then its transit across the face of the sun is expected to do no more than cause a temporary dimming of the light, while if the latter, the eclipse may be total.

The probable effect of the sweeping tail, which is estimated at millions of miles in length, is also problematical. If the tail is as long as has been said, many astronomers believe that a manifestation will be in the form of electric flashes that will be visible throughout the entire country.

The appearance of Halley's comet in 1665 is recorded in an ancient diary just discovered by Mr. Bevilacqua in the archives of cathedral at Viterbo near Rome. The finding of this record is of great importance, since it constitutes proof that the comet was observed at Viterbo fully 13 days before it was seen anywhere else in Europe.

BRIGHT THIS MORNING
GENEVA, N. Y., May 10.—Dr. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory and professor of astronomy at Hobart college, reports excellent observations of Halley's comet this morning. The evening comet was brighter and the tail could be traced a length of two degrees and nearly parallel to the great square of Pegasus. The nucleus was brighter than any star in that region of the heavens. Dr. Brooks says the comet is now in its best position for morning observation.

Frowert began suit for divorce from his wife recently, and she filed a cross bill naming Mrs. Hammerstein. The latter declares that the use of her name was entirely unwarranted.

Early last Thursday she started to go from one room to another in a house on Alfred street, where she was stopping, and made a mistake in the door. She fell down stairs and her skull was fractured. She was not taken to the Whidden Memorial hospital until Friday. The hospital officials do not know the address of Mrs. Burke in South Boston, but she has a daughter living there, a Mrs. Webb.

PERU PREPARING

For a Possible War With Ecuador

LIMA, Peru, May 10.—Active preparations for a possible war with Ecuador are being made by Peru. Volunteers are enlisting daily and the war fund is being constantly increased by private donations. In this city and its immediate vicinity 24,000 soldiers are quartered while 10,000 additional troops are stationed near the frontier.

The Peruvian government believes that it has reliable information that Ecuador is trying to obtain an alliance with Bolivia as against Peru. To this end it is asserted, a member of the Ecuadorian cabinet left Guayaquil today for La Paz, Bolivia, under the instructions to negotiate with the Bolivian government and the Chilean minister at that capital.

HARVARD PROF.

SAYS THIS IS THE YEAR 1913 ACCORDING TO RESEARCHES

BOSTON, May 10.—According to Professor David Lyon, curator of the Senille Museum at Harvard University, it is now the year 1913, and to wit it is to be asserted, a historical untruth. Researches, he declared, have definitely established this.

Professor Lyon declares King Herod died in 750 A. U. C. Instead of in 753, according to prevalent belief, and in accepting the latter date as the beginning of the Christian era, historians have erred. As Christ is known to have been born a year before Herod's death, he was born in 749.

"From recent researches," said the professor, "we have positive proof that Herod's son, Archileus, was deposed in 753 of the era A. U. C. The records show that he ruled nine years, so that he must have ascended the throne in 760.

"Herod's other son, Antipast, was deposed in 792 and comes have been found which show that Antipast ruled for forty-two years. He also must have ascended his throne 750 years after the building of Rome.

"We know that Herod, at his death, divided his kingdom between his two sons. Ancient historians placed Herod's death at 753, and this date has been accepted as the beginning of the Christian era, but is now proven that the event occurred three years previously."

AN EXHIBIT

OF CHILD LIFE IN NEW YORK IS PLANNED

NEW YORK, May 10.—An exhibit of child life in New York, somewhat after the pattern of the tuberculosis exhibit, will be held next November. It will show the life of the child in the streets, in tenements, apartments and in the schools. It will utilize many charts and photographs. Yesterday the incorporation of the New York Child Welfare committee was approved by Justice Whitney in the supreme court. This committee is to have charge of the exhibit.

For a year the paid secretaries of various committees to whom have been assigned special topics have been gathering data and photographs and preparing charts. There are committees of health, homes, streets, schools, amusements and related topics. In the exhibit, which will be held in the 71st regiment armory, will be shown model houses, apartments, furnishings, and clothing. Some of the ground of the tuberculosis exhibit will be covered in the matter of tenement conditions under which some of the children dwell. It is expected that the complete exposition of the facts of child life in New York will be of value in that it may point the way to many reforms. The committee, however, has no other purpose, except the exhibiting in graphic way of the information gathered. It was said yesterday that the exhibit would point to the need of more playgrounds and recreation centres.

COST OF LIVING

Has Cut Into the People's Savings

NEW YORK, May 10.—Deposits in savings banks are falling as a consequence of the high cost of living. What the figures are will not be known till July 1, when the state department of banking receives its reports for the half-year.

Individual banks are reticent about their business, but there are signs which indicate an unfavorable showing—chief of these being that savings banks have not been buying bonds when bonds have been low.

In three or four weeks the banks will separately call their directors together to settle upon the rate of interest to be paid for the ensuing six months.

The likelihood is that, on account of competition and regardless of decreased deposits, the rate will be kept on the 1910 basis.

"In spring there are always withdrawals," said the treasurer of the Greenwich Savings Bank, "because of the movement to the suburbs, new lands bought, mortgages to be paid, etc."

Samuel D. Styles, president of the North River Bank, said: "I doubt if you can at this time get the pulse of the situation from the banks themselves."

Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock Bank, with $38,000,000 of deposits, said: "We reduced our interest last January to three and one-half per cent. I would not want to predict what will be generally done next month. My observation is that persons who have the habit of saving will save, no matter what the cost of living."

C. E. Sprague, president of the Union Time, with $23,000,000 deposits, said: "So far as one can judge by our own business, the cost of living is not affecting the business of our bank."

President Aitken, of the Bank Savings Bank, said: "Our depositors are home-owning and home-staying people, and I don't discern any variation in the amounts of their deposits."

At the state banking department it was said that the deposits should be compared with the population for period, and by July 1 that would be possible, as the new census and the new bank reports would be then simultaneously accessible.

PILES BRING DESPAIR

TAKE COURAGE! INTERNAL TREATMENT WILL CURE

Piles make life unhappy and ruin the best disposition. Most sufferers have been bitterly disappointed by many failures to find a cure. A medicine in tablet form, taken internally, that avoids the unpleasant features of treatments, suppositories and operations, and cures thoroughly by removing the inside cause, is surely worth trying, especially as Carter & Sherburne guarantee it.

Dr. Leonard's Hom-Red costs $1 for a large box—24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonard's Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

THE SAVINGS BANKS.

The bill drafted by the legislative committee that investigated the Southbridge failure has alarmed the officials of savings banks. It provides many new safeguards, some of which, such as the annual audit by an expert accountant, would be quite expensive. There are other provisions that would entail much more labor and attention on the part of trustees, investment committees and clerks. The bank examiner and the bank commissioner would also be given sweeping powers under this bill in the removal of certain officials for cause. The bank officials are up in arms against the measure, and it will undoubtedly be radically changed if adopted in any form.

BLOODHOUNDS FOR SPRINGFIELD.

The city of Springfield, smarting under the disgrace of allowing a burglar to escape with a long series of crimes through several years only to have him finally commit murder, is now taking extraordinary precautions for safety from such crimes in the future. Enough has been said about the inefficiency of the police which alone was responsible for letting Spencer run at large until he committed murder. Whether the police will be more vigilant than formerly we know not, but the city council has decided to secure two bloodhounds to aid the police in future emergencies. The burglars, the "criminal insane" and all kinds of marauders are now likely to keep away from Springfield so as to avoid being promptly run down by the bloodhounds. The other cities of the state will watch the experiment with much interest, and when they need the loan of the bloodhounds we presume they can have them for a consideration.

INSURANCE AGAINST KING EDWARD'S DEATH.

In the sorrow for the death of King Edward all political asperities are for the time forgotten and laid aside.

The laborites state that they will postpone their demands until the effect of the shock to the nation shall have passed, and so it is with the liberals and the Irish party.

The whole country, without distinction, sincerely mourns the death of the late king, all feeling that his loss at this time is well nigh irreparable.

It is a remarkable fact that although King Edward had been in good health up until within a short time of his death, yet a great many merchants, financial institutions and other concerns, likely to be affected by his death, had been heavily insured against that eventuality and the losses it might entail.

It is said that millions of pounds will be paid upon insurance policies made contingent upon the king's death.

As was expected, the king's passing did very seriously affect the stock market and caused a temporary paralysis of business which seems to justify insurance of this kind, though it would not be allowed in this country.

REPAIR OF SIDEWALKS.

The movement for smooth paved streets is very commendable, but it should be supplemented by a movement for smooth sidewalks. The old uneven brick sidewalk is out of date. The concrete sidewalk is good while it lasts, but it wears out rapidly, shows hollows that hold the water and finally opens up in big cracks. The ideal sidewalk is either granite, flagstones or granolithic. We have some such sidewalks already, and we should have more of them. On many streets that are in good condition the sidewalks are rough and even dangerous.

The city runs considerable risk of damages where sidewalks are allowed to lapse into a dangerous condition.

The rule in regard to new sidewalks in this city is, that the abutters pay for the curbstones and the first permanent covering. The city then assumes the care and responsibility for the sidewalk ever after. The city lays cinder sidewalks on accepted streets free of charge to the abutters, but in some cases it would appear that even cinders are very scarce. If more attention were paid to sidewalks by the street department there would be fewer damage claims against the city on account of personal injury resulting from accidents either due or falsely charged to the roughness of sidewalks.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is searching for a walking encyclopedia to conduct an information bureau at city hall. It is wonderful how many questions these information bureaus are called upon to answer. A great many people imagine that a man selected for such an office should be able to answer any question on any subject, just as many are inclined to believe that a newspaper office should be able to tell the date of any event of the past. Here are a few posers that were recently propounded over The Sun office telephone:

- When did Dennis Kearney speak in Lowell?
- When did the last horse car run in Lowell?
- When was the car barn on East Merrimack street burned?
- When was the armory on Middle street burned?
- When was the South common opened to the public?
- In what year was Fort Hill park accepted by the city?
- When was the Chelsea fire?
- What was the family name of King Edward?
- How old is Anno?

Some of these questions can be easily answered by aid of reference books, but when it comes to a matter of searching newspaper files for mention of a matter that happened ten, twenty or thirty years ago, the party who asks the question may be able to find it just as readily as the newspaper office.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

It is a mean thing to go into a restaurant and sit down opposite a man who is dining on coffee and ham sandwiches and order mock turtle soup, broiled live lobster, and strawberry shortcake for your meal.

When Noah built the ark, he didn't have to think so much about speed as he did about carrying capacity.

When a man asks you what you think of something he has done, remember that he wants you to praise it.

Only think how much you might have accomplished if you could only have saved all the time wasted in answering telephone calls for the wrong number.

Some people never save the string around packages because you can buy a whole ball of twine for ten cents, and their time is worth more than that. Then they waste the time.

Artificial flowers may save all right to trim hats with, or even for a girl to wear stuck in her belt at a party, but nobody has been mean enough yet to send them to a funeral.

When a man tells you that he didn't have time to do something for you, you know right away that he didn't want to. Everybody finds time for everything that he really wants to do.

The married man who gets home on payday without his money has an opportunity to find out whether his wife really loves him.

Remember when you have a good time while you are visiting that your hosts expect to have a good time later on, while they are visiting you.

BJONES' COLD

BJones came around the other day, with a most annoying cough. It really seemed as if he'd cough and sneeze his head right off. So everybody that he met and heard him go: "Ca-chew!" Took pity on poor BJones' plight, and told him what to do.

BJones listened to the good advice, and he was most polite. He said to each: "That's common sense; I'll try that tonight." And long before the day was done, so much advice he took. He'd gathered recipes enough to make a good sized book.

So BJones went home and wrote them down; his memory is good. The published book his fortune made, just as he thought it would. And now it stands an ornament to BJones' library shelf. And as for BJones' cold—oh, yes; the cold got well itself! Somerville Journal.

ALL ITCHING STOPPED

Sound Sleep After a Night of Much Distress.

Mr. B., a Philadelphia gentleman, first hesitated about applying poslam after he had obtained it. "But," he says, "afterward the itching became unbearable at night, so I arose and told Mrs. B. I would try for a moment. I slept soundly all night. I used it three nights and three mornings, then discontinued. It is now over three months and I have never had any return of the eczema; never had any itching after the first application."

Poslam is the new skin remedy which so rapidly combats the worst cases of eczema. It likewise makes quick work of acne herpes, tetter, scaly scalp, barber's and every other form of itch. Occasional applications in small quantities will quickly banish pimples, hives, blackheads, blotches, etc. A special 50c package is prepared for minor skin troubles, and this, as well as the regular two-dollar jar, is on sale at Falls & Burkinshaw's, Carter & Sherburne's, and the Riker-Jaynes Drug Co.'s, as well as all drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase Poslam without first obtaining a sample package, which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

HOME FOR BIRDS

To be Built at Expense of $250,000

CINCINNATI, May 10.—Approximately $250,000 of the estate of Thomas J. Emery, who was by far the largest realty owner in Cincinnati, has been set aside by his widow, Mrs. Mary Emery, for the founding and perpetuation of a home for birds. Mrs. Emery has completed the purchase of a tract of land in Evanswood place of about two acres and has signified her intention of turning it over to the care of the department of biology in the University of Cincinnati.

This ground is to be built up with different kinds of houses, where the feathery tribe can be sheltered. It will be made secure against the invasion of cattle and small boys, and there will be housed there possibly 100 different kinds of birds and their several species. In addition to this there will be houses for the birds of mixed "nationality" and places where they may be studied in their different classes and under different conditions.

All the work of this gigantic bird colony is to be done under the direction of Assistant Professor H. M. Benedict, of the department of biology of the University of Cincinnati. He says that this has been for many years a kind of meeting place for the birds of Cincinnati and that thousands of them have gone there to rest and to eat. He says he will arrange a place where they can rest undisturbed by passersby. "We are in a new field as yet," said Professor Benedict. "We must study the best way to teach birds to come, gate and nest in a locality where they are safe. The action of Mrs. Emery was the first of its kind to my knowledge in the world and will have decided effect in aiding other communities. It will be known as 'The Mary Emery Bird Preserve,' and we will take special delight in showing it to all the people who care to see it when it is finally arranged."

Mrs. Emery and her husband were both great lovers of birds.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the best singing trios seen on a local vaudeville stage this current season is giving its very best to patrons at the Opera House, this week. The pleasant name of Rathskellar trio is what the three young men sail under, and they surely do infuse plenty of snap and Bohemianism into their work.

One of the three just plays excellent accompaniments on a piano and sings a new kind of solo. He gives "The Rosary" by twanging the strings of the piano. It is novel and sounds well. But the two singers of the team flash up the real stuff. They start out with an involved song of love and roses and all that, parts of it seeming real catchy. Shaking the sentiment, they tackle comedy, the first song number being in Italian dialect. This is given with unctious by the smaller member of the singing pair. Then comes the Viennese rag song, given better than it has ever been given here. It was done with no little artistry on the part of the singer. After the rag song must be something, so the lively pair contribute something about a Hebrew's lot of peace and his aversion to anything resembling war. The trio purvey excellent entertainment.

Gregg, the cycle maniac, does some heart stopping, hair raising stunts on a circular fence erected in the center of the stage. Gregg is a little fellow, who uses an ordinary make of bicycle and who spins the machine to the top of the perpendicular fence in quick style. The act doesn't last long but it breeds thrills and chills while it's on. Then the is George Banks, born in Collinsville, who takes out dance steps of all kinds. He sings some catchy ditties, also. Gertrude Pike, a soprano of high range, gives three or four selections, and in the last she is assisted by a boy soprano.

The picture end of the entertainment is unusually strong. Of much interest is the humorous picture called "The Banks of the Danube." All of the beauty spots of this lovely river are shown, particularly good being the pictures showing views through castle-tinted windows. These are now in the motion picture line and they hold an art value uncommon in such pictures. "The Hungarians" is a picture in Budapest showing the city in their majestic also. "The Cigaret Maker of Seville," which tells the story of "Carmen," is an engrossing picture, and this is followed by the intensely dramatic picture, entitled "The Monte Carlo." This comedy film is called "The Stolen Fortune," and it will evoke much laughter.

Tonight the amateurs will put on their stunts and there is sure of being a large audience to see the future stars.

STAR THEATRE

Tonight there will be a grand rally of world-be Theatricals at the Star theatre. That theatre will be the joy shop of the city and always has been on Tuesday evenings. Many new faces will be seen among the amateurs.

There is a strong program of motion pictures, including a biograph subject, "The Convert." The motion pictures presented are those of comedy, drama and scenes of travel. The admission of five cents includes a good seat and the show is "the biggest and best in Lowell." Women and children are tendered special attention.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A very attractive bill is being presented at the Academy the first three days of the week, headed by Plores and Rostin. They have very elaborate and expensive wardrobes and are making a great hit with the crowds that see them. Waldo Whipple, the eccentric rube comedian, is doing an act that also pleases. Miss Claudia Besette is singing the song "Telling Lies" in a charming manner, and the travel-ettes of the different countries are shown that are instructive and entertaining. A fine list of pictures has been secured and a fine show is assured all those who attend. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

One of the features at the Theatre Voyons today is a dramatization of Charles Kingsley's poem, "The Three Fishers," given under the name of "The Unchanging Sea." To increase the effectiveness of the picture special vocal and instrumental effects are arranged for it. "Immigrant Progress in Canada" is a fine scenic subject, and "The Stolen Fortune" combines a charming love story with a good laughable comedy. "The Call of the Sea" tells of the fear of the sea that causes a mother to make her son pledge his word never to be a sailor, but when there is a call for men to save lives, the son, at the bidding of the spirit of his dead father, goes out on the sea. The musical features of the program are unusual and of the best class.

PRESIDENT MELLEN THE HEINZE TRIAL

Willing to Have Finances of New Haven Road Investigated Lawyer Tomlinson Traces Career of Great Copper Miner

BOSTON, May 10.—Much Massachusetts opposition to the New York New Haven & Hartford railroad was wiped off the state today when President Mellen agreed to an investigation of the finances of the road by any fair-minded board as a step towards valuating the capital indebtedness of the company in accordance with his own petition to the legislature. The leaders of the opposition to the New Haven road, generally known as the anti-mergers, expressed themselves as satisfied with the attitude of Mr. Mellen and agreed that such action would help greatly in bringing about a better feeling toward the road.

Mr. Mellen appeared at the state house accompanied by Vice President

Byrnes, Director Hemenway and James D. Brady of New York. He spoke five minutes in submitting his petition and bill for the validation of the securities of the company and then spent five minutes in replying to questions of House Chairman Washburn of Worcester. It was during this later part of his appearance before the legislative committee on railroads that he agreed to the amendment suggested by Mr. Washburn that the road be investigated pending which the bill should be referred to the next general court.

Mr. Mellen said: "It is a condition not a theory which confronts the New Haven road in Massachusetts. Lawyers have disagreed. The attorney general said that a large part of capital stock of our road is illegal. Our lawyers claim that it is not illegal. The feeling in the public mind in this state is not favorable to the company. Two ways are open to the company, either to obtain the validation through the legislature or go through a long litigation."

"Our lawyers want us to adopt the second alternative, but we have differed with them and without the aid of any lawyer, I personally, drew up the petition and bill which is before the Massachusetts legislature."

"It is the earnest desire of the New Haven road to have better feeling in this state and we feel that we cannot make money unless we do have that feeling. So we come here in all fairness and ask that this whole matter be straightened out satisfactorily to all parties."

In response to questions by Mr. Washburn as to whether he would be willing to have an investigation first and leave the question of the validation of the securities until afterward, Mr. Mellen said that the company would accept any sort of an examination into its finances, provided it were pursued with a fair and honest intent. Mr. Washburn pointed out that some of the property of the New Haven Co. was in steamboats, trolleys, lighting and heating plants which are objectionable to people in Massachusetts. Mr. Mellen replied that the New Haven company had been interested in such properties for many years and that such property constituted part of the company's assets as back of the securities issues.

As to who shall make the investigation Mr. Mellen said that it had been suggested that the joint board of railroad commissioners, the tax and the bank commissioners should be authorized, which was agreeable to the road. "The company cannot deny," said Mr. Mellen, "to any investigation, if these making it are after the facts."

Mr. Washburn stated that in the three years of the controversy there had been fault on both sides. "There certainly has," replied Mr. Mellen, "and that is why I am here."

Mr. Mellen left the room with his friends immediately and did not hear Mr. Washburn's statement that he was the strongest anti-merger leader in the state, in a lengthy speech against the petition and bill.

THIEVES ENTERED STORE
Thieves entered the confectionery store conducted by S. S. Cunningham, at the corner of Gorham and Moore streets, early Sunday morning and succeeded in getting away with $6 in money. Entrance was gained through the cellar.

NEW YORK, May 10.—E. Augustus Heinze, former president of the Mercantile National bank, had only the events of one day, October 14, 1907, to account for when his counsel today took up his defense on the government charges of over certification of checks and misapplication of the bank's funds. All the other counts in the Heinze indictments have been thrown out from time to time by the court. The last, except those covering the happenings of October 14, were dismissed by Judge Hough in the United States circuit court after the government closed its case yesterday. The court ruled that the government had failed to connect Heinze with the operations of the United Copper pool managed by his brother's firm, Otto Heinze & Co., in the interest of which the prosecution alleged Heinze had misapplied the bank's cash and credit.

The trial has now narrowed down to the charge that Heinze over-certified fifteen checks of his brother's firm, aggregating $464,000 and misapplied the funds of the Mercantile National bank to that extent.

Mr. Tomlinson in his opening address declared that Heinze would have been a rich man today and the United Copper Co. a wealthy corporation but for the indictments which have been hung over Heinze's head. He traced

Heinze's career in the west. "He went there without a cent of capital and he dug $10,000,000 out of the ground," said Mr. Tomlinson. "What did he do with it? He gave it to the stockholders."

The attorney said he did not believe the jury proposed to punish Heinze for his generosity in loaning money to his brothers. He was not charged with mismanagement of the United Copper Co. and the idea that he would have sought to rob the bank in which he held $2,450,000 worth of stock was ridiculed by the lawyer.

"The defendant is before the bar of this court clothed in the white robes of his innocence," Mr. Tomlinson concluded.

An effort by the defense to clean the slate on Heinze's case came to naught early in today's session. Judge Hough denied a motion that the jury be directed to acquit Heinze on the thirty remaining counts in the indictment, the defense urging that the firm of Otto Heinze & Co. was entitled to credit by virtue of the loan Heinze had taken out and signed over to them at the time the alleged over-certification took place and also that there was no evidence to show that Heinze directed or caused the certification. Judge Hough likewise denied a motion that the evidence concerning stock sales by the United Copper Co. be stricken from the record.

Attorney Tomlinson opened the case for the defense.

TOOK CARBOLIC ACID

Man Named Green is in a Serious Condition

A man named Green, residing at 144 Howard street, swallowed a dose of carbolic acid at his home about 12.30 o'clock this afternoon and he is now at the Lowell hospital in a critical condition. Whether the man took the poison by accident is not known.

It was about 12.40 o'clock when the ambulance attendant received a message from Howard street that a man had taken carbolic acid and when the ambulance arrived the doctor was unable to get a history of the case. He was hurried to the Lowell hospital, where he was given the regular treatment accorded people who swallow carbolic acid, but the hospital authorities were unable to get a history of the case or the man's first name.

Green at the time of going to press was in a semi-conscious condition, having rallied somewhat after being in the hospital for a couple of hours.

"MACHINE" MAN

Rep. George Marchand is "Discovered"

Says Practical Politics:
Two members of the house (names furnished on application) had an argument in the state house corridors the other day as to whether or not Rep. George E. Marchand of Lowell is a "machine man." "Of course he's a machine man," said "A." "Not on your life," said "B." "You can't tell me that Marchand is a machine man. Why, just look at his record. He has voted on the plain people's side of every public question. Further than that, he's around working his head off in an effort to line up the members to support Butler Ames for the United States senate against Lodge. What's the matter with you? Don't you know anything at all?" "That's all right," said the irrepressible "A." "But I'll bet you three good cigars that George is not only a machine man, but that he rides on the front seat and keeps the machine oiled, too." "It's a bet," said "B." And then each arguer undertook to prove his side of the case. "B" dug for the Journal of the house. He ran through page after page, pointed out to "A" that the Lowell representative had voted for the direct election of United States senators, that he has been devoting the best part of his time during present legislative session to alleged members who expect to be members of the house to support his bill to save persons unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the police from the necessity of paying two dollars in order to be bailed by authorizing police officials to administer bail without fees, and that his position on roll-call after roll-call was such as would be approved by the workingman. He demanded that "A" hand over the cigars. "Just wait a minute," said the latter, and he pulled from his pocket a volume of "Who's Who in State Politics." He opened the book to the page where Marchand's photograph is printed and said "B" to look at it. "B" looked. "Why that only helps to prove my argument," he said. "There's one of those faces that tell right of the reel that its owner is honest and independent." "But just read down through what's under the picture," said "A." Here is what "B" read: "Marchand, George E., 17th Middlesex, Rep. Lowell, born there Dec. 22, 1877; public schools, Claughton, 'H-m.' mused "B." "So he's a chauffeur. Well, I guess he is a machine man, does sit right on the front seat and does oil the machine. Come on, and I'll buy the cigars."

500 DELEGATES PRESENT
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Speaking to the 500 delegates to the United States Pharmacopoeial convention which is assembled here for the revision and further standardization of the United States Pharmacopoeia, Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor told them they were voluntarily doing a work which would make government regulation of their business unnecessary and sharply condemned what he termed "the opposition of the large interests" to the efforts of the government to regulate commerce and establish standards of honesty and fair dealing.

Delegates representing 21 states presented their credentials today. They represent medical colleges, medical societies and like associations from all over the country. The convention meets every ten years and revises the pharmacopoeia, prescribes standards, determines the official designations of drugs and maximum and minimum doses.

A BIG INCREASE

In Membership of the K. of C.

BOSTON, May 10.—There were several reasons for the spirit of enthusiasm which prevailed at the 17th annual rearmament of the Massachusetts state council, Knights of Columbus, today. The one which was considered the most important was the success of the order's efforts to have Columbus day, Oct. 12, declared a legal holiday in Massachusetts. Another was the report of State Deputy W. J. O'Brien, who stated that the total membership in the state is now 237,013, an increase of 18,550 for the year; the number of subordinate councils is now 1425, an increase of 54; the total amount of insurance in force on Jan. 1 last was $77,462,000. He reported that Massachusetts is the leading state in insurance membership, having 12,984 insurance members out of a total of 76,635.

DOUBLE MURDER

Hindoo Butler and Aged Housekeeper Were Found Dead

NEW YORK, May 10.—Evidently the victims of burglars, Charles V. Gemon, a Hindoo butler, and Margaret Meshan, an aged housekeeper, were found murdered last night in the residence of Dr. Mott D. Cannon, 130 West 122nd street.

The two were killed sometime between 2.30 and 3.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, during the physician's absence. Returning, Dr. Cannon discovered the bodies. The butler was shot through the mouth from the right check. Two other wounds, one on his forehead and another on the back of his neck were apparently inflicted with a jimmy. The old housekeeper has a ugly bullet wound in the back of her head and was beaten with a jimmy or some other blunt instrument.

In the physician's study the top drawer of a bureau was "jimmied" open and $100 in bills, $100 in silver and several valuable gold stockings were taken. Nothing else in the house was touched.

ALLEGED ABUSES OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The senate is in a fair way to investigate alleged abuses of the franking privilege. Declaring that a book of 150 pages in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, which is being circulated under the franks of senators and members of the house, contains matter that has not appeared in the Congressional Record, Sen. Stone introduced a resolution yesterday directing the senate committee on post offices and post roads to determine whether the publication is entitled to free circulation through the mails.

Speaking on the resolution, Mr. Stone said that the book was "purely and essentially a campaign document." If one party could so circulate matter he thought the other party should have the same privilege. He complained especially of the title page, sub-heads and index as extraneous and therefore objectionable matter.

Confessing that he authorized the use of his own frank in the circulation of the book, Mr. Gallinger endorsed the effort to have the circulation of the book inquired into. He said he had been assured that the publication contained no matter which had not appeared in the Record. He said, moreover, that the compilers of the pamphlet acted in good faith in what they had done.

Mr. La Follette moved an amendment to include inquiry into the circulation of a circular letter from the American Protective league which he said was also being circulated under the

BOARD OF CHARITY WORMS

Gives Appropriations Committee Light on the Department

Chairman McCarty, M. D., and Commissioner Howe Discuss Conditions, Present and Past, at the Farm—Ex-Supt. Mayberry Invited to Next Meeting of Committee

The committee on appropriations, Alderman Gray, met in the public reception room at city hall last night, and heard from the board of charities relative to questions previously submitted by the committee. Dr. James J. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities, Commissioner Harry W. J. Howe, Supt. Conley and Clerk Gallagher were heard from and they supplied all the figures and data that was necessary. That the present board of charities has a thorough knowledge of affairs pertaining to its department was evidenced last night by the ready and comprehensive manner in which questions were answered and figures supplied.

It was stated at the meeting that former Supt. Mayberry, sold city farm property and bought supplies for the city farm with the money thus received and that he did not turn over the money to the city treasurer. This was touched upon only to show an irregularity and Mr. Mayberry will be given an opportunity to explain.

The meeting was called more particularly to discuss the question of the charity department's financial status at the beginning of 1910 as compared with 1909 and the board's ability to pay the bill of some $4200 presented by the Massachusetts Home for Feeble Minded Children. Commissioner McCarty and Howe said that the board could not pay the bill out of its annual appropriation. Ald. Gray said that the committee on appropriations had the $4200 bill in mind when it made the appropriation. Dr. McCarty said that statement. He said that the bill was not an ordinary one.

"It is an extraordinary bill," he said, "and the charity department cannot, under the ordinance, be held responsible for it. It is not the kind of bill contemplated by the ordinance to be paid by the regular appropriation."

The ordinance providing for estimates for appropriations and for other purposes reads, in part, as follows:

"All regular annual appropriations shall be for and only applicable to the liabilities incurred during the year in which they are made, any form of phraseology in the order, resolution or vote providing for the same, to the contrary notwithstanding."

The bill owed the Massachusetts Home for Feeble Minded Children is several years old. Commissioner McCarty has said that the city will have to pay the bill, but the city solicitor has not yet said that the board of charities would have to pay it out of its regular appropriation.

The board of charities last night provided the committee with a list of figures for future reference and the committee members were very much interested in what Dr. McCarty and members of the board and department had to say.

Present at the meeting were: Chairman Gray, Aldermen Dexter and Wainwright, Councilmen Fulton, Davis, Jewett and Flanagan, and the committee on appropriations, and Chairman McCarty, Commissioner Howe, Supt. Conley and Clerk Gallagher of the charity department.

Alderman Gray called to order at 8:20 o'clock. It was the chairman's intention to admit only the chairman of the board of charities and the clerk of the board, but on motion of Councilman Flanagan all members of the board were admitted.

The purpose of the meeting was set forth by the chairman, who matched wits for a short season with Dr. McCarty. The latter was a little too much for his opponent. The chairman had said that the meeting had to do with the bill from the Massachusetts Home for Feeble Minded Children.

Dr. McCarty wanted to know if the board had not been to make up appropriations at the close of each year to meet all outstanding bills.

"Were there any bills unpaid for 1909 in your department?" was asked. "Yes, and there always will be bills," said Dr. McCarty. "The reason that cities and towns are always sending in bills, but a special bill recognized for a long time as a just bill should be paid immediately when it is due."

Alderman Dexter said he understood that the committee desired information as to how much money had been paid since Jan. 1 on bills of 1909.

Clerk Gallagher said that $1350 had been paid out this year on such bills, but this was not on bills rendered before the present year.

Alderman Gray said it looked as if the board did not want to give the committee information as to the financial conditions existing.

"I deny that," said Dr. McCarty. A discussion was then entered into as to what the committee desired.

"We took an inventory of the produce at the farm," said the doctor, "but you asked for an appraisal, which is different."

Alderman Gray thought the words

Many of our children and adults have worms, but are treated for other diseases. The worms are—indigestion, eye trouble, headache, itching of the nose, colds, coughs, fever and often, in children, convulsions.

TRUE'S Elixir

Is the best worm remedy known. Purely vegetable. Where no worms are present, acts as a tonic for constipation, biliousness. Ask your druggist for True's Elixir.

"Keeps you and your children well!"

Bottle, 50c, $1.00

were synonymous.

Chairman McCarty said an appraisal was a valuation and an inventory was a listing. The chairman here presented his list.

Asked why there were so many bills presented early last year from 1908, Clerk Gallagher said that the board did not approve bills in January and February, so that there was a big grist to pass upon in March.

Dr. McCarty submitted figures to show that former Supt. Solomon Mayberry had collected money for produce sold by the farm and had bought with that money materials and supplies needed by the department without the city treasurer ever seeing the money.

This, he said, was irregular.

Supt. Conley said he knew men who had bought pork from the farm and had paid Supt. Mayberry for the same.

As to exchanging farm produce for other supplies, this was recognized as a practice of the former superintendent.

In this connection, Supt. Conley said that he had not exchanged produce for other supplies, but the money being paid over to the city treasurer, where it could be used by the charity department as it was last year.

The original question of whether or not the $4200 bill should be paid out of a special appropriation came up.

Dr. McCarty thought the city solicitor should give an opinion as to who should pay the bill, the city council or the board of charities.

The chair believed it clear that the city council had the power to say where the money should come from.

"The motto of the board of charities is 'With envy and malice towards none and with charity for all,' we have turned to the city council for going straight ahead," said Dr. McCarty.

"Perhaps that is why you removed Mr. Mayberry," said Alderman Gray.

"I think I have shown that there were good and sufficient reasons for the removal of Mr. Mayberry; we did not use his methods," rejoined the doctor.

Councilman Flanagan moved that Harry W. J. Howe be permitted to speak and it became a vote.

Mr. Howe came forward, and was asked if he had any figures of value to the committee.

He thought he had. Asked if there was $3000 to $4000 left over from 1908, he said there were not such amount. "I don't think there were any more bills came in in 1909 for which the preceding administration was responsible than you can find any year," said Mr. Howe.

COAL TALK
The heirs have placed with me the above property to be disposed of at public auction, regardless of any condition of the weather, on Saturday, May 14, at 3 p. m. The house, which is a two-story one, has four tenements with basements. Two of the tenements have five rooms each, and two have four rooms each. They rent for $8 a month each, or $34 a year. At a very small expense the basement could be turned into two small tenements. The lot has a frontage of about 62 feet on Concord street and contains about 2000 square feet, with a right of way through the passageway.

LOCATION: The location is one of the very best for the renting of small tenements, it being in such close proximity to the many schools, churches and mills in this section. It is the second property on Concord street from Andover. Now, then, for someone who can give this property the care and attention that such property should have, it will pay a large percentage on the investment. Remember, the sale will be absolute on Saturday, May 14, at 3 p. m. Make all inquiries of the auctioneer.

Terms: $300 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as property is struck off. C. F. KEYES, for the heirs.

SKIN NEEDS OIL TO CURE ECZEMA

Since the old eczema theory of curing the blood has been exploded, and since the sticky salves, which clog the pores, have been found, actually, injurious, all the best specialists are now agreed on a liquid remedy applied as a wash.

We do not know of any eczema wash which compares in value with the old standard remedy, D. D. D. Prescription. We KNOW its merits.

This simple, soothing wash, a mixture of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., takes away the itch instantly—the very moment you wash the liquid into the skin. Now we know this; we can vouch for this; and we can prove it to you instantly if you want to try D. D. D. Prescription.

And it is on account of our confidence in D. D. D. that we have arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for this special offer for the present: if there is anybody in this town suffering with Eczema (no matter if it is a chronic case of twenty years), or salt rheum or any eczematous rash, and if you have never before tried D. D. D. Prescription, come in or send in to our store and we will give you a trial bottle at only 25 cents (regular bottle is priced at $1.00). We'll convince you instantly—the itch disappears at ONCE—and we back up this statement with our name.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., May 10.—While practicing with a 22-calibre rifle, Louis Martelle, 16 years old, of Sheffield, shot his 6-year-old sister, Beatrice, in the heart, killing her. It is supposed that the shooting was accidental. The authorities, however, are conducting an investigation.

SALEM MAN

IS ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING HIS PARENTS

SALEM, May 10.—Fred Richardson was arrested last night charged with assault on his aged mother in her home at 12 Andover street. The complaint was made by the aged father, who, the police say, had previously been physically abused by his son. The police also state that Richardson also assaulted a woman of advanced years named Mrs. McCarthy, who owns the house where the Richardson's live.

The defendant was convicted on a charge of assault on his parents a year ago and was sentenced to the house of correction; he was warned by the judge then not to visit the home of his parents after he was released from jail.

He is a machinist and 44 years old. The treatment of his parents last night has aroused intense indignation among large numbers of citizens.

BADLY INJURED

FALL RIVER, May 10.—Alex Kerwell, 77 Globe street, 32 years, and married, was frightfully injured at the Portsmouth coal mine yesterday, sustaining a fracture of the sternum, near the base of the neck, and a laceration of the head.

Kerwell was riding up the inclined railway shaft, and thinking that the car had cleared the entrance to the shaft stood up, only to be struck with a heavy force by overhanging rafters. He is now at the Union hospital in a critical condition.
